which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number of a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum, for this purpose, shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majorit yof all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice President.*

4. The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

5. No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

6. In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

7. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

8. Before he enters on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

SEC. 2—1. The President shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves, and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

*This clause is superseded by Article VII, Amendments, 781.

2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

3. The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SEC. 3—He shall from time to time give the Congress information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SEC. 4—The President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

Article III

SECTION 1—The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 2—1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority;—to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction;—to controversies to which the United States shall be a party;—to controversies between two or more States;—between a State and citizens of another State;—between citizens of different States;—between citizens of the same State, claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens, or subjects.

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and counsuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SEC. 3—1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attained.

Article IV

SECTION 1—Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SEC. 2—1. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

2. A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the Executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

3. No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered upon claim of the party to which such service or labor may be due.

SEC. 3—1. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, on parts of States, without the consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

2. The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so constructed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular State.

SEC. 4—The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

Article V

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the Ninth Section of the First Article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

Article VI

1. All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

2. This Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

3. The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

Article VII

The ratification of the Convention of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment fo this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

Done in Convention by the Unanimous Consent of the States present the Seventeenth Day of September, in the Year of Our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the Twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

AMENDMENTS

The following amendments to the Constitution, Article I to X, inclusive, were proposed at the First Session of the First Congress, begun and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday, March 4, 1789, and were adopted by the necessary number of States. The original proposal of the ten amendments was preceded by this preamble and resolution:

> The conventions of a number of the States having, at the time of their adopting the Constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, and as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:
> RESOLVED, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two-thirds of both Houses concurring that the following articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, as amendments to the Constitution of the United States; all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of the said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

THE TEN ORIGINAL AMENDMENTS*

Article I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article II

A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Article III

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

*The first ten amendments, called the Bill of Rights were declared in force on December 15, 1791 They were ratified by North Carolina on December 22, 1789.

Article IV

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article V

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentation or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Article VI

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy, and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

Article VII

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

Article VIII

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Article IX

Chapter Two

THE CONSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CONSTITUTIONS OF NORTH CAROLINA

JOHN L. SANDERS

North Carolina has had three Constitutions in her history as a State: the Constitution of 1776, the Constitution of 1868, and the Constitution of 1971. This article is a summary review of the origins and development of those three versions of the Constitution of North Carolina over two centuries.

Constitution of 1776

Drafted and promulgated by the Fifth Provincial Congress in December, 1776, without submission to the people, the Constitution of 1776 and its separate but accompanying Declaration of Rights sketched the main outlines of the new state government and secured the rights of the citizen from governmental interference.[1] While the principle of separation of powers was explicitly affirmed and the familiar three branches of government were provided for, the true center of power lay in the General Assembly. That body not only exercised full legislative power; it also chose all the state executive and judicial officers, the former for short terms and the judges for life.

Profound distrust of the executive power is evident throughout the document. The Governor was chosen by the legislature for a one-year term and was eligible for only three terms in six years. The little power granted him was hedged about in many instances by requiring for its exercise the concurrence of a seven-member Council of State chosen by the legislature.

Judicial offices were established, but the court system itself was left to legislative design. No system of local government was prescribed by the Constitution, although the offices of justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, and constable were created.

*John L. Sanders was born and raised in Four Oaks, Johnston County, North Carolina. He received his B.A. degree from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill in 1950, having transferred from North Carolina State after his sophomore year. He received his J.D. Degree from the University in 1954. After serving from 1954-1955 as law clerk to Judge John J. Parker, Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth District, he became an associate in a Raleigh law firm. In 1956 he joined the staff of the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill where he served as its director from 1962 until his appointment as Vice-President of Planning for the University of North Carolina in 1973. He has since returned to the Institute of Government to serve as its director.

The system of legislative representation was based on units of local government. The voters of each county elected one Senator and two members of the House of Commons, while six (later seven)[2] towns each elected one member of the House. It was distinctly a property owner's government, for only landowners could vote for Senators until 1857,[3] and progressive property qualifications were required of members of the House, Senators, and the Governor until 1868. Legislators were the only state officers who were elected by the people until 1836.

Dissatisfaction with the legislative representation system, which gave no direct recognition to population, resulted in the Convention of 1835. Extensive constitutional amendments adopted by that Convention were ratified by vote of the people, 26,771 to 21,606, on November 9, 1835.[4] The Amendments of 1835 fixed the membership of the Senate and House at their present levels, 50 and 120. The House apportionment formula then devised gave one seat to each county and distributed the remainder of the seats — nearly half of them at that time — according to a mathematical formula favoring the more populous counties. From 1836 until 1868, Senators were elected from districts laid out according to the amount of taxes paid to the State from the respective counties, thus effecting senatorial representation in proportion to property values.

The Amendments of 1835 also made the Governor popularly elective for a two-year term, greatly strengthening that office; relaxed the religious qualifications for office holding; abolished free Negro suffrage; equalized the capitation tax on slaves and free white males; prohibited the General Assembly from granting divorces, legitimating persons, or changing personal names by private act; specified procedures for the impeachment of state officers and the removal of judges for disability; made legislative sessions biennial instead of annual; and provided methods of amending the Constitution. Following the precedent established in amending the United States Constitution, the 1835 amendments were appended to the Constitution of 1776, not incorporated in it as is the modern practice.

The Convention of 1861-62, called by act of the General Assembly, took the State out of the Union and into the Confederacy and adopted a dozen constitutional amendments.[5] These were promulgated by the Convention without the necessity of voter approval, a procedure that was permitted by the Constitution until 1971.

The Convention of 1865-66, called by the Provisional Governor on orders of the President, nullified secession and abolished slavery, with voter approval, in 1865.[6] It also drafted a revised Constitution in 1866. That document was largely a restatement of the Constitution of 1776 and the 1835 amendments, plus several new features.[7] It was rejected by a vote of 21,770 to 19,880 on August 2, 1866.[8]

The Convention of 1868, called upon the initiative of Congress[9] but with a popular vote of approval,[10] wrote a new Constitution[11] which the pepole ratified in April of 1868 by a vote of 93,086 to 74,016.[12] Drafted and put through the Convention by a combination of native Republicans and a few Carpetbaggers, the Constitution was highly unpopular with the more conservative elements of the State. For its time it was a progressive and democratic instrument of government. In this respect it differed markedly from the proposed Constitution of 1866. The Constitution of 1868 was an amalgam of provisions copied or adapted from the Declaration of Rights of 1776, the Constitution of 1776 and its amendments, the proposed Constitution of 1866, and the constitutions of other states, together with some new and original provisions. Although often amended, a majority of the provisions of that document remained intact until 1971,[13] and the Constitution of 1971 brought forward much of the 1868 language with little or no change.

The Constitution of 1868 incorporated the 1776 Declaration of Rights into the Constitution as Article I and added several important guarantees. To the people was given the power to elect all significant state executive officers, all judges, and all county officials, as well as legislators. All property qualifications for voting and office holding were abolished. The plan of representation in the Senate was changed from a property to a popular basis, and the 1835 House apportionment plan was retained. Annual legislative sessions were restored.

The executive branch of government was strengthened by popular election for four-year terms of office and the Governor's powers were increased significantly.

A simple and uniform court system was established with the jurisdiction of each court fixed in the Constitution. The distinctions between actions at law and suits in equity were abolished.

For the first time, detailed constitutional provision was made for a system of taxation, and the powers of the General Assembly to levy taxes and to borrow money were limited. Homestead and personal property exemptions were granted. Free public schools were called for and the maintenance of penal and charitable institutions by the State was commanded. A uniform scheme of county and township government was prescribed.

The declared objective of the Conservative Party (under whose banner the older native political leaders grouped themselves) was to repeal the Constitution of 1868 at the earliest opportunity. When the Conservative Party gained control of the General Assembly in 1870, a proposal to call a convention of the people to revise the constitution was submitted by the General Assembly to the voters[14] and rejected in 1871 by a vote of 95,252 to 86,007.[15]

The General Assembly thereupon resorted to the legislative initiative for amending the Constitution. The procedure then called for legislative approval of each proposed amendment at two successive sessions, followed by a vote of the people on the amendment. The 1870-72 legislative session adopted an act calling for about three dozen amendments to the Constitution which had the general purpose of restoring to the General Assembly the bulk of the power over local government, the courts, and the public schools and the University that had been taken from it by the Constitution of 1868.[16] The 1872-73 session of the General Assembly approved for the second time and submitted to the people only eight of those amendments, all of which were approved by the voters in 1873 by wide margins.[17] These amendments restored biennial sessions of the General Assembly, transferred control of the University of North Carolina from the State Board of Education to the General Assembly, abolished various new state officers, altered the double office-holding prohibition, and repealed the prohibition against repudiation of the state debt.

In 1875, the General Assembly called a convention of the people to consider constitutional revision.[18] No confirmation of that action by popular referendum was had, and none was then constitutionally required. The Convention of 1875 (the most recent in the State's history) sat for five weeks in the fall of that year.[19] It was a limited convention, certain actions — for example, the reinstatement of property qualifications for office-holding or voting — being forbidden to it.

The Convention of 1875 adopted and the voters on November 7, 1876, approved by a vote of 120,159 to 106,554,[20] a set of 30 amendments affecting 36 sections of the Constitution.[21] These amendments (which took effect on January 1, 1877) prohibited secret political societies, moved the legislative convening date from November of even-numbered years to January of odd-numbered years, fixed in the Constitution for the first time the rate of legislative compensation, called for legislation establishing a State Department of Agriculture, abandoned the simplicity and uniformity of the 1868 court system by giving the General Assembly power to determine the jurisdiction of all courts below the Supreme Court and to establish such courts inferior to the Supreme Court as it might see fit, reduced the Supreme Court from five to three members, required Superior Court judges to rotate among all judicial districts of the State, disqualified for voting persons guilty of certain crimes, established a one-year residency requirement for voting, required non-discriminatory racial segregation in the public schools, gave the General Assembly full power to revise or abolish the form and powers of county and township governments, and simplified the procedure for constitutional amendment by providing that the General Assembly might by act adopted by three-fifths of each house at one legislative session submit an amendment to the voters of the State (thus eliminating the former requirement of enactment by two successive sessions of the General Assembly). The principal effect of the amendments of 1873 and 1875 was to restore in considerable measure the former power of the General Assembly, particularly as to the courts and local government.

The amendments framed by the Convention of 1875 seem to have satisfied most of the need for constitutional change for a generation, for only four amendments were submitted by the General Assembly to the voters throughout the remainder of the nineteenth century. Three of them were ratified;[22] one failed.[23]

In 1900 the suffrage article was revised to add the literacy test and poll tax requirement for voting (the latter provision was repealed in 1920).[24] A slate of ten amendments prepared by a constitutional commission[25] and proposed by the General Assembly in 1913[26] was rejected by the voters in 1914. With the passage of time and amendments, the attitude towards the Constitution of 1868 had changed from resentment to a reverence so great that until the second third of the twentieth century, amendments were very difficult to obtain. Between 1900 and 1933, the voters ratified 15 and rejected 20 amendments.[27] During the first third of this century, nevertheless, amendments were adopted lengthening the school term from four to six months,[28] prohibiting legislative charters to private corporations,[29] authorizing special Superior Court judges,[30] further limiting the General Assembly's powers to levy taxes and incur debt,[31] and abolishing the poll tax requirement for voting and reducing the residence qualification for voters.[32] Amendments designed to restrict the legislature's power to enact local, private, and special legislation were made partly ineffective by judicial interpretation.[33]

A significant effort at general revision of the Constitution was made in 1931-33.[34] A Constitutional Commission created by the General Assembly of 1931[35] drafted[36] and the General Assembly of 1933 approved a revised Constitution.[37] Blocked by a technicality raised in an advisory opinion of the State Supreme Court,[38] the proposed Constitution of 1933 never reached the voters for approval. It would have granted the Governor the veto power; given to a Judicial Council composed of all the judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts power to make all rules of practice and procedure in the courts inferior to the Supreme Court; required the creation of inferior courts by general laws only; removed most of the limitations on the taxing powers of the General Assembly; required the General Assembly to provide for the organization and powers of local governments by general law only; established an appointive State Board of Education with general supervision over the public school system; and set forth an enlightened policy of state responsibility for the maintenance of educational, charitable, and reformatory institutions and programs.

Several provisions of the proposed Constitution of 1933 were later incorporated into the Constitution by individual amendments, and to a limited extent it served as a model for the work of the 1957-59 Constitutional Commission.

Between the mid-1930's and the late 1950's, greater receptiveness to constitutional change resulted in amendments authorizing the classification of property for taxation;[39] strengthening the limitations upon public debt;[40] authorizing the General Assembly to enlarge the Supreme Court,[41] increase the number of Superior Court judges,[43] and create a Department of Justice under the Attorney General;[44] enlarging the Council of State by three members;[45] creating a new appointive State Board of Education with general supervision of the schools;[46] permitting women to serve as jurors;[47] transferring the Governor's power to assign judges to the Chief Justice[48] and his parole power to a Board of Paroles;[49] permitting the waiver of indictment in non-capital cases;[50] raising the compensation of the General Assembly and authorizing legislative expense allowances;[51] increasing the general purpose property tax levy limitation[52] and the maximum income tax rate,[53] and authorizing the closing of public schools on a local option basis and the payment of educational expense grants in certain cases.[54]

The increased legislative and public willingness to accept constitutional change between 1934 and 1960 resulted in 32 constitutional amendments being ratified by the voters while only six were rejected.[55]

At the request of Governor Luther H. Hodges, the General Assembly of 1957 authorized the Governor to appoint a fifteen-member Constitutional Commission[56] to study the need for changes in the Constitution and to make recommendations to the Governor and the 1959 General Assembly.

That Commission recommended rewriting the whole Constitution and submitting it to the voters for approval or disapproval as a unit, the changes suggested being to numerous to be effected by individual amendments.[57] The proposed Constitution drafted by the Commission represented in large part a careful job of editorial pruning, rearrangement, clarification, and modernization, but it also included several significant substantive changes.[58] The Senate would have been increased from 50 to 60 members and the initiative (but not the sole authority) for decennial redistricting of the Senate would have been shifted from the General Assembly to an ex-officio committee of three legislative officers. Decennial reapportionment of the House of Representatives would have been made a duty of the Speaker of the House, rather than of the General Assembly as a whole. Problems of succession to constitutional State executive offices and of determination of issues of officers' disability would have been either resolved in the Constitution or their resolution assigned to the General Assembly. The authority to classify property for taxation and to exempt property from taxation would have been required to be exercised only by the General Assembly and only on a uniform, statewide basis. The requirement that the public schools constitute a "general and uniform system" would have been eliminated, and the constitutional authority of the State Board of Education reduced. Fairly extensive changes were recommended in the judicial article of the Constitution, including the establishment of a General Court of Justice with an Appellate Division, a Superior Court Division, and a Local Trial Court Division. A uniform system of District Courts and Trial Commissioners would have replaced the existing multitude of inferior courts and justices of the peace, the creation of an intermediate Court of Appeals would have been provided for, and uniformity of jurisdiction of the courts within each division would have been required. Otherwise, the General Assembly would have retained essentially its then-existing power over the courts, their jurisdiction, and their procedures.

The General Assembly of 1959 also had before it a recommendation for a constitutional amendment with respect to the court system that had originated with a Court Study Committee of the North Carolina Bar Association.[59] In general, the recommendations of that Committee called for more fundamental changes in the courts than those of the Constitutional Commission. The principal difference between the two sets of recommendations lay in the extent of the proposed authority of the General Assembly over the courts. The Constitutional Commission generally favored legislative authority over the courts and proposed only moderate curtailment of it; the Court Study Committee accepted more literally the concept of an independent judiciary and its proposals would have minimized the authority of the General Assembly over the courts of the State, though structurally, its system would have been much like that of the Constitutional Commission.[60]

The proposed Constitution received extended attention from the General Assembly of 1959. The Senate modified and passed the bill to submit the proposed Constitution to the voters,[61] but it failed to pass the House, due chiefly to the inability of the supporters of the two divergent approaches to court revision to reach agreement.

As had been true of the proposed Constitution of 1933, the proposed Constitution of 1959, though not adopted as a whole, subsequently provided the material for several amendment proposals that were submitted individually to the voters and approved by them during the next decade.

In the General Assembly of 1961, the proponents of court reform were successful in obtaining enactment of a constitutional amendment, approved by the voters in 1962, creating a unified and uniform General Court of Justice for the State.[62] Other amendments submitted by the same session and approved by the voters provided for the automatic decennial reapportionment of the State House of Representatives,[63] clarified the provisions for succession to elective State executive offices and disability determination,[64] authorized a reduction in the residence period for voters for President,[65] allowed increases in the compensation of elected state executive officers during their terms,[66] and required that the power of the General Assembly to classify and exempt property for taxation be exercised by it alone and only on a uniform, statewide basis.[67]

The session of 1963 submitted two amendments: one to enlarge the rights of married women to deal with their own property was approved by the voters;[68] one to enlarge the Senate from fifty to seventy members and allocate one Representative to each county was rejected by the voters.[69] The General Assembly of 1965 submitted and the voters approved an amendment authorizing the legislative creation of a Court of Appeals.[70]

The 1967 General Assembly proposed and the voters approved amendments authorizing the General Assembly to fix its own compensation[71] and revising the legislative apportionment scheme to conform to the judicially-established requirement of representation in proportion to population in both Houses.[72]

Constitution of 1971

From 1869 through 1968, there were submitted to the voters of North Carolina a total of 97 propositions for amending the Constitution of the State. All but one of these proposals originated in the General Assembly. Of those 97 amendment proposals, 69 were ratified by the voters and 28 were rejected by them. The changing attitude of the voters toward constitutional amendments is well illustrated by the fact that from 1869 to 1933, 21 of the 48 amendment propositions were rejected by the voters, a failure rate of three out of seven. Between 1933 and 1968, only seven of 49 proposed amendments were rejected by the voters, a failure rate of one out of seven.[73]

After the amendments of the early 1960's, the pressure for constitutional change seemed at the time to have abated. Yet while an increasingly frequently used amendment process had relieved many of the pressures that otherwise would have strengthened the case for constitutional reform, it had not kept the Constitution current in all respects. Constitutional amendments usually were drafted in response to particular problems experienced or anticipated and generally they were limited in scope so as to achieve the essential goal, while arousing minimum unnecessary opposition. Thus amendments sometimes were not as comprehensive as they should have been to avoid inconsistency in result. Obsolete and invalid provisions had been allowed to remain in the Constitution to mislead the unwary reader. Moreover, in the absence of a comprehensive reappraisal, there had been no recent occasion to reconsider constitutional provisions that might be obsolescent but might not have proved so frustrating or unpopular in their effect as to provoke curative amendments.

It was perhaps for these reasons that when Governor Dan K. Moore recommended to the North Carolina State Bar in the fall of 1967 that it take the lead in making a study of the need for revision of the State Constitution, the response was prompt and affirmative. The North Carolina State Bar and the North Carolina Bar Association joined to create the North Carolina State Constitution Study Commission as a joint agency of the two organizations. The 25 members of that commission (fifteen attorneys and ten laymen) were chosen by a steering committee representative of the sponsoring organizations. The Chairman of the Commission was former State Chief Justice Emery B. Denny.[74]

The State Constitution Study Commission worked throughout most of 1968. It became clear early in the course of its proceedings that the amendments the Commission wished to propose were too numerous to be submitted to the voters as independent propositions. On the other hand, the Commission did not wish to embody all of its proposed changes in a single document, to be approved or disapproved by the voters on a single vote. The compromise procedure developed by the Commission and approved by the General Assembly was a blend of the two approaches. The Commission combined in a reveised text of the Constitution all of the extensive editorial changes that it thought should be made in the Constitution, together with such substantive changes as the Commission deemed not to be controversial or fundamental in nature. These were embodied in the document that came to be known as the Constitution of 1971. Those proposals for change that were deemed to be sufficiently fundamental or potentially controversial in character as to justify it, the Commission set out as independent amendment propositions, to be considered by the General Assembly and by the voters of the State on their independent merits. Thus the opposition to the latter proposals would not be cumulated. The separate proposals framed by the Commission were ten in number, including one extensive revision of the finance article of the Constitution which was largely the work of the Local Government Study Commission, a legislatively-established group then at work on the revision of constitutional and statutory provisions with respect to local government. The amendments were so drafted that any number or combination of them might be ratified by the voters and yet produce a consistent result.

The General Assembly of 1969, to which the recommendations of the State Constitution Study Commission were submitted, received a total of 28 proposals for constitutional amendments. Constitutional revision was an active subject of interest throughout the session. The proposed Constitution of 1971,[75] in the course of seven roll-call votes (four in the House and three in the Senate), received only one negative vote. The independent amendments fared variously; ultimately six were approved by the General Assembly and submitted to the voters. These were the executive reorganization amendment,[76] the finance amendment,[77] an amendment to the income tax provision of the Constitution,[78] a reassignment of the benefits of the escheats,[79] authorization for calling extra legislative sessions on the petition of members of the General Assembly,[80] and abolition of the literacy test for voting.[81] All but the last two of these amendments had been recommended by the State Constitution Study Commission. At the election held on November 3, 1970, the proposed Constitution of 1971 was approved by a vote of 393,759 to 251,132. Five of the six separate amendments were approved by the voters; the literacy test repeal was rejected.

The Constitution of 1971 took effect under its own terms on July 1, 1971 (hence its designation as the "Constitution of 1971").[82] So did the executive reorganization amendment, the income tax amendment, the escheats amendment, and the amendment with respect to extra legislative sessions, all of which amended the Constitution of 1971 at the instant it took effect. The finance amendment, which made extensive revisions in the Constitution of 1971 with respect to debt and local taxation, took effect on July 1, 1973. The two-year delay in its effective date was occasioned by the necessity to conform state statutes with respect to local government finance to the terms of the amendment.

The Constitution of 1971, the State Constitution Study Commission stated in its report recommending its adoption, > effects a general editorial revision of the constitution. . . . The deletions, reorganizations, and improvements in the clarity and consistency of language will be found in the proposed constitution. Some of the changes are substantive, but none is calculated to impair any present right of the individual citizen or to bring about any fundamental change in the power of state and local government or the distribution of that power.[83]

In the new Constitution, the old fourteen-article organization of the Constitution was retained, but the contents of several articles—notably Articles I, II, III, V, IX, and X—were rearranged in more logical sequence. Sections were shifted from one article to another to make a more logical subject-matter arrangement. Clearly obsolete and constitutionally invalid matter was omitted, as were provisions essentially legislative in character. Uniformity of expression was sought where uniformity of meaning was important.

Directness and currency of language were also sought, together with standardization in spelling, punctuation, capitalization, and other essentially editorial matters. Greater brevity of the Constitution as a whole was a by-product of the revision, though not itself a primary objective.

The Declaration of Rights (Article I), which dates from 1776 with some 1868 additions, was retained with a few additions. The organization of the article was improved and the frequently used subjunctive mood was replaced by the imperative in order to make clear that the provisions of that article are commands and not mere admonitions. (For example, "All elections ought to be free" became "All elections shall be free.") To the article were added a guarantee of freedom of speech, a guarantee of equal protection of the laws, and a prohibition against exclusion from jury service or other discrimination by the State on the basis of race or religion. Since all of the rights newly expressed in the Constitution of 1971 were already guaranteed by the United States Constitution, their inclusion simply constituted an explicit recognition by the State of their importance.

In the course of reorganizing and abbreviating Article III (the Executive), the Governor's role as chief executive was brought into clear focus. The scattered statements of the Governor's duties were collected in one section, to which was added a brief statement of his budget powers, formerly merely statutory in origin. No change was made in the Governor's eligibility or term, or in the list of state executives previously elected by the people. To the Council of State (formerly seven elected executives with the Governor as presiding officer) were added the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General as ex-officio members.

Having been entirely rewritten in 1962, the judicial article (Article IV) was the subject of little editorial alteration and of no substantive change.

The editorial amendments to Article V, dealing with finance and taxation, were extensive. Provisions concerning finance were transferred to it from four other articles. The former finance provisions were expanded in some instances to make clearer the meaning of excessively condensed provisions. The only substantive change of note gave a wife who is the primary wage-earner in her family the same constitutionally guaranteed income tax exemption now granted a husband who is the chief wage-earner; she already had that benefit under statute.

The revision of Article VI (voting and elections) added out-of-state and federal felonies to felonies committed against the State of North Carolina as grounds for denial of voting and office-holding rights in this State. The General Assembly was directed to enact general laws governing voter registration.

The provision that has been interpreted to mean that only voters can hold office was modified to limit its application to popularity elective offices only; thus it is left to the legislature to determine whether one must be a voter in order to hold an appointive office.

The Constitution of 1971 prohibits the concurrent holding of two or more elective state offices or of a federal office and an elective state office. It expressly prohibits the concurrent holding of any two or more appointive offices or places of trust or profit, or of any combination of elective and appointive offices or places of trust or profit, except as the General Assembly may allow by general law.

The power to provide for local government r mains in the legislature, confining the constitutional provisions on the subject to a general description of the General Assembly's plenary authority over local government, a declaration that any unit formed by the merger of a city and a county should be deemed both a city and a county for constitutional purposes, and a section retaining the sheriff as an elective county officer.

The education article (Article IX) was rearranged to improve upon the former hodgepodge treatment of public schools and higher education, obsolete provisions (especially those pertaining to racial matters) were eliminated, and other changes were made to reflect current practice in the administration and financing of schools.

The constitutionally-mandated school term was extended from six months (set in 1918) to a minimum of nine months (where it was fixed by statute many years earlier.) The possibly restrictive age limits on tuition-free public schooling were removed. Units of local government to which the General Assembly assigns a share of the responsibility for financing public education were authorized to finance from local revenues education programs, including both public schools and technical institutes and community colleges, without a popular vote of approval. It was made mandatory (it was formerly permissive) that the General Assembly require school attendance.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction was eliminated as a voting member of the State Board of Education but retained as the Board's secretary. He was replaced with an additional at-large appointee. A potential conflict of authority between the Superintendent and the Board (both of which previously had constitutional authority to administer the public schools) was eliminated by making the Superintendent the chief administrative officer of the Board, which is to supervise and administer the schools.

The provisions with respect to the state and county school funds were retained with only minor editorial modifications. Fines, penalties, and forfeitures continue to be earmarked for the county school fund.

The former provisions dealing with The University of North Carolina were broadened into a statement of the General Assembly's duty to maintain a system of higher education.

The General Assembly was authorized by the changes made in Article X (Homesteads and Exemptions) to set the amounts of the personal property exemption and the homestead exemption (constitutionally fixed at $500 and $1,000 respectively since 1868) at what it considers to be reasonable levels, with the constitutional figures being treated as minimums. The provision protecting the rights of married women to deal with their own property was left untouched. The protection given life insurance taken out for the benefit of the wife and children of the insured was broadened.

The provisions prescribing the permissible punishments for crime and limiting the crimes punishable by death (Article XI) were left essentially intact.

The procedures for constitutional revision (Article XIII) were made more explicit.

The five constitutional amendments ratified at the same time as the Constitution of 1971 deserve particular mention.

By the end of the 1960's, North Carolina State Government consisted of over 200 state administrative agencies. The State Constitution Study Commission concluded on the advice of witnesses who had tried it that no governor could effectively oversee an administrative apparatus of such disjointed complexity. The Commission's solution was an amendment, patterned after the Model State Constitution and the constitutions of a few other states, requiring the General Assembly to reduce the number of administrative departments to not more than 25 by 1975, and to give the Governor authority to effect agency reorganizations and consolidations, subject to disapproval by action of either house of the legislature if the changes affected existing statutes.[84]

The second separate constitutional amendment ratified in 1970 supplemented the existing authority of the Governor to call extra sessions of the General Assembly with the advice of the Council of State. The amendment provides that on written request of three-fifths of all the members of each house, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall convene an extra session of the General Assembly. Thus the legislative branch is now able to convene itself, notwithstanding the contrary wishes of the Governor.[85]

The most significant of the separate amendments and in some ways the most important of the constitutional changes ratified in 1970 was the finance amendment. The changes it effected are especially important in the financing of local government. The amendment became effective on July 1, 1973. Its principal provisions are as follows:

(1) All forms of capitation or poll tax are now prohibited.

(2) The General Assembly is authorized to enact laws empowering counties, cities, and towns to establish special taxing districts less extensive in area than the entire county or city in order to finance the provision within those special districts of a higher level of governmental service than is available in the unit at large, either by supplementing existing services or providing services not otherwise available. That provision eliminates the previous necessity of creating a new, independent governmental unit to accomplish the same result.

(3) For a century, the Constitution required that the levying of taxes and the borrowing of money by local governments be approved by a vote of the people of the unit, unless the money were to be used for a "necessary expense." The court, not the General Assembly, was the final arbiter of what was a "necessary expense," and the State Supreme Court took a rather restrictive view of the embrace of that concept. The determination of what types of public expenditures should require voter approval and what types should be made by a governing board on its own authority was found by the General Assembly to be a legislative and not a judicial matter. In that conviction, the finance amendment provided that the General Assembly, acting on a uniform, state-wide basis, should make the final determination of whether voter approval must be had for the levy of property taxes or the borrowing of money to finance particular activities of local government.

(4) To facilitate governmental and private cooperative endeavors, the state and local governmental units were authorized by the amendment to enter into contracts with and appropriate money to private entitles "for the accomplishment of public purposes only."

(5) The various forms of public financial obligations were more precisely defined than in the previous constitution, with the general effect of requiring voter approval only for the issuance of general obligation bonds and notes or for governmental guarantees of the debts of private persons or organizations. The General Assembly was directed to regulate by general law (permitting classified but not local acts) the contracting of debt by local governments.

(6) The amendment retained the existing limitation that the state and local governments may not, without voter approval, borrow more than the equivalent of two-thirds of the amount by which the unit's indebtedness was reduced during the last fiscal period, except for purposes listed in the Constitution. This list was lengthened to include "emergencies immediately threatening public health or safety."

(7) No change was made in the provisions with respect to the classification and exemption of property for purposes of property taxation. The limitation of 20¢ on the $100 valuation previously imposed on the general county property tax was omitted.[86]

The fourth independent amendment also dealt with taxation. It struck out a schedule of specified minimum exemptions from the constitutional provision on the state income tax, leaving those exemptions to be fixed by the General Assembly. This change enabled the legislature to provide for the filing of joint tax returns by husbands and wives and to adopt a "piggy-back" state income tax to be computed as a percentage of the federal income tax, thus relieving the taxpayer of two sets of computations. The amendment retains the maximum tax rate at ten per cent.[87]

The final amendment ratified in 1970 assigns the benefits of property escheating to the State for want of an heir or other lawful claimant to a special fund, to be available to help needy North Carolina students attending public institutions of higher education in the State. Property escheating prior to July 1, 1971, continues to be held by The University of North Carolina.[88]

The one amendment defeated by the voters in 1970 would have repealed the state constitutional requirement that in order to register as a voter, one must be able to read and write the English language. That requirement was already ineffective by virtue of federal legislation and therefore the failure of repeal had no practical effect.[89]

The General Assembly of 1971 submitted to the voters five state constitutional amendments, all of which were ratified by the voters on November 7, 1972. Those amendments set the constitutionally-specified voting age at 18 years,[90] required the General Assembly to set maximum age limts for service as justices and judges of the state courts,[91] authorized the General Assembly to prescribe procedures for the censure and removal of state judges and justices,[92] added to the Constitution a statement of policy with regard to the conservation and the protection of natural resources,[93] and limited the authority of the General Assembly to incorporate cities and towns within close proximity to existing municipalities.[94]

The General Assembly at its 1973 session submitted to the voters for action in November, 1974 only one amendment, changing the title of the solicitor to that of district attorney.[95] The 1974 session proposed an additional amendment — authorizing revenue bonds for the financing of Industrial Facilities — which was also submitted to the voters in November, 1974.[96] The former was approved by the voters on November 5, 1974; the latter was rejected.

Two amendments were submitted to the people by the 1975 Legislature. Both dealt with using Revenue Bonds to finance construction - one for health care facilities, the other for industrial facilities. Both were ratified by the voters on March 23, 1976.

Five amendments were submitted to the people on November 8, 1977. All five, including one giving the governor the right to be elected to a second term were approved.

Conclusion

The people of North Carolina have treated their constitution with conservatism and respect. The fact that we have adopted only three constitutions in two centuries of existence as a state is the chief evidence of that attitude. (Some states have adopted as many as five or ten constitutions in a like period.) The relative fewness of amendments, even in recent years, is another point of contrast to many states. It reflects the fact that North Carolina has been less disposed than have many states to write into its state constitution detailed provisions with respect to transitory matters before left to legislation. The Constitution has allowed the General Assembly wide latitude for decision on public affairs, and legislators have been willing to accept responsibility for and act on matters within their authority instead of passing the responsibility for difficult decisions on to the voters in the form of constitutional amendments.

Constitution draftsmen have not been so convinced of their own exclusive hold on wisdom or so doubtful of the reliability of later generations of legislators that they found it necessary to write into the Constitution the large amount of regulatory detail often found in state constitutions. Delegates to constitutional conventions and members of the General Assembly have acted consistently with the advice of the late John J. Parker, Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit (1925-58), who observed:

> The purpose of a state constitution is two-fold: (1) to protect the rights of the individual from encroachment by the State; and (2) to provide a framework of government for the State and its subdivisions. It is not the function of a constitution to deal with temporary conditions, but to lay down general principles of government which must be observed amid changing conditions. It follows, then, that a constitution should not contain elaborate legislative provisions, but should lay down briefly and clearly fundamental principles upon which the government shall proceed, leaving it to the people's representatives to apply these principles through legislation to conditions as they arise.[97]

In the above table, each issue on which the people have voted is counted as one, whether it involved only a single section (as was often the case), a whole article (as in the case of the 1900 suffrage amendment and the 1962 court amendment), or a revision of the entire Constitution (as in 1868 and 1970).

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA OF 1776[1]

A DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

A Declaration of Rights, made by the Representatives of the Freeman of the State of North Carolina.

1. That all political power is vested, in and derived from, the people only.

2. That the people of this State ought to have the sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof.

3. That no men, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services.

4. That the legislative, executive and supreme judicial powers of government, ought to be forever separate and distinct from each other.

5. That all powers of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.

6. That elections of members to serve as representatives in general assembly ought to be free.

7. That in all criminal prosecutions, every man has a right to be informed of the accusation against him, and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

8. That no freeman shall be put to answer any criminal charge, but by indictment, presentment, or impeachment.

9. That no freeman shall be convicted of any crime, but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful men, in open court, as heretofore used.

10. That excessive bail should not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel nor unusual punishments inflcted.

11. That general warrants, whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places, without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offenses are not particularly described, and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be granted.

12. That no freeman ought to be taken, imprisoned, or disseized of his freehold, liberties, or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner destroyed, or deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the law of the land.

13. That every freeman restrained of his liberty is entitled to a remedy, to inquire into the lawfulness thereof, and to remove the same, if unlawful; and that such remedy ought not to be denied or delayed.

14. That in all controversies at law, respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolable.

15. That the freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty; and therefore ought never to be restrained.

16. That the people of this State ought not to be taxed, or made subject to the payment of any impost, or duty, without the consent of themselves, or their representatives in the general assembly freely given.

17. That the people have a right to bear arms, for the defense of the State; and as standing armies, in time of peace, are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up; and that the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

18. That the people have a right to assemble together, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the legislature for redress of grievances.

19. That all men have a natural and unalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience.

20. That, for redress of grievances, and for amending and strengthening the laws, elections ought to be often held.

21. That a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

22. That no hereditary emoluments, privileges, or honors ought to be granted or conferred in this State.

23. That perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free State, and ought not to be allowed.

24. That retrospective laws, punishing acts committed before the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are oppressive, unjust, and incompatible with liberty; wherefore, no ex post facto law ought to be made.

25. The property of the soil, in a free government, being one of the essential rights of the collective body of the people, it is necessary, in order to avoid future disputes, that the limits of the State should be ascertained with precision: and as the former temporary line between North and South Carolina was confirmed, and extended by commissioners, appointed by the legislatures of the two States, agreeable to the order of the late King George II in council, that line, and that only, should be esteemed the southern boundary of this State; that is to say, beginning on the seaside at a cedar stake at or near the mouth of Little River, (being the southern extremity of Brunswick County), and running from thence a northwest course, through the boundary-house, which stands in thirty-three degrees fifty-six minutes, to a thirty-five degrees north latitude; and from thence a west course, so far as is mentioned in the charter of King Charles II to the late proprietors of Carolina. Therefore, all the territory, seas, waters, and harbors, with their appurtenances, lying between the line above described, and the southern line of the State of Virginia, which begins on the seashore, in thirty-six degrees thirty minutes north latitude, and from thence runs west, agreeable to the said charter of King Charles, are the right and property of the people of this State, to be held by them in sovereignty: any partial line, without the consent of the legislature of this State, at any time thereafter directed or laid out, in any wise notwithstanding: provided always, that this declaration of right shall not prejudice any nation or nations of Indians, from enjoying such hunting grounds as may have been, or hereafter shall be secured to them, by any former or future legislature of this State: And provided also, that it shall not be construed so as to prevent the establishment of one or more governments westward of this State, by consent of the legislature: And provided further, that nothing herein contained shall affect the titles or possessions of individuals holding or claiming under the laws heretofore in force, or grants heretofore made by the late King George II, or his predecessors, or the late lords proprietors, or any of them.

THE CONSTITUTION

The Constitution, or form of Government, agreed to and resolved upon, by the Representatives of the freemen of the State of North Carolina, elected and chosen for that particular purpose, in Congress assembled, at Halifax, the eighteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six.

Whereas, allegiance and protection are in their nature reciprocal, and the one should of right be refused when the other is withdrawn;

And whereas, George the Third, king of Great Britain, and late sovereign of the British American colonies, hath not only withdrawn from them his protection, but, by an act of the British legislature, declared the inhabitants of these States out of the protection of the British crown, and all their property fouud upon the high-seas liable to be seized and confiscated to the uses mentioned in the said act; and the said George the Third has also sent fleets and armies to prosecute a cruel war against them, for the purpose of reducing the inhabitants of the said colonies to a state of object slavery; in consequence whereof, all government, under the said king, within the said colonies, hath ceased, and a total dissolution of government, in many of them, hath taken place:

And whereas, the continental congress, having considered the premises, and other previous violations of the rights of the good people of America, have therefore declared that the thirteen united colonies are, of right, wholly absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, or any other foreign jurisdiction whatsoever; and that the said colonies now are, and forever shall be, free and independent states. Wherefore, in our present State, in order to prevent anarchy and confusion, it becomes necessary that government should be established in this State; therefore, we the representatives of the freemen of North Carolina, chosen and assembled in congress for the express purpose of framing a constitution, under the authority of the people, most conducive to their happiness and prosperity, do declare, that a government for this State shall be established, in manner and form followin, to wit:

1. That the legislative authority shall be vested in two distinct branches, both dependent on the people, to wit, a senate and house of commons.

2. That the senate shall be composed of representatives, annually chosen by ballot, one for each county in the State.

3. That the house of commons shall be composed of representatives, annually chosen by ballot, two for each county, and one for each of the towns of Edenton, New Bern, Wilmington, Salisbury, Hillsborough, and Halifax.

4. That the senate and house of commons, assembled for the purpose of legislation, shall be denominated the general assembly.

5. That each member of the senate shall have usually resided in the county in which he is chosen for one year immediately preceeding his election, and for the same time shall have possessed, and continue to possess, in the county which he represents, not less than three hundred acres of land in fee.

6. That each member of the house of commons shall have usually resided in the county in which he is chosen for one year immediately preceding his election, and for six months shall have possessed, and continue to possess, in the county which he represents, not less than one hundred acres of land in fee, or for the term of his own life.

7. That all freemen of the age of twenty-one years, who have been inhabitants of any one county within the State twelve months immediately preceding the day of any election, and possessed of a freehold, within the same county, of fifty acres of land, for six months next before, and at the day of election, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the senate.

8. That all freemen of the age of twenty-one years, who have been inhabitants of any one county within the State twelve months immediately preceding the day of any election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for members of the house of commons, for the county in which he resides.

9. That all persons possessed of a freehold, in any town in this State, having a right of representation, and also all freemen, who have been inhabitants of any such town twelve months next before, and at the day of election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for a member to represent such town in the house of commons: provided, always, that this section shall not entitle any inhabitant of such town to vote for members of the house of commons for the county in which he may reside: nor any freeholder in such county, who resides without or beyond the limits of such town, to vote for a member of the said town.

10. That the senate and house of commons, when met, shall each have power to choose a speaker, and their other officers; be judges of the qualifications and elections of their members; sit upon their own adjournments from day to day; and prepare bills to be passed into laws. The two houses shall direct writs of election, for supplying intermediate vacancies: and shall also jointly, by ballot, adjourn themselves to any future day and place.

11. That all bills shall be read three times in each house, before they pass into laws, and be signed by the speakers of both houses.

12. That every person, who shall be chosen a member of the senate or house of commons, or appointed to any office or place of trust, before taking his seat, or entering upon the execution of his office, shall take an oath to the State: and all officers shall take an oath of office.

13. That the general assembly shall, by joint ballot of both houses, appoint judges of the supreme courts of law and equity, judges of admiralty and attorney-general, who shall be commissioned by the governor, and hold their offices during good behavior.

14. That the senate and house of commons shall have power to appoint the generals and field officers of the militia, and all officers of the regular army of this State.

15. That the senate and house of commons, jointly, at their first meeting after each annual election, shall, by ballot, elect a governor for one year, who shall not be eligible to that office longer than three years, in six sucessive years; that no person under thirty years of age, and who has not been a resident in this State above five years, and having, in the State, a freehold in lands and tenements, above the value of one thousand pounds, shall be eligible as a governor.

16. That the senate and house of commons, jointly, at their first meeting, after each annual election, shall, by ballot, elect seven persons to be a council of state for one year; who shall advise the governor in the execution of his office; and that four members shall be a quorum; their advice and proceedings shall be entered in a journal, to be kept for that purpose only, and signed by the members present; to any part of which any member present may enter his dissent. And such journal shall be laid before the general assembly when called for by them.

17. That there shall be a seal of this State, which shall be kept by the governor, and used by him as occasion may require; and shall be called the great seal of the State of North Carolina, and shall be affixed to all grants and commissions.

18. The governor, for the time being, shall be captain-general and commander-in-chief of the militia; and in the recess of the general assembly, shall have power, by and with the advice of the council of state, to embody the militia for the public safety.

19. The governor, for the time being, shall have power to draw for and apply such sums of money as shall be voted by the general assembly, for the contingencies of government, and be accountable to them for the same. He also may, by and with the advice of the council of state, lay embargoes, or prohibit the exportation of any commodity, for any term not exceeding thirty days, at any one time in the recess of the general assembly; and shall have the power of granting pardons and reprieves, except where the prosecution shall be carried on by the general assembly, or the law shall otherwise direct; in which case, he may, in the recess, grant a reprieve until the next sitting of the general assembly; and he may exercise all the other executive powers of government, limited and restrained, as by this constitution is mentioned, and according to the laws of the State. And, on his death, inability, or absence from the State, the speaker of the senate, for the time being, and in case of his death, inability, or absence from the State, the speaker of the house of commons, shall exercise the powers of government, after such death, or during such absence or inability of the governor, or speaker of the senate, or until a new nomination is made by the general assembly.

20. That, in every case, where any officer, the right of whose appointment is, by this constitution, vested in the general assembly, shall, during their recess, die, or his office by other means become vacant, the governor shall have power, with the advice of the council of State, to fill up such vacancy, by granting a temporary commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the general assembly.

21. That the governor, judges of the supreme court of law and equity, judges of admiralty, and attorney-general, shall have adequate salaries, during their continuance in office.

22. That the general assembly shall, by joint ballot of both houses, annually appoint a treasurer or treasurers for this State.

23. That the governor, and other officers, offending against the State, by violating any part of this constitution, maladministration, or corruption, may be prosecuted, on the impeachment of the general assembly, or presentment of the grand jury of any court of supreme jurisdiction in this State.

24. That the general assembly shall, by joint ballot of both houses, triennially appoint a secretary for this State.

25. That no persons who heretofore have been, or hereafter may be, receivers of public moneys, shall have a seat in either house of general assembly, or be eligible to any office in this State, until such person shall have fully accounted for, and paid into the treasury, all sums for which they may be accountable and liable.

26. That no treasurer shall have a seat, either in the senate, house of commons, or council of state, during his continuance in that office, or before he shall have finally settled his accounts with the public, for all the moneys which may be in his hands, at the expiration of his office, belonging to the State, and hath paid the same into the hands of the succeeding treasurer.

27. That no officer in the regular army or navy, in the service and pay of the United States, of this State or any other State, nor any contractor or agent for supplying such army or navy with clothing or provisions, shall have a seat either in the senate, house of commons, or council of state, or be eligible thereto; and any member of the senate, house of commons, or council of state, being appointed to ,and accepting of such office, shall thereby vacate his seat.

28. That no member of the council of state shall have a seat, either in the senate or house of commons.

29. That no judge of the supreme court of law or equity, or judge of admiralty, shall have a seat in the senate, house of commons, or council of state.

30. That no secretary of this State, attorney-general, or clerk of any court of record, shall have a seat in the senate, house of commons, or council of state.

31. That no clergyman, or preacher of the gospel, of any denomination, shall be capable of being a member of either the senate, house of commons, or council of state, while he continues in the exercise of his pastoral function.

32. That no person who shall deny the being of God, or the truth of the Protestant religion, or the divine authority of either the Old or New Testaments, or who shall hold religious principles incompatible with the freedom and safety of the State, shall be capable of holding any office, or place of trust or profit, in the civil department, within this State.

33. That the justices of the peace, within their respective counties in this State, shall in future be recommended to the governor for the time being, by the representatives in general assembly; and the governor shall commission them accordingly; and the justices, when so commissioned, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall not be removed from office by the general assembly, unless for misbehaviour, absence, or inability.

34. That there shall be no establishment of any one religious church or denomination in this State, in preference to any other; neither shall any person, on any pretense whatsoever be compelled to attend any place of worship contrary to his own faith or judgement, nor be obliged to pay for the purchase of any glebe, or the building of any house of worship, or for the maintenance of any minister or ministry, contrary to what he believes right, or has voluntarily and personally engaged to perform; but all persons shall be at liberty to exercise their own mode of worship: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to exempt preachers of treasonable or seditious discourses, from legal trial and punishment.

35. That no person in the State shall hold more than one lucrative office at any one time: Provided that no appointment in the militia, or the office of a justice of the peace, shall be considered as a lucrative office.

36. That all commissions and grants shall run in the name of the State of North Carolina, and bear test, and be signed by the Governor. All writs shall run in the same manner, and bear test, and be signed by the clerks of the respective courts. Indictments shall conclude, against the peace and dignity of the State.

37. That the delegates for this State to the continental congress, while necessary, shall be chosen annually by the general assembly, by ballot; but may be superseded, in the meantime, in the same manner; and no person shall be elected to serve in that capacity for more than three years successively.

38. That there shall be a sheriff, coroner, or coroners, and constables, in each county within this State.

39. That the person of a debtor, where there is not a strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison after delivering up, bona fide, all his estate, real and personal, for the use of his creditors, in such manner as shall hereafter be regulated by law. All prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses, when the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

40. That every foreigner who comes to settle in this State; having first taken an oath of allegiance to the same, may purchase, or, by other just means, acquire, hold, and transfer land, or other real estate, and after one year's residence be deemed a free citizen.

41. That a school or schools shall be established by the legislature, for the convenient instruction of youth, with such salaries to the masters, paid by the public, as may enable them to instruct at low prices; and, all usefull learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more universities.

42. That no purchase of lands shall be made of the Indian natives, but on behalf of the public, by authority of the general assembly.

43. That the future legislature of this State shall regulate entails, in such a manner as to prevent perpetuities.

44. That the declaration of rights is hereby declared to be part of the constitution of this State, and ought never to be violated on any pretence whatsoever.

45. That any member of either house of general assembly shall have liberty to dissent from and protest against any act or resolve which he may think injurious to the public, or any individual, and have the reasons of his dissent entered on the journals.

46. That neither house of the general assembly shall proceed upon public business, unless a majority of all the members of such house are actually present; and that upon a motion made and seconded, the yeas and nays, upon any question, shall be taken and entered on the journals: and that the journals of the proceedings of both houses of the general assembly shall be printed, and made public, immediately after their adjournment.

This constitution is not intended to preclude the present congress from making a temporary provision, for the well ordering of this State, until the general assembly shall establish government agreeable to the mode herein before described.

RICHARD CASWELL, President.

December the eighteenth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, read the third time, and ratified in open congress.

By order: JAMES GREEN, Jun., Secretary.

AMENDMENT OF 1789[2]

AN ORDINANCE TO ENABLE THE FREEMAN OF THE TOWN OF FAYETTEVILLE TO ELECT A MEMBER TO REPRESENT SAID TOWN ON THE SAME TERMS WITH THE OTHER TOWNS IN THE STATE.

(This ordinance was passed in convention on November 21, 1789 by a vote of 136 to 68. It was not submitted to a vote of the people.)

THE AMENDMENTS[5]

Article I.

Section 1.

1. The senate of this State shall consist of fifty representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, and to be elected by districts; which districts shall be laid off by the general assembly, at its first session after the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-one; and afterwards, at its first session after the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; and then every twenty years thereafter, in proportion to the public taxes paid into the treasury of the State, by the citizens thereof; and the average of the public taxes paid by each county into the treasury of the State, for the five years preceding the laying off of the districts, shall be considered as its proportion of the public taxes, and constitute the basis of apportionment: Provided that no county shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district. And when there are one or more counties having an excess of taxation above the ratio to form a senatorial district, adjoining a county or counties deficient in such ratio, the excess or excesses aforesaid shall be added to the taxation of the county or counties deficient; and if, with such addition, the county or counties receiving it shall have the requisite ratio, such county and counties each shall constitute a senatorial district.

2. The house of commons shall be composed of one hundred and twenty representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, to be elected by counties according to their federal population, that is, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons; and each county shall have at least one member in the house of commons, although it may not contain the requisite ratio of population.

3. This apportionment shall be made by the general assembly, at the respective times and periods when the districts for the senate are hereinbefore directed to be laid off; and the said apportionment shall be made according to an enumeration to be ordered by the general assembly, or according to the census which may be taken by order of congress, next preceding the making such apportionment.

4. In making the apportionment in the house of commons, the ratio of representation shall be ascertained by dividing the amount of federal population in the State, after deducting that comprehended within those counties which do not severally contain the one hundred and twentieth part of the entire federal population aforesaid, by the number of representatives less than the number assigned to the said counties. To each county containing the said ratio, and not twice the said ratio, there shall be assigned one representative; to each county containing twice, but not three times the said ratio, there shall be assigned two representatives, and so on progressively; and then the remaining represetatives shall be assigned severally to the counties having the largest fractions.

Section 2.

1. Until the first session of the general assembly, which shall be had after the year eighteen hundred and forty-one, the senate shall be composed of members to be elected from the several districts hereinafter named, that is to say, the first district shall consist of the counties of Perquimans and Pasquotank; the 2nd district of Camden and Currituck; the 3rd district, Gates and Chowan; the 4th district, Washington and Tyrrell; the 5th district, Northampton; the 6th district, Hertford; the 7th district, Bertie; the 8th district, Martin; the 9th district, Halifax; the 10th district, Nash; the 11th district, Wake; the 12th district, Franklin; the 13th district, Johnston; the 14th district, Warren; the 15th district, Edgecombe; the 16th district, Wayne; the 17th district, Greene and Lenoir; the 18th district, Pitt; the 19th district, Beaufort and Hyde; the 20th district, Carteret and Jones; the 21st district, Craven; the 22d district, Chatham; the 23d district, Granville; the 24th district, Person; the 25th district, Cumberland; the 26th district, Sampson; the 27th district, New Hanover; the 28th district, Duplin; the 29th district, Onslow; the 30th district, Brunswick, Bladen, and Columbus; the 31st district, Robeson and Richmond; the 32d district, Anson; the 33d district, Cabarrus; the 34th district, Moore and Montgomery; the 35th district, Caswell; the 36th district, Rockingham; the 37th district, Orange; the 38th district, Randolph; the 39th district, Guilford; the 40th district, Stokes; the 41st district, Rowan; the 42d district, Davidson; the 43d district, Surry; the 44th district, Wilkes and Ashe; the 45th district, Burke and Yancey; the 46th district, Lincoln; the 47th district, Iredell; the 48th district, Rutherford; the 49th district, Buncombe, Haywood and Macon; the 50th district, Mecklenburg:—each district to be entitled to one senator.

Section 3.

1. Each member of the senate shall have usually resided in the district for which he is chosen for one year immediately preceding his election, and for the same time shall have possessed and continued to possess in the district which he represents, not less than three hundred acres of land in fee.

2. All free men of the age of twenty-one years (except as is hereinafter declared), who have been inhabitants of any one district within the State twelve months immediately preceding the day of any election, and possessed of a freehold within the same district of fifty acres of land, for six months next before and at the day of election, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the senate.

3. No free Negro, free mulatto, or free person of mixed blood, descended from Negro ancestors to the fourth generation inclusive (though one ancestor of each generation may have been a white person) shall vote for members of the senate or house of commons.

Section 4.

1. In the election of all officers, whose appointment is conferred on the general assembly by the constitution, the vote shall be viva voce.

2. The general assembly shall have power to pass laws regulating the mode of appointing and removing militia officers.

3. The general assembly shall have power to pass general laws regulating divorce and alimony, but shall not have power to grant a divorce or secure alimony in any individual case.

4. The general assembly shall not have power to pass any private law to alter the name of any person, or to legitimate any persons not born in lawful wedlock, or to restore to the rights of citizenship any person convicted of an infamous crime; but shall have power to pass general laws regulating the same.

5 The general assembly shall not pass any private law, unless it shall be made to appear that thirty days' notice of application to pass such law shall have been given, under such directions and in such manner as shall be provided by law.

6. If vacancies shall occur by death, resignation or otherwise, before the meeting of the general assembly, writs may be issued by the governor, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

7. The general assembly shall meet biennially, and at each biennial session shall elect, by joint vote of the two houses, a secretary of state, treasurer and council of state, who shall continue in office for the term of two years.

Article II.

1. The governor shall be chosen by the qualified voters for the members of the house of commons, at such time and places as members of the general assembly are elected.

2. He shall hold his office for the term of two years from the time of his installation, and until another shall be elected and qualified; but he shall not be eligible more than four years in any term of six years.

3. The returns of every election for governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government, by the returning officers, directed to the speaker of the senate, who shall open and publish them in the presence of a majority of the members of both houses of the general assembly. The person having the highest number of votes shall be governor; but if two or more shall be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen governor by joint vote of both houses of the general assembly.

4. Contested elections for governor shall be determined by both houses of the general assembly, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

5. The governor-elect shall enter on the duties of the office on the first day of January next after his election, having previously taken the oaths of office in the presence of the members of both branches of the general assembly, or before the chief justice of the supreme court, who, in case the governor-elect should be prevented from attendance before the general assembly, by sickness or other unavoidable cause, is authorized to administer the same.

Article III.

Section 1.

1. The governor, judges of the supreme court, and judges of the superior courts, and all other officers of this State (except justices of the peace and militia officers), may be impeached for wilfully violating any article of the constitution, maladministration, or corruption.

2. Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to remove from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under this State; but the party convicted may nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

3. The house of commons shall have the sole power of impeachment. The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. No person shall be convicted upon any impeachment, unless two-thirds of the senators present shall concur in such conviction; and before the trial of any impeachment, the members of the senate shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try and determine the charge in question, according to evidence.

Section 2.

1. Any judge of the supreme court, or of the superior courts, may be removed from office for mental or physical inability, upon a concurrent resolution of two-thirds of both branches of the general assembly. The judge, against whom the legislature may be about to proceed, shall receive notice thereof, accompanied by a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least twenty days before the day on which either branch of the general assembly shall act thereon.

The salaries of the judges of the supreme court, or of the superior courts, shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Section 3.

Upon the conviction of any justice of the peace of any infamous crime, or of corruption or malpractice in office, the commission of such justice shall be thereby vacated, and he shall be forever disqualified from holding such appointment.

Section 4.

The general assembly at its first session after the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, and from time to time thereafter, shall appoint an attorney-general, who shall be commissioned by the governor, and shall hold his office for the term of four years; but if the general assembly should hereafter extend the term during which solicitors of the State shall hold their offices, then they shall have power to extend the term of office of the attorney-general to the same period.

Article IV

Section 1.

1. No convention of the people shall be called by the general assembly, unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the general assembly.

2. No part of the constitution of this State shall be altered, unless a bill to alter the same shall have been read three times in each house of the general assembly, and agreed to by three-fifths of the whole number of members of each house respectively; nor shall any alteration take place until the bill so agreed to shall have been published six months previous to a new election of members to the general assembly. If, after such publication, the alteration proposed by the preceding general assembly shall be agreed to in the first session thereafter, by two-thirds of the whole representation in each house of the general assembly, after the same shall have been read three times on three several days, in each house, then the said general assembly shall prescribe a mode by which the amendment or amendments may be submitted to the qualified voters of the house of commons throughout the State; and if, upon comparing the votes given in the whole State, it shall appear that a majority of the voters have approved thereof, then, and not otherwise, the same bill become a part of the constitution.

Section 2.

The thirty-second section of the constitution shall be amended to read as follows: No person who shall deny the being of God, or the truth of the Christian religion, or the divine authority of the Old or New Testament, or who shall hold religious principles incompatible with the freedom or safety of the State, shall be capable of holding any office or place of trust or profit in the civil department within this State.

Section 3.

1. Capitation tax shall be equal throughout the State, upon all individuals subject to the same.

2. All free males over the age of twenty-one years, and under the age of forty-five years, and all slaves over the age of twelve years, and under the age of fifty years, shall be subject to capitation tax, and no other person shall be subject to such tax: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall prevent exemptions of taxable polls, as heretofore prescribed by law, in cases of bodily infirmity.

Section 4.

No person who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit under the United States, or any department thereof, or under this State, or any other State government, shall hold or exercise any other office or place of trust or profit under the authority of this State, or be eligible to a seat in either house of the general assembly: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall extend to officers in the militia or justices of the peace.

Ratified in convention, this eleventh day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five.

NATHANIEL MACON, President.
EDMUND B. FREEMAN, Secretary.
JOSEPH D. WARD, Asst. Secty.

(These Amendments were submitted to the people as a single issue. They were ratified on November 9, 1835 by a vote of 26,771 to 21,606.)

AMENDMENT OF 1857[6]

Every free white man of the age of twenty-one years, being a native or naturalized citizen of the United States and who has been an inhabitant of the State for twelve months immediately preceding the day of any election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the senate for the district in which he resides.

(This amendment was proposed by the General Assemblies of 1854 and 1856-57 and was submitted to the people. It was ratified on August 6, 1857 by a vote of 50,095 to 19,382.)

THE AMENDMENTS[58]

I. AN ORDINANCE TO DISSOLVE THE UNION BETWEEN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA AND THE OTHER STATES UNITED WITH HER UNDER THE COMPACT OF GOVERNMENT ENTITLED THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

We, the people of the State of North Carolina in Convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the ordinance adopted by the State of North Carolina, in the Convention of 1789, whereby the Constitution of the United States was ratified and adopted, and also, all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly, ratifying and adopting amendments to the said Constitution, are hereby repealed, rescinded and abrogated.

We do further declare and ordain, that the Union now subsisting between the State of North Carolina and the other States, under the title of the United States of America, is hereby dissolved, and that the State of North Carolina is in the full possession of exercise of all those rights of sovereignty which belong and appertain to a free and independent State.

Passed, 20th day of May 1861.

II. AN ORDINANCE DEFINING TREASON AGAINST THE STATE.

Be it ordained by this Convention, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same as follows:—

Treason against the State of North Carolina, shall consist only in levying War against her, or in adhering to her enemies; giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of Treason, unless on the Testimony of two witnesses to the same over act, or on confession in open Court.

Read three times and passed 18th June 1861.

III. AN ORDINANCE TO RATIFY THE CONSTITUTION OF THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA.

We the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained,

That the State of North Carolina does hereby assent to and ratify the Constitution for the Provisional Government of the Confederate States of America, adopted at Montgomery, in the State of Alabama, on the 8th day of February, A. D. 1861, by the Convention of Delegates from the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, and that North Carolina will enter into the Federal Association of States upon the terms therein proposed when admitted by the Congress or any Competent authority of the Confederate States.

Done at Raleigh, the twentieth day of May 1861.

IV. AN ORDINANCE TO RATIFY THE CONSTITUTION OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA.

Whereas, on the eleventh day of March, A. D. 1861, at Montgomery, in the State of Alabama, a Constitution was adopted, by a Congress of delegates from the States of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Texas, united under the name of the Confederate States of America, which Constitution hath been ratified by each of the said states:

Now, therefore, this convention, having seen and considered the said Constitution, doth, in behalf of the people of the State of North Carolina, adopt and ratify the said Constitution and form of Government, the tenor of which appears in a schedule hereto annexed:

(The text of the Constitution of the Confederate States appeared in full at this point in the Ordinance. This has been omitted because a complete text is found on pages 407-419.)

Read three times and passed, 6th June 1861.

V. AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE 4TH SECTION OF THE 4TH ARTICLE OF THE AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Be it Ordained by this Convention of the people, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of theh same, That the fourth Section of the fourth Article of the amendments to the Constitution, proposed and ratified in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-five, be amended by striking out the word "United" and inserting in lieu thereof, the word "Confederate" before the word "States".

Read three times and passed, 20th June 1861.

VI. AN ORDINANCE IN RELATION TO TAXATION.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained, That the third Section of the fourth article of the amendments of the Constitution be and the same if hereby annulled.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That all free males over the age of twenty-one years and under the age of forty-five years shall be subject to a Capitation tax, not less than the tax laid on land of the value of three hundred dollars, and no other free person nor slave, shall be liable to such taxation; and also, land and slaves shall be taxed according to their value, and the tax on slaves shall be as much but not more than that on land, according to their respective values; but the tax on slaves may be laid on their general average value in the State or on their values in classes in respect to age, sex, and other distinctive properties, in the discretion of the General Assembly; and the value be assessed in such modes as may be prescribed by law: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the exemption from taxation of soldiers in the public service, or of free males or slaves in cases of bodily or mental infirmity, or of such real estate as hath hitherto been exempted by law.

Read three times and passed 25th June 1861.

VII. AN ORDINANCE TO SECURE TO CERTAIN OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by this convention and it is hereby ordained by authority of the same, That all officers and soldiers in the service of the State or of the Confederate States, who are of the age of twenty-one years and who are citizens of this State, or who, if within the State, shall be absent from their respective counties, at elections hereafter to be held, if the exigencies of the times shall permit, shall be entitled to vote for Sheriffs, Clerks of the County and Superior Courts, our members of the General Assembly for their respective Counties; and shall, also, be entitled to vote for Governor, Electors for President and Vice President of the Confederate States, and for members of the Confederate Congress for their respective districts.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That three freeholders of the respective Companies, under the direction of the Commanding Officers of the regiments, to which they belong, shall open polls on Thursday before the day appointed for holding elections in this State, and said elections shall be conducted in all respects according to the laws of this State. The three freeholders aforesaid, shall prepare a fair copy of the votes polled, and shall transmit the same with the list of voters to the Sheriffs of their respective counties; and where Officers and Soldiers in the same Companies, shall vote in different Counties or different Congressional districts the said free holders shall specify accordingly, and make returns to the Sheriffs of the different Counties above referred to.

SEC. 3. Be it further ordained, That the Sheriffs of the respective Counties of this State shall count the votes of the said officers and soldiers, if received within seven days after the elections; and they shall not declare the result of the said elections until the seven days above mentioned, shall have expired.

SEC. 4. Be it further ordained that this ordinance shall be in force from and after the day of its ratification; provided this ordinance shall be in force during the existence of the present war with the United States, and no longer.

Read three times and passed, June 15th 1861.

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AN ORDIANCE ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO SECURE TO CERTAIN OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That the proper returning officers of every County in this State shall include in their returns the votes of officers and soldiers given in any election in whice they may be entitled to vote by Law, if received within twenty days after they are cast, and the said returning officers shall not make up their returns and declare the result of said elections until the expiration of twenty days as aforesaid.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That the proper returning officer of every County shall, within eight days after the period fixed for comparing the returns, transmit to the seat of government and deliver to the proper officer a statement of votes given in his county for Governor, which statement shall be made in the manner and form now required by law.

SEC. 3. Be it further ordained, That the Governor be directed to make known by proclamation the provisions of the ordinance securing to officers and soldiers the right to vote.

Passed and ratified in open Convention the 8 day of May A. D. 1862.

VIII. AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR AMENDING THE FORTY-SIXTH SECTION OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THIS STATE, IN REGARD TO TAKING THE YEAS AND NAYS IN EITHER HOUSE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Bt it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same; That the forty-sixth section of the Constitution of this State be so amended as to insert, after the word "seconded" in the fourth line of said section, the words "by one-fifth of the members present."

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, the sixth day of December A. D. 1861.

IX. AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE SECOND SECTION OF THE FOURTH ARTICLE OF THE AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That the second section of the fourth article of the amendments to the Constitution shall be amended to read as follows:

"No person who shall deny the being of God, or the divine authority of both the Old and New Testiments, or who shall hold religious opinions incompatible with the freedom or safety of the State, shall be capable of holding any office or place of trust or profit in the civil department of this State."

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, the sixth day of December A. D. 1861.

X. AN ORDINANCE IN RELATION TO ELECTORS OF THE SENATE.

Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That every free white man, of the age of twenty one years, being a native or naturalized citizen of the Confederate States, who has been an inhabitant of the state for twelve months, and of the district in which he proposes to vote six months next before the day of any election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the Senate for the district in which he resides.

Passed and ratified in open Convention on the 10th day of May A. D. 1862.

XI. AN ORDINANCE CONCERNING THE ELECTION OF GOVERNOR.

Whereas, By the construction which, in practice, has been given to the constitution of the State, the Speaker of the Senate, in case of a vacancy in the office of the Governor, shall exercise the powers of Governor by virtue of his office as Speaker, and without vacating the same, which said office of Speaker must cease and determine with that of the incumbent as a Senator, upon the election of his successor in the next succeeding Senate and the same construction would apply to the succession of the Speaker of the House of Commons to the exercise of the powers of Governor; and Whereas, according to this construction, a vacancy will take place in the office of Governor from and after the day of the next election on the first Thursday in August next until the first day of January, A. D. 1863, against which it is the duty of this Convention to provide, Therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same; That the person who shall be elected Governor of this State at the next regular election on the first Thursday in August next, as now provided for by Law, shall also fill the office and discharge the duties of Governor of this State from the second Monday of September until his successor shall be qualified.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That the proper returning officers of every county shall, as soon as the result of the election is known in his county, transmit to the Secretary of State a statement of the votes taken in his county for Governor, which statement shall be made up from the poll books of his county, as is now prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. Bt it further ordained, That the Secretary of State, the Treasurer and Comptroller, shall, on the fourth Thursday in August next, in the presence of the Governor, proceed to examine said returns, and ascertain and declare what person shall have received the greatest number of votes, where upon the Governor shall issue his proclamation, declaring such person duly elected Governor of this State from the second Monday of September, A. D. 1862, until his successor shall be qualified.

SEC. 4. Be it further ordained, That the person so declared and proclaimed Governor, as aforesaid, shall, on the second Monday of September, A. D. 1862, appear before some Judge of the Supreme Court, or someone of the Judges of the Superior Courts of Law, and take and subscribe the oath now prescribed by law for qualification of Governor of this State, and shall immediately enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office; which oath so taken and subscribed shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 5. Be it further ordained, That His Excellency, Henry T. Clark, shall continue to hold the office and discharge the duties of Governor of this State from the first Thursday in August until the second Monday in September next or until his successor shall be qualified, as fully and to all intents and purposes as he has heretofore done, and shall receive the usual salary, in proportion to his extended term of service.

Passed and ratified in open Convention on the 2nd day of May A. D. 1862.

XII. AN ORDINANCE TO ALLOW CERTAIN PERSONS TO VOTE FOR GOVERNOR IN ANY OTHER THAN THE COUNTIES IN WHICH THEY RESIDE.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That any citizen of this State who shall be entitled to vote for Governor in the county wherein he is domiciled, shall be entitled to vote for Governor in any county in this State.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That it shall or may be lawful for the Sheriffs of the counties in this State in the possession of or under the control of the enemy to compare the poles of their respective counties for Governor and members of the Legislature, at any place in this State they may think proper.

SEC. 3. Be it further ordained, That this ordinance shall be and continue in force for and during the present war, and no longer, unless sooner repealed or modified by the General Assembly.

Passed and ratified in open Convention on the 12th day of May A. D. 1862.

AN ORDINANCE DECLARING WHAT ORDINANCES OF THIS CONVENTION SHALL HAVE PERMANENT OPERATION.[59]

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That the following ordinances passed by this Convention shall be of permanent operation and be irrepealable by the General Assembly namely:

I. An Ordinance to dissolve the Union between the State of North Carolina and the other States united with her under the compact of government entitled "the Constitution of the United States."

II. An Ordinance defining treason against the State.

III. An Ordinance to ratify the Constitution of the Provisional Government of the Confederate States of America.

IV. An Ordinance to ratify the Constitution of the Confederate States of America.

THE CONSTITUTION

We, the delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled for the purpose of amending the Constitution of the State, having consolidated the same as adopted on the eighteenth day of December A. D. One thousand seven hundred and seventy-six; with the amendments thereto which were ratified on the eleventh day of July A. D. One thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, together with sundry amendments adopted in the years One thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-one and One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and other amendments adopted by this Convention, do ordain and establish the following Constitution for the State:

Article I.

Declaration of Rights

SECTION 1. All political power is vested in and derived from the people only.

SEC. 2. The people of this State ought to have the sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof.

SEC. 3. No man or set of men are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services.

SEC. 4. The legislative, executive, and supreme judicial powers of government ought to be forever separate and distinct from each other.

SEC. 5. All power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.

SEC. 6. Elections of members to serve as representatives in General Assembly ought to be free.

SEC. 7. In all criminal prosecutions, every man has a right to be informed of the accusation against him, and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and to have counsel for his defence, and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

SEC. 8. No freeman shall be put to answer any criminal charge, except as hereinafter allowed, but by indictment, presentment, or impeachment.

SEC. 9. No freeman shall be convicted of any crime, but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful men, in open court, as heretofore used: The Legislature may, however, provide other modes of trial for petty misdemeanors, with the right of appeal.

SEC. 10. Excessive bail should not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel nor unusual punishments inflicted.

SEC. 11. General warrants, whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or person not named whose offence is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be granted.

SEC. 12. No freeman ought to be taken, imprisoned, or disseized of his freehold, liberties, or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled or in any manner destroyed, or deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the law of the land.

SEC. 13. Every freeman, restrained of his liberty, is entitled to a remedy to inquire into the lawfulness thereof, and to remove the same if unlawful, and such remedy ought not to be denied or delayed.

SEC. 14. In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolable.

SEC. 15. The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty, and therefore ought never to be restrained.

SEC. 16. The people of this State ought not to be taxed, or made subject to the payment of any impost or duty, without the consent of themselves, or their representatives in General Assembly, freely given.

SEC. 17. The people have a right to bear arms for the defence of the State; and, as standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up; and the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

SEC. 18. The people have a right to assemble together, to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives and to apply to the legislature for redress of grievances.

SEC. 19. All men have a natural and unalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

SEC. 20. For redress of grievances, and for amending and strengthening the laws, elections ought to be often held.

SEC. 21. A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

SEC. 22. No hereditary emoluments, privileges, or honors, ought to be granted or conferred in this State.

SEC. 23. Perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free State, and ought not to be allowed.

SEC. 24. Retrospective laws, punishing facts committed before the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are oppressive, unjust, and incompatible with liberty, wherefore, no expost facto law ought to be made.

SEC. 25. Slavery and involuntary servitude otherwise than for crimes, whereof the parties shall have been duly convicted, shall be, and is hereby forever prohibited within the State.

SEC. 26. The limits and boundaries of the State shall be and remain as they now are.

SEC. 27. All courts shall be open, and every person, for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay.

SEC. 28. No Soldier shall in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Article II.

Legislative Department.

SECTION 1. The legislative authority shall be vested in two distinct branches, both dependent on the people, to wit: a Senate and House of Commons.

SEC. 2. The Senate shall consist of fifty representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, and elected by districts; which districts shall remain as they are until the first session of the General Assembly after the year One thousand eight hundred and seventy-one; and at such session, and then every ten years thereafter shall be laid off by the General Assembly, in proportion to the public taxes paid into the Treasury of the State by the citizens thereof; and the average of the public taxes paid by each county into the Treasury of the State for the three years preceding the laying off of the districts, shall be considered as its proportion of the public taxes, and constitute the basis of apportionment: Provided, That no county shall be divided in the formation of a Senatorial district; and when there are one or more counties, having an excess of taxation above the ratio to form a Senatorial district, adjoining a county or counties deficient in such ratio, the excess or excesses aforesaid shall be added to the taxation of the county or counties deficient; and if, with such addition, the couty or counties receiving it shall have the requisite ratio, such county and counties each shall constitute a Senatorial district.

SEC. 3. The House of Commons shall be composed of one hundred and twenty representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, to be elected by the counties respectively, according to their entire respective white population, and each county shall have at least one member in the House of Commons, although it may not contain th requisite ratio of white population.

SEC. 4. This apportionment shall be made by the General Assembly, at the respective times and periods when the districts for the Senate are hereinbefore directed to be laid off; and the said apportionment shall be made according to an enumeration to be ordered by the General Assembly, or according to the census which may be taken by order of Congress, next preceding the period of making such apportionment.

SEC. 5. In making the apportionment in the House of Commons, the ratio of representation shall be ascertained by dividing the amount of the white population in the State, after deducting that comprehended within those counties, which do not severally contain the one hundred and twentieth part of the entire white population aforesaid, by the number of representatives less the number assigned to the said counties. To each county containing the said ratio, and not twice the said ratio, there shall be assigned one representative; to each county containing twice, but not three times the said ratio, there shall be assigned two representatives, and so on progressively; and then the remaining representatives shall be assigned severally to the counties having the largest fractions.

SEC. 6. No new county shall be formed and established, unless there shall be, within the proposed boundaries thereof, the one hundred and twentieth part of the entire white population of the State; nor if the population of the county, or any of the counties, from which it may be proposed to form and establish the same, shall thereby, be reduced below the one hundred and twentieth part of the entire white population of the State.

SEC. 7. Each member of the Senate shall be not less than thirty years of age; shall have resided in the State five years; shall have usually resided in the district for which he is chosen, one year immediately preceding his election, and for the same time shall have possessed, and shall continue to possess, in the district which he represents, not less than three hundred acres of land in fee; or a freehold of not less value than One thousand dollars.

SEC. 8. Each member of the House of Commons shall be not less than twenty-one years of age; shall have resided in the State five years, and shall have usually resided in the county in which he is chosen, for one year immediately preceding his election; and for the same time shall have possessed, and shall continue to possess, in the county which he represents, a freehohld of one hundred acres of land, or the value of three hundred dollars.

SEC. 9. Every man of the age of twenty-one years, who may have been an inhabitant of the State for twelve months, and of the district in which he proposes to vote, six months next before the day of any election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for a member of the Senate for the district in which he may then reside.

SEC. 10. Every man of the age of twenty-one years, who may have been an inhabitant of the State for twelve months next before the day of election, and of the county in which he proposes to vote for six months next before the day of election, and shall have paid public taxes, shall be entitled to vote for members of the House of Commons for the county in which he shall then reside.

SEC. 11. Each person elected to the Senate or House of Commons, shall hold his seat from the time of his election until the next biennial election.

SEC. 12. The Senate and House of Commons shall meet biennially, and when assembled, shall be denominated the General Assembly.

SEC. 13. The House of Commons shall choose their own speaker and other officers.

SEC. 14. The Lieutenant Governor shall preside in the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

SEC. 15. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a speaker pro tempore in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor, or when he shall exercise the office of the Governor.

SEB. 16. Each House shall be judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members; shall sit upon its own adjournments from day to day; prepare bills to be passed into laws; direct writs for supplying intermediate vacancies; and may also jointly adjourn to any future day or place.

SEC. 17. The style of the acts shall be, "The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact, as follows:"

SEC. 18. All bills and resolutions of a legislative nature shall be read three times in each House before they pass into laws, and shall be signed by the presiding officers of both Houses.

SEC. 19. Each member of the General Assembly, before taking his seat, shall take an oath or affirmation that, to the best of his knowledge and belief he is qualified under the Constitution of the State to take his seat.

SEC. 20. The General Assembly shall not have power to grant a divorce, or secure alimony, in any individual case, but may pass general laws, regulating divorce and alimony.

SEC. 21. The General Assembly shall not have power to pass any private law to alter the name of any person, or to legitimate any persons not born in lawful wedlock, or to restore to the rights of citizenship any person convincted of an infamous crime; but shall have power to pass general laws regulating the same.

SEC. 22. The General Assembly shall not pass any private law, unless it shall be made to appear that thirty days notice of application to pass such law shall have been given, under such directions and in such manner as shall be provided by law.

SEC. 23. No law shall be passed to raise a loan of money on the credit of the State, or to pledge the faith of the State directly or indirectly for the payment of any debt, or to impose any tax upon the people of the State, or to allow the counties, cities or towns to do so, unless the bill for that purpose shall have been read thru several times in each House of the General Assembly, and passed thru several readings which readings shall have been on three different days, and agreed to by a majority of the whole number of members of each House respectively, and unless the yeas and nays, on the second and third readings of the bill shall have been entered on the journal.

SEC. 24. The General Assembly shall regulate entails in such a manner as to prevent perpetuities.

SEC. 25. If vacancies shall occur by death, resignation, or otherwise, whenever the General Assembly is not in session, writs of election may be issued by the Governor, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 26. Neither House shall proceed upon public business, unless a majority of all its members be present.

SEC. 27. Each House shall keep a journal of all its proceedings, which shall be printed, and make public immediately after the adjournment of the General Assembly.

SEC. 28. Upon motion made, and seconded in either House by one fifth of the members present, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be taken, and entered on the journals.

SEC. 29. Any member of either House may dissent from and protest against any act or resolve which he may think injurious to the public, or any individual, and have the reasons of his dissent entered on the journal.

SEC. 30. The General Assembly, at each biennial session, shall elect, by joint vote of the two Houses, a Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Council of State, who shall continue in office for the term of two years, and until others may be appointed in their places.

SEC. 31. In the election of all officers, whose appointment is conferred on the General Assembly by the Constitution, the vote shall be viva voce.

Article III.

Executive Department.

SECTION 1. There shall be a Governor, and Lieutenant Governor of the State, who shall be chosen by the qualified voters for the members of the House of Commons, at such times and places as members of the General Assembly are elected.

SEC. 2. No person shall be eligible as Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, unless he shall have been a citizen of the United States for twenty years; shall have attained the age of thirty years; shall have been a resident of the State for five years next before the day of election, and shall have therein a freehold in lands and tenements of the value of two thousand dollars.

SEC. 3. The Governor shall hold his office for the term of two years from the time fixed for his installation, and until another shall be elected and qualified; but he shall not be eligible more than four years in any term of six years, unless the office shall have been cast on him as Lieutenant Governor or Speaker or one of the Houses of the General Assembly.

SEC. 4. The returns of every election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government, by the returning officers, directed to the Speaker of the House of Commons, who shall open and publish them in the presence of a majority of the members of both Houses of the General Assembly. The person having the highest number of votes for Governor, shall be Governor; and the person having the highest number of votes for Lieutenant Governor, shall be Lieutenant Governor; but if two or more persons shall be equal and highest in number of votes for either office, one of them shall be chosen to fill the office by a joint vote of both Houses of the General Assembly.

SEC. 5. Contested elections for Governor or Lieutenant Governor, shall be determined by a joint vote of both Houses of the General Assembly, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 6. The Governor elect shall enter on the duties of the office, on the first day of January next after his election, having previously taken the oaths of office in presence of the members of both branches of the General Assembly, or before any Justice of the Supreme Court, who, in case the Governor elect should be prevented from attendance before the General Assembly by sickness or other unavoidable cause, is authorized to administer the same.

SEC. 7. The Lieutenant Governor shall possess the same qualifications for office, as are required of the Governor, and shall hold this office for the like term.

SEC. 8. The Governor and Lieutenant Governor, each, shall take an oath that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, he is eligible, under the Constitution and laws of the State, to the office, to which he has been elected.

SEC. 9. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Militia; and in the recess of the General Assembly, shall have power, by and with the advice of the Council of State, to embody the Militia for the public safety.

SEC. 10. The Governor shall have power to draw for and apply such sums of money as shall be voted by the General Assembly for the contingencies of government, and be accountable to them for the same; he shall have the power of granting pardons, and reprieves, except when the prosecution shall be carried on by the General Assembly, or unless the law shall otherwise direct; in which latter case, he may, in the recess, grant a reprieve until the next sitting of the General Assembly; and may exercise all the other executive powers of government, limited and restrained as by this Constitution is mentioned, and according to the laws of the State; and shall have power, by and with the advice of the Council of State, to convene the General Assembly in extra session, at any time, when in his opinion, the exigencies of the State may require it.

SEC. 11. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the duties of the office, resignation, or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease.

SEC. 12. Whenever the Lieutenant Governor shall, for like causes, become incompetent to discharge the powers and duties of the office of Governor, they shall devolve on the Speaker of the Senate; and in case of his death, or incompetency for like causes, they shall devolve on the Speaker of the House of Commons; and for such time as there shall be no speakers in fact, the persons last acting as such shall be deemed speakers for the purpose aforesaid.

SEC. 13. In case of a vacancy in the office of Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, or any other person called to fill the office, shall be qualified before any Justice of the Supreme Court.

SEC. 14. The Lieutenant Governor, while presiding in the Senate, shall receive the same pay as the Speaker of the House of Commons, and he shall receive no other compensation, except when he is acting as Governor.

SEC. 15. There shall be a seal of the State, which shall be kept by the Governor, and used by him as occasion may require, and shall be called the great seal of the State of North Carolina, and be affixed to all grants and commissions.

SEC. 16. The Council of State shall consist of seven persons, who shall advise the Governor in the execution of his office; four members shall be a quorum; their advice and proceedings shall be entered in a Journal to be kept for that purpose only, and signed by the members present; against any part of which any member present may enter his dissent; and such Journal shall be laid before the General Assembly when called for by either House.

SEC. 17. In every case where any officer, the right of whose appointment is by the Constitution of the State, vested in the General Assembly, shall, during their recess, die, or his office by other means become vacant, the Governor shall have power, with the advice of the Council of State, to fill such vacancy, by granting a temporary commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the General Assembly.

Article IV.

Judicial Department.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the State shall be vested in one Supreme Court; in Superior Courts of law and Courts of Equity; in County Courts; and in Justices of the Peace; and in such other Courts as by the Constitution and laws may be allowed.

SEC. 2. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice, and two Associate Justices, who shall be elected to their respective offices by the joint vote of the two Houses of the General Assembly.

SEC. 3. The Superior Courts of law and Courts of Equity shall consist of one or more Judges, to be elected in like manner.

SEC. 4. The Justices of the Supreme Court, and the Judges of the Superior Courts of law and Courts of Equity, shall hold their offices during good behaviour; and, at stated times, shall receive for their services an adequate salary, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 5. There shall be two terms of the Supreme Court, to be held at the seat of Government, in every year; the commencement of the terms to be, as nearly as may be, half a year apart; and the Court at each term shall sit for the dispatch of business so long as shall be necessary.

SEC. 6. A Superior Court shall be held semi-annually at least, in every county in the State and shall sit for the dispatch of business for such time as may be directed by law, but for not less than six days, unless its business shall be sooner disposed of. The General Assembly may, however, direct more than two terms of the Superior Courts to be held in the year; in which case the Assembly may, if deemed advisable, increase the number of terms of the Supreme Court.

SEC. 7. County Courts shall be held quarterly at least, in each year, in the several counties, by the Justices of the Peace therein, of whom not less than three shall be a quorum, and the sessions of the Court shall continue at least six days, unless the business be sooner disposed of.

SEC. 8. The General Assembly, in its discretion, may establish Courts for incorporated cities, and towns, with such jurisdiction in civil causes as may be prescribed.

SEC. 9. The General Assembly may also establish police courts for such cities and towns, with power to try and punish petty misdemeanors committed within the limits of such cities and towns, and in violation of their by-laws.

SEC. 10. The General Assembly, at its first session after the office of Attorney General shall become vacant, and from time to time thereafter, shall oppoint an Attorney General, who shall be commissioned by the Governor, and shall hold his office for the term of four years; but if the General Assembly should hereafter extend the term during which Solicitors of the State shall hold their offices; then they shall have power to extend the term of office of the Attorney General to the same period.

SEC. 11. Justices of the Peace shall be elected by the qualified members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their office for six years. The number shall not exceed two for every thousand of the population according to the census next preceding the election, but the General Assembly may allow three additional Justices for each county-seat, and incorporated town; Provided, said incorporated town, being other than that in which county-seat is located, shall contain three hundred inhabitants. The General Assembly shall provide for districting the several counties, and the Justices shall reside in their respective districts; and there shall be a separate election for each district. The next General Assembly shall enact the necessary laws to carry into effect the provisions of this section; and, at the first County Court after the election, the term of office of the present Justices shall expire. The General Assembly may provide for the election of Justices to fill vacancies.

SEC. 12. There shall be a Sheriff, coroner or coroners, and constables in each county within the State.

Article V.

Disqualifications for Office.

SECTION 1. No person who shall deny the being of Almighty God, the divine authority of both the old and new Testaments, or who shall hold religious opinions incompatible with the freedom of safety of the State, shall be capable of holding any office or place of trust or profit in any civil department of the State.

SEC. 2. No member of the Senate, or of the House of Commons shall be eligible to any office within the gift of the General Assembly, during the term for which he may be elected.

SEC. 3. No person who may have been Public Treasurer, or any other receiver of the public moneys, shall be eligible to any office or place of trust or profit, until he shall have fully accounted with the proper authorities for all moneys which may have come to his hands.

SEC. 4. No clergyman, or preacher of the gospel, of any denomination shall be capable of being a member of either the Senate, House of Commons, or Council of State, while he continues in the exercise of the pastoral function.

SEC. 5. No person who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit under the United States, or under this State, or any other State or government or under any department of the United States, or of this State, or of any other State, shall hold or exercise any other office or place of trust or profit, under the authority of this State, or be eligible to a seat in either House of the General Assembly: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall extend to officers in the militia or Justices of the Peace.

SEC. 6. Any Justice of the Supreme Court, or Judge of the Superior Courts, may be removed from office for mental or physical inability, upon a concurrent resolution of two thirds of both branches of the General Assembly. The Justice or Judge, against whom the General Assembly may be about to proceed, shall receive notice thereof, accompanied by a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least twenty days before the day on which either branch of the General Assembly shall act thereon.

SEC. 7. Upon the conviction of any Justice of the Peace of any infamous crime, or of corruption and mal-practice in office, the commission of such Justice shall be thereby vacated, and he shall be forever disqualified from holding such appointment.

SEC. 8. No person shall be deemed qualified to vote in any election, or appointment to any office, or place established the Constitution, or by the General Assembly, or deemed eligible to such office or place, who shall have been adjudged guilty of felony, or of any infamous crime, unless such person shall have fully pardoned or restored to credit in a mode prescribed by law; and every person adjudged guilty of manslaughter and discharged be deemed to be pardoned.

SEC. 9. Every person who may hold an office or place of trust or profit under the State, or any department thereof, and every person allowed to vote for such person shall be a white person, and a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 10. The term white person, as used in this Constitution, shall include all who have less than one-sixteenth of Negro blood.

Impeachment.

SEC. 1. The Governor, Justices of the Supreme Court, and Judges of the Superior Courts, and all other officers of the State (except Justices of the Peace and Militia officers,) may be impeached for wilfully violating any Article of the Constitution, mal-administration, or corruption.

SEC. 2. Judgment, in case of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit, under this State; but the party convicted, may, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

SEC. 3. The House of Commons shall have the sole power of impeachment: The Senate shall have the sole power to try impeachment, unless two-thirds of the Senators present shall concur in such conviction; and before the trial of any impeachment, the members of the Senate shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try and determine the charge in question according to evidence.

Article VII.

Miscellaneous.

SECTION 1. All commissions shall run in the name of the State of North Carolina, and bear test and be signed by the Governor. All writs shall run in the same manner, and bear test and be signed by the clerks of the respective courts. Indictments shall conclude against the peace and dignity of the State.

SEC. 2. A school or schools shall be established by the General Assembly, for the convenient instruction of youth, with such salaries to the master, paid by the public, as may enable them to instruct at low prices; and all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more Universities.

SEC. 3. No foreigner shall be deemed a citizen of the State until he shall have been duly naturalized.

SEC. 4. The person of a debtor, where there is not a strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison after delivering up, bona fide, all his estate, real and personal, for the use of his creditors, in such manner as shall be regulated by law. All prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offences, when the proof is evident, or presumption great.

SEC. 5. There shall be no establishment of any one religious church or denomination in this State in preference to any other; neither shall any person, on any pretence whatsoever, be compelled to attend any place of worship, contrary to his own faith or judgment; nor be obliged to pay for the purchase of any glebe, or the building of any house of worship, or for the maintenance of any minister or ministry, contrary to what he believes to be right, or has voluntarily and personall engaged to perform; but all persons shall be at liberty to exercise their own mode of worship: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to exempt preachers of treasonable or seditious discourses from legal trial and punishment.

SEC. 6. Private property shall not be taken for public use, without just compensation, paid in due time.

SEC. 7. Treason against the State, shall consist only in levying war against the State, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SEC. 8. Capitation tax shall be equal throughout the State upon all individuals subject to the same: Provided, That exemptions of taxable polls as heretofore prescribed by law, may be allowed in cases of bodily or mental infirmity.

SEC. 9. Every person chosen or appointed to any office or place of trust or profit in the State, besides any oath prescribed for a faithful discharge of its duties, shall before entering on such duties, take an oath or affirmation to support, maintain and defend the Constitution of the State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United Sates.

SEC. 10. Wherever in this Constitution there is a property qualification mentioned, its value shall be determined in specie, and be regulated by the assessment of State taxation next preceding the election.

SEC. 11. The General Assembly shall provide by law, for the exemption from sale under execution or other process, for debts contracted after the first day of January, One thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, a homestead in land, in favor of every head of a family, who may be the owner thereof, except for taxes.

Article VIII.

Conventions.

No Convention of the people shall be called otherwise than by the General Assembly, and then only by the concurrence of two thirds of all the members of each House of the General Assembly. No part of the Constitution of the State shall be amended, unless by a Convention, the delegates whereof shall consist of the same number as the members of the House of Commons and be chosen by the qualified voters for members of such House.

Ratified in Convention this twenty-fifth day of June, Anno Domini, One thousand, eight hundred and Sixty-six.—

EDWIN G. READ Prest.

JAMES H. MOORE Secretary of the Convention.

R. C. BADGER Assistant Secretary.

(This constitution was rejected by the people on November 2, 1866 by a vote of 21,770, to 19,880.)

THE CONSTITUTION

Preamble

We the people of the State of North Carolina, grateful to Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of Nations, for the preservation of the American Union, and the existence of our civil, political and religious liberties, and acknowledgeing our dependence upon Him, for the continuance of those blessings to us and our posterity, do, for the more certain security thereof, and for the better government of this State, ordain and establish this Constitution.

Article I.

Declaration of Rights.

That the great, general and essential principles of liberty and free government, may be recognized and established, and that the relations of this State to the Union and government of the United States, and those of the people of this State to the rest of the American people, may be defined and affirmed, we do declare;

SECTION 1. That we hold it to be selfevident that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, the enjoyment of the fruits of their own labor, and the pursuit of happiness.

SEC. 2. That all political power is vested in, and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.

SEC. 3. That the people of this State have the inherent, sole, and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, and of altering and abolishing their Constitution and form of government, whenever it may be necessary to their safety and happiness; but every such right should be exercised in pursurance of law, and consistently with the Constitution of the United States.

SEC. 4. That this State shall ever remain a member of the American Union, that the people thereof are part of the American nation; that there is no right on the part of this State to secede, and that all attempts from whatever source or upon whatever pretext, to dissolve said Union, or to sever said nation, ought to be resisted with the whole power of the State.

SEC. 5. That every citizen of this State owes paramount allegiance to the Constitution and Government of the United States, and that no law or ordinance of the State in contravention or subversion thereof, can have any binding force.

SEC. 6. To maintain the honor and good faith of the State untarnished, the public debt, regularly contracted before and since the rebellion, shall be regarded as inviolable and never be questioned; but the State shall never assume or pay, or authorize the collection of, any debt or obligation, express or implied, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave.

SEC. 7. No man or set of men are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community but in consideration of public services.

SEC. 8. The legislative, executive, and supreme judicial powers of the government ought to be forever separate and distinct from each other.

SEC. 9. All power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without the consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.

SEC. 10. All elections ought to be free.

SEC. 11. In all criminal prosecutions, every man has the right to be informed of the accusation against him and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and to have counsel for his defence, and not be compelled to give evidence against himself, or to pay costs, jail fees, or necessary witness fees of the defence, unless found guilty.

SEC. 12. No person shall be put to answer any criminal charge except as hereinafter allowed, but by indictment, presentment, or impeachment.

SEC. 13. No person shall be convicted of any crime but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful men in open court. The legislature may, however, provide other means of trial, for petty misdemeanors, with the right of appeal.

SEC. 14. Excessive bail should not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted.

SEC. 15. General warrants, whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places, without evidence of the act committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offence is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty and ought not to be granted.

SEC. 16. There shall be no imprisonment for debt in this State, except in cases of fraud.

SEC. 17. No person ought to be taken, imprisoned or disseized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the law of the land.

SEC. 18. Every person restrained of his liberty, is entitled to a remedy to enquire into the lawfulness thereof and to remove the same, if unlawful, and such remedy ought not to be denied or delayed.

SEC. 19. In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolable.

SEC. 20. The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty, and therefore ought never to be restrained, but every individual shall be held responsible for the abuse of the same.

SEC. 21. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended.

SEC. 22. As political rights and privileges are not dependent upon or modified by property, therefore no property qualification ought to affect the right to vote or hold office.

SEC. 23. The people of this State ought not to be taxed, or made subject to the payment of any impost or duty, without the consent of themselves, or their representatives in General Assembly freely given.

SEC. 24. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed; and, as standing armies, in time of peace, are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up, and the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

SEC. 25. The people have a right to assemble together to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the Legislature for redress of grievances.

SEC. 26. All men have a natural and unalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, and no human authority should, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience.

SEC. 27. The people have a right to the privilege of education, and it is the duty of the State to guard and maintain that right.

SEC. 28. For redress of grievances, and for amending and strengthening the laws, elections should be often held.

SEC. 29. A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles, is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

SEC. 30. No hereditary emoluments, priviliges, or honors, ought to be granted or conferred in this State.

SEC. 31. Perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free State, and ought not to be allowed.

SEC. 32. Retrospective laws, punishing acts committed before the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are oppressive, unjust and incompatible with liberty, wherefore, no ex post facto law ought to be made. No law taxing retrospectively, sales, purchases, or other acts previously done, ought to be passed.

SEC. 33. Slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than for crime whereof the parties shall have been duly convicted, shall be, and are hereby forever prohibited within this State.

SEC. 34. The limits and boundaries of the State shall be and remain as they now are.

SEC. 35. All courts shall be open, and every person for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person, or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial, or delay.

SEC. 36. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 37. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others, retained by the people; and all powers, not herein delegated, remain with the people.

Article II.

Legislative Department.

SECTION 1. The Legislative authority shall be vested in two distinct branches, both dependent on the people to wit: a Senate and House of Representatives.

SEC. 2. The Senate and House of Representatives shall meet annually on the third Monday in November and when assembled, shall be denominated the General Assembly. Neither House shall proceed upon public business, unless a majority of all the members are actually present.

SEC. 3. The Senate shall be composed of fifty Senators biennially chosen by ballot.

SEC. 4. Until the first session of the General Assembly which shall be had after the year eighteen hundred and seventy one, the Senate shall be composed of members elected from districts constituted as follows:

1st District—Perquimans, Pasquotank, Chowan, Currituck, Gates and Camden, shall elect two Senators.

41st District—Burke, Caldwell and Watauga, shall elect one Senator.

43rd District—Clay, Cherokee, Haywood, Jackson and Macon, shall elect one Senator.

SEC. 5. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the State shall be taken under the direction of the General Assembly in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy five, and at the end of every ten years thereafter; and the said Senate districts, shall be so altered by the General Assembly, at the first session after the return of every enumeration taken as aforesaid, or by order of Congress, that each Senate district shall contain, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, excluding aliens and Indians not taxed, and shall remain unaltered until the return of another enumeration, and shall at all times consist of contiguous territory; and no county shall be divided in the formation of a Senate district, unless such county shall be equitably entitled to two or more Senators.

SEC. 6. The House of Representatives shall be composed of one hundred and twenty Representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, to be elected by the counties respectively, according to their population, and each county shall have at least one Representative in the House of Representatives, although it may not contain the requisite ratio of representation.

This apportionment shall be made by the General Assembly at the respective times and periods when the districts for the Senate are hereinbefore directed to be laid off.

SEC. 7. In making the apportionment in the House of Representatives, the ratio of representation should be ascertained by dividing the amount of the population of the State, exclusive of that comprehended within those counties which do not severally contain the one hundred and twentieth part of the population of the State, by the number of Representatives, less the number assigned to such counties; and in ascertaining the number of the population of the State, aliens and Indians not taxed, shall not be included. To each county containing the said ratio and not twice the said ratio, there shall be assigned one representative; to each county containing twice but not three times the said ratio, there shall be assigned two representatives, and so on progressively, and then the remaining representatives shall be assigned severally to the counties having the largest fractions.

SEC. 8. Until the General Assembly shall have made the apportionment as hereinbefore provided, the House of Representatives shall be composed of members elected from the counties in the following manner, to wit; The county of Wake shall elect four members; the counties of Craven, Granville, Halifax and New Hanover shall elect three members each; the counties of Caswell, Chatham, Cumberland, Davidson, Duplin, Edgecombe, Franklin, Guilford, Iredell, Johnston, Mecklenburg, Northampton, Orange, Pitt, Randolph, Robeson, Rockingham, Rowan, Warren and Wayne shall elect two members each; the counties of Alamance, Alexander, Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, Beaufort, Bertie, Bladen, Brunswick, Buncombe, Burke, Cabarrus, Caldwell, Camden Carteret, Catawba, Cherokee, Chowan, Clay, Cleveland, Columbus, Currituck, Davie, Forsythe, Gaston, Gates, Greene, Harnett, Henderson, Haywood, Hertford, Hyde, Jackson, Jones, Lenoir, Lincoln, Macon, Madison, Martin, McDowell, Mitchell, Montgomery, Moore, Nash, Onslow, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Person, Polk, Richmond, Rutherford, Sampson, Stanly, Stokes, Surry, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Union, Washington, Watauga, Wilkes, Wilson, Yadkin and Yancy shall elect one member each.

SEC. 9. Each member of the Senate shall be not less than twenty-five years of age, shall have resided in the State as a citizen two years, and shall have usually resided in the district for which he is chosen, one year immediately preceding his election.

SEC. 10. Each member of the House of Representatives shall be a qualified elector of the State, and shall have resided in the county for which he is chosen, for one year immediately preceding his election.

SEC. 11. In the election of all officers, whose appointment shall be conferred upon the General Assembly by the Constitution, the vote shall be viva voce.

SEC. 12. The General Assembly shall have power to pass general laws regulating divorce and alimony, but shall not have power to grant a divorce or secure Alimony in any individual case.

SEC. 13. The General Assembly shall not have power to pass any private law to alter the name of any person, or to legitimate any person not born in lawful wedlock, or to restore the rights of citizenship any person convicted of an infamous crime, but shall have power to pass general laws regulating the same.

SEC. 14. The General Assembly shall not pass any private law, unless it shall be made to appear, that thirty day's notice of application to pass such law shall have been given, under such direction, and in such manner as shall be provided by law.

SEC. 15. If vacancies shall occur in the General Assembly by death, resignation or otherwise, writs of election shall be issued by the Governor under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. No law shall be passed to raise money on the credit of the State, or to pledge the faith of the State directly or indirectly for the payment of any debt, or to impose any tax upon the people of the State, or to allow the counties, cities or towns to do so, unless the bill for the purpose shall have been read three several times in each House of the General Assembly, and passed three several readings, which readings shall have been on three different days, and agreed to by each House respectively, and unless the yeas and nays on the second and third readings of the bill shall have been entered on the Journal.

SEC. 17. The General Assembly shall regulate entails in such manner as to prevent perpetuities.

SEC. 18. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, which shall be printed and made public immediately after the adjurnment of the General Assembly.

SEC. 19. Any member of either House may dissent from, and protest against, any act or resolve, which he may think injurious to the public, or any individual, and have the reasons of his dissent entered on the Journal.

SEC. 20. The House of Representatives shall choose their own Speaker and other officers.

SEC. 21. The Lieutenant-Governor shall preside in the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless it may be equally divided.

SEC. 22. The Senate shall choose its other officers and also; a Speaker (pro tempore) in the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor, or when he shall exercise the office of Governor.

SEC. 23. The style of the acts shall be, "The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:".

SEC. 24. Each House shall be judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members, shall sit upon its own adjournment from day to day, prepare bills to be passed into laws, and the two Houses, may also jointly adjourn to any future day, or other place.

SEC. 25. All bills and resolutions of a legislative nature, shall be read three times in each House, before they pass into laws; and shall be signed by the presiding officers of both Houses.

SEC. 26. Each member of the General Assembly, before taking his seat, shall take an oath or affirmation that he will support the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of North Carolina, and will faithfully discharge his duty as a member of the Senate or House of Representatives.

SEC. 27. The terms of office for Senators and members of the House of Representatives shall commence at the time of their election; and the term of office of those elected at the first election held under this Constitution shall terminate at the same time as if they had been elected, at the first ensuing regular election.

SEC. 28. Upon motion made and seconded in either House, by one fifth of the members present, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be taken and entered upon the journals.

SEC. 29. But the General Assesmbly may change the time of holding the elections. The first election shall be held when the vote shall be taken on the ratification of this Constitution by the voters of the State, and the General Assembly then elected, shall meet on the fifteenth day after the approval thereof by the Congress of the United States, if it fall not on Sunday, but if it shall so fall, then on the next day thereafter, and the members then elected shall hold their seats until their successors are elected at a regular election.

Article III.

Executive Department.

SECTION 1. The Executive Department shall consist of a Governor (in whom shall be vested the Supreme executive power of the State) a Lieutenant Governor, a Secretary of State, an Auditor, a Treasurer, a Superintendent of Public Works, a Superintendent of Public Instruction, and an Attorney General, who shall be elected for a term of four years, by the qualified electors of the State, at the same time and places, and in the same manner as members of the General Assembly are elected. Their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next, after their election, and continue until their successors are elected and qualified: Provided, That the officers first elected shall assume the duties of their office ten days after the approval of this Constitution by the Congress of the United States, and shall hold their offices four years from and after the first of January, 1869.

SEC. 2. No person shall be eligible as Governor or Lieutenant Governor, unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, shall have been a citizen of the United States five years, and shall have been a resident of this State for two years next before the election; nor shall the person elected to either of these two offices be eligible to the same office more than four years in any term of eight years unless the office shall have been cast upon him as Lieutenant Governor or President of the Senate.

SEC. 3. The return of every election for officers of the Executive Department shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of Government by the returning officers, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall open and publish the same in the presence of a majority of the members of both Houses of the General Assembly. The persons having the highest number of votes respectively, shall be declared duly elected; but if two or more be equal and highest in votes for the same office, then one of them shall be chosen by joint ballot, of both Houses of the General Assembly. Contested elections shall be determined by a joint vote of both Houses of the General Assembly, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 4. The Governor, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall, in the presence of the members of both branches of the General Assembly, or before any Justice of the Supreme Court, take an oath or affirmation, that he will support the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of North Carolina, and that he will faithfully perform the duties appertaining to the office of Governor to which he has been elected.

SEC. 5. The Governor shall reside at the seat of government of this State, and he shall, from time to time, give the General Assembly information of the affairs of the State, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient.

SEC. 6. The Governor shall have power to grant reprieves commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offences, (except in cases of impeachment) upon such conditions as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. He shall annually communicate to the General Assembly each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted; stating the name of each convict, the crime for which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, the date of commutation, pardon, or reprieve, and the reasons therefore.

SEC. 7. The officers of the Executive Department and of the Public Institutions of the State, shall at least five days previous to each regular session of the General Assembly, severally report to the Governor, who shall transmit such reports, with his message, to the General Assembly; and the Governor may, at any time, require information in writing from the officers in the Executive Department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 8. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Militia of the State, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

SEC. 9. The Governor shall have power, on extraordinary occasions, by and with the advice of the Council of State, to convene the General Assembly in extra session by his proclamation, stating therein the purpose or purposes for which they are thus convened.

SEC. 10. The Governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of a majority of the Senators elect, appoint, all officers whose offices are established by this Constitution, or which shall be created by law, and whose appointments are not otherwise provided for, and no such officer shall be appointed or elected by the General Assembly.

SEC. 11. The Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless the Senate be equally divided. He shall, whilst acting as President of the Senate, receive for his services the same pay which shall for the same period, be allowed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and he shall receive no other compensation except when he is acting as Governor.

SEC. 12. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, his failure to qualify, his absence from the State, his inability to discharge the duties of his office, or in case the office of Governor shall in any wise become vacant, the powers, duties and emoluments of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor until the disabilities shall cease, or a new Governor shall be elected and qualified.

In every case in which the Lieutenant Governor shall be unable to preside over the Senate, the Senators shall elect one of their own number President of their body; and the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office of the office of Governor shall devolve upon him whenever the Lieutenant Governor shall, for any reason, be prevented from discharging the duties of such office as above provided, and he shall continue as acting Governor until the disabilities be removed or a new Governor or Lieutenant Governor shall be elected and qualified.

Whenever, during the recess of the General Assembly, it shall become necessary for a President of the Senate to administer the government, the Secretary of State shall convene the Senate, that they may elect such President.

SEC. 13. The respective duties of the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Works, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Attorney General shall be prescribed by law. If the office of any of said officers shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty fo the Governor to appoint another until the disability be removed or his successor be elected and qualified.

Every such vacancy shall be filled by election, at the first general election that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy has taken place and the person chosen, shall hold the office for the remainder of the unexpired term fixed in the first section of this Article.

SEC. 14. The Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Works, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, shall constitute ex officio, the Council of State, who shall advise the Governor in the execution of his office, and three of whom shall constitute a quorum; their advice and proceedings in this capacity shall be entered in a Journal, to be kept for this purpose exclusively, and signed by the members present, from any part of which any member may enter his dissent; and such journal shall be placed before the General Assembly when called for by either House.

The Attorney General shall be, ex officio, the legal adviser of the Executive Department.

SEC. 15. The officers mentioned in this Article shall, at stated periods, receive for their services a compensation to be established by law, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the time for which they shall have been elected, and the said officers shall receive no other emolument or allowance whatever.

SEC. 16. There shall be a seal of the State, which shall be kept by the Governor, and used by him, as occasion may require, and shall be called "the Great Seal of the State of North Carolina." All grants and commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the State of North Carolina, sealed with "the Great Seal of the State," signed by the Governor and countersigned by the Secretary of State.

SEC. 17. There shall be established in the office of Secretary of State, a Bureau of Statistics, Agriculture and Immigration, under such regulations as the General Assembly may provide.

Article IV

Judicial Department.

SEC. 1. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity, and the forms of all such actions and suits shall be abolished, and there shall be in this State but one form of action, for the enforcement or protection of private rights or the redress of private wrongs which shall be denominated a civil action; and every action prosecuted by the people of the State as a party, against a person charged with a public offence, for the punishment of the same, shall be termed a criminal action. Feigned issues shall be abolished and the fact at issue tried by order of court before a jury.

SEC. 2. Three Commissioners shall be appointed by this Convention to report to the General Assembly at its first session after this Constitution shall be adopted by the people, rules of practice and procedure in accordance with the provisions of the foreign section, and the Convention shall provide for the commissioners, a reasonable compensation.

SEC. 3. The same Commissioners shall also report to the General Aassembly as soon as practible, a code of the law of North Carolina. The Governor shall have power to fill all vacancies occurring in this Commission.

SEC. 4. The Judicial power of the State shall be vested in a court for the trial of impeachments, a Supreme Court, Superior Courts, Courts of Justices of the Peace, and Special Courts.

SEC. 5. The Court for the trial of Impeachments shall be the Senate. A majority of the members shall be necessary to a quorum, and the judgment shall not extend beyond removal from, and disqualification to hold, office in this State; but the party shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

SEC. 6. The House of Representatives solely, shall have the power of impeaching. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators present. When the Governor is impeached the Chief Justice shall preside.

SEC. 7. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it or adhearing to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. No conviction of treason or attainder shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture.

SEC. 8. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices.

SEC. 9. There shall be two terms of the Supreme Court held at the seat of Government of the State in each year, commencing on the first Monday in January, and first Monday in June, and continuing as long as the public interest may require.

SEC. 10. The Supreme Court shall have jurisdiction to review, upon appeal, any decision of the courts below, upon any matter of law or legal inference; but no issue of fact shall be tried before this court: and the court shall have power to issue any remedial writs necessary, to give it a general supervision and control of the inferior courts.

SEC. 11. The Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to hear claims against the State, but its decisions shall be merely recommendatory: no process in the nature of execution, shall issue thereon; they shall be reported to the next session of the General Assembly for its action.

SEC. 12. The State shall be divided into twelve judicial districts, for each of which a Judge shall be chosen, who shall hold a Superior Court in each county in said District, at least twice in each year, to continue for two weeks, unless the business shall be sooner disposed of.

SEC. 13. Until altered by law, the following shall be the Judicial Districts:

First District. Currituck, Perquimans, Hertford, Camden, Chowan, Bertie, Pasquotank, Gates

Second District. Tyrrell, Beaufort, Edgecombe, Hyde, Martin, Washington, Pitt

Tenth District. Iredell, Caldwell, Alexander, Burke, Wilkes, McDowal

Eleventh District. Alleghany, Mitchell, Buncombe, Ashe, Yancy, Watauga, Madison

Twelfth District. Henderson, Macon, Cherokee, Transylvania, Jackson, Haywood, Clay.

SEC. 14. Every Judge of a Superior Court shall reside in his District while holding his office. The Judges may exchange districts with each other with the consent of the Governor and the Governor, for good reasons, which he shall report to the Legislature at its current or next session, may require any Judge to hold one or more specified terms of said Courts in lieu of the Judge in whose district they are.

SEC. 15. The Superior Courts shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of all civil actions, whereof exclusive original jurisdiction is not given to some other courts; and of all criminal actions, in which the punishment may exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for one month.

SEC. 16. The Superior Courts shall have appellate jurisdiction of all issues of law or fact, determined by a Probate Judge or a Justice of the Peace, where the matter in controversy exceeds twenty-five dollars, and of matters of law in all cases.

SEC. 17. The Clerks of the Superior Courts shall have jurisdiction of the probate of deeds, the granting of letters testamentary and of administration, the appointment of Guardians, the apprenticing of orphans, to audit the accounts of executors, administrators and guardians, and of such other matters as shall be prescribed by law.

All issues of fact joined before them shall be transferred to the Superior Courts for trial, and appeals shall lie to the Superior Courts from their judgements in all matters of law.

SEC. 18. In all issues of fact, joined in any court, the parties may waive the right to have the same determined by jury, in which case the finding of the Judge upon the facts, shall have the force and effect of a verdict of a jury.

SEC. 19. The General Assembly shall provide for the establishment of special courts, for the trial of misdemeanors, in cities and towns, where the same may be necessary.

SEC. 20. The Clerk of the Supreme Court shall be appointed by the court, and shall hold his office for eight years.

SEC. 21. A Clerk of the Superior Court for each county, shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, at the time and in the manner prescribed by law, for the election of members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 22. Clerks of the Superior Courts shall hold their offices for four years.

SEC. 23. The General Assembly shall prescribe and regulate the fees, salaries, and emoluments of all officers provided for in this Article; but the salaries of the Judges shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SEC. 24. The laws of North Carolina, not repugnant to this Constitution, or to the Constitution and laws of the United States, shall be in force until lawfully altered.

SEC. 25. Actions at law, and suits in equity, pending when this Constitution shall go into effect, shall be transferred to the courts having jurisdiction thereof, without prejudice by reason of the change, and all such actions and suits, commenced before, and pending at, the adoption by the General Assembly, of the rules of practice and procedure herein provided for, shall be heard and determined, according to the practice now in use, unless otherwise provided for by said rules.

SEC. 26. The Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State, as is provided for the election of members of the General Assembly. They shall hold their offices for eight years. The Judges of the Superior Courts shall be elected in like manner, and shall hold their offices for eight years; but the Judges of the Superior Courts elected at the first election under this Constitution, shall, after their election, under the superintendance of the Justices of the Supreme Court be divided by lot into two equal classes, one of which shall hold office for four years, the other for eight years.

SEC. 27. The General Assembly may provide by law that the Judges of the Superior Courts, instead of being elected by the voters of the whole State, as is herein provided for, shall be elected by the voters of their respective districts.

SEC. 28. The Superior Courts shall be, at all times, open for the transaction of all business within their jurisdcition, except the trial of issues of fact requiring a jury.

SEC. 29. A Solicitor shall be elected for each judicial district by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, who shall hold office for the term of four years, and prosecute on behalf of the State, in all criminal actions in the Superior Courts, and advise the officers of justice in his district.

SEC. 30. In each county a Sheriff and Coroner, shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their offices for two years.

In each township there shall be a Constable, elected in like manner by the voters thereof, who shall hold his office for two years. When there is no Coroner in the county, the Clerk of the Superior Court for the county may appoint one for special cases.

In case of a vacancy existing for any cause, in any of the offices created by this Section, the Commissioners for the county may appoint to such office for the unexpired term.

SEC. 31. All vacancies occurring in the offices provided for by this article of this Constitution, shall be filled by the appointment of the Governor, unless otherwise provided for, and the appointees shall hold their places until the next regular election.

SEC. 32. The officers elected at the first election held under this Constitution, shall hold their offices for the terms prescribed for them respectively, next ensuing after the next regular election for members of the General Assembly.

But their terms shall begin upon the approval of this Constitution by the Congress of the United States.

SEC. 33. The several Justices of the Peace shall have exclusive original jurisdiction under such regulations as the General Assembly shall prescribe, of all civil actions, founded on contract, wherein the sum demanded shall not exceed two hundred dollars, and wherein the title to real estate shall not be in controversy; and of all criminal matters arising within their counties, where the punishment cannot exceed a fine of fifty dollars, or imprisonment for one month.

When an issue of fact shall be joined before a Justice, on demand of either party thereto, he shall cause a jury of six men to be summoned, who shall try the same.

The party against whom judgement shall be rendered in any civil action, may appeal to the Superior Court from the same, and, if the judgement shall exceed twenty-five dollars, there may be a new trial of the whole matter in the appelate court; but if the judgement shall be for twenty five dollars or less, then the case shall be heard in the appelate court, only upon matters of law.

In all cases of a criminal nature, the party against whom judgement is given may appeal to the Superior Court, where the matter shall be heard anew. In all cases brought before a Justice, he shall make a record of the proceedeings, and file the same with the Clerk of the Superior Court for his county.

SEC. 34. When the office of Justice of the Peace shall become vacant, otherwise than by expiration of the term, and in case of a failure by the voters of any district, to elect, the Clerk of the Superior Court for the County, shall appoint to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term.

SEC. 35. In case the office of Clerk of a Superior Court for a County shall become vacant, otherwise than by the expiration of the term, and in case of a failure by the people to elect, the Judge of the Superior Court for the County shall appoint to fill the vacancy until an election can be regularly held.

Article V.

Revenue and Taxation.

SECTION 1. The General Assembly shall levy a capitation tax on every male inhabitant of the State over twenty one and under fifty years of age, which shall be equal on each, to the tax on property valued at three hundred dollars in cash. The Commissioners of the several counties may exempt from capitation tax in special cases, on account of poverty and infirmity, and the State and county capitation tax combined, shall never exceed two dollars on the head.

SEC. 2. The proceeds of the State and County capitation tax shall be applied to the purposes of education and the support of the poor, but in no one year shall more than twenty five per cent, thereof, be appropriated to the latter purpose.

SEC. 3. SEC. 4. The General Assembly may provide for the erection of Houses of Correction, where vagrants and persons guilty of misdemeanors shall be restrained and usefully employed.

SEC. 5. A House or Houses of Refuge may be established, whenever the public interest may require if, for the correction and instruction of other classes of offenders.

SEC. 6. It shall be required by competent legislation, that the structure and superintendence of penal institutions of the State, the county jails and city police prisons, secure the health and comfort of the prisoners, and that male and female prisoners be never confined in the same room or cell.

SEC. 7. Beneficent provision for the poor, the unfortunate and orphan, being one of the first duties of a civilized and christian State, the General Assembly, shall at its first session, appoint and define the duties of a Board of Public Charities, to whom shall be intrusted the Supervision of all charitable and penal State institutions, and who shall annually report to the Governor upon their condition, with suggestions for their improvement.

SEC. 8. There shall also, as soon as practicable, be measures devised by the State for the establishment of one or more orphan Houses, where destitute orphans may be cared for, educated and taught, some business or trade.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the Legislature, as soon as practicable, to devise means for the education of idiots and inebriates.

SEC. 10. The General Assembly shall provide that all the deaf mutes, the blind, and the insane of the State, shall be cared for at the charge of the State.

SEC. 11. It shall be steadily kept in view by the Legislature, and the Board of Public Charities that all penal and charitable institutions should be made as nearly self-supporting as is consistent with the purposes of their creation.

Article XII.

Militia.

SECTION 1. All able bodied male citizens of the State of North Carolina between the ages of twenty one and forty years who are citizens of the United States, shall be liable to duty in the Militia: Provided, That all persons who may be averse to bearing arms, from religious scruples, shall be exempt therefrom.

SEC. 2. The General Assembly shall provide for the organizing, arming, equipping and discipline of the Militia and for paying the same when called into active service.

SEC. 3. The Governor shall be Commander in Chief, and have power to call out the Militia to execute the law, suppress riots and insurrections and to repel invasion.

SEC. 4. The General Assembly shall have power to make such exemption as may be deemed necessary, and to enact laws that may be expedient for the government of the Militia.

Article XIII.

Amendments.

SECTION 1. No Convention of the people shall be called by the General Assembly unless by the concurrence of two thirds of all the members of each House of the General Assembly.

SEC. 2. No part of the constitution of this State shall be altered, unless a bill to alter the same shall have been read three times in ach house of the Genral Assembly and agreed to by three fifths of the whole number of members of each house respectively; nor shall any alteration take place until the bill, so agreed to, shall have been published, six months previous to a new election of members to the General Assembly. If after such publication the alteration proposed by the preceeding General Assembly shall be agreed to, in the first session thereafter by two thirds of the whole representation in each house of the General Asssmbly, after the same shall have been read three times on three several days, in each House, then the said Genral Assembly shall prescribe a mode by which the amendment or amendments may be submitted to the qualified voters of the House of Representatives throughout the State; and if, upon comparing the votes given in the whole State, it shall appear that a majority of the voters voting thereon have approved thereof, then, and not otherwise, the same shall become a part of the Constitution.

Article XIV.

Miscellaneous.

SECTION 1. All indictments which shall have been found, or may hereafter be found, for any crime or offence committed before this Constitution takes effect may be proceeded upon in the proper courts, but no punishment shall be inflicted which is forbidden by this Constitution.

SEC. 2. No person who shall hereafter fight a duel, or assist in the same as a second, or send, accept, or knowingly carry a challenge therefor, or agree to go out of this State to fight a duel, shall hold any office in this State.

SEC. 3. No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and an accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be annually published.

SEC. 4. The General Assembly shall provide by proper legislation for giving to mechanics and laborors an adequate lien on the subject matter of their labor.

SEC. 5. In the absence of any contrary provision, all officers in this State, whether heretofore elected, or appointed by the Governor shall hold their positions only, until other appointments are made by the Governor, or, if the offices are elective, until their successors shall have been chosen and duly qualified, according to the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 6. The seat of government in this State shall remain at the city of Raleigh.

SEC. 7. No person shall hold more than one lucrative office under the State at the same time; Provided, That officers in the Militia, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Public Charities and Commissioners appointed for special purposes, shall not be considered officers within the meaning of this section.

And the jurisdiction of said Court over "issues of fact" and "questions of fact," shall be the same exercised by it before the adoption of the Constitution of one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight, and the Court shall have the power to issue any remedial writs necessary to give it a general supervision and control over the proceedings of the inferior Courts.

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, this 11th day of October, 1875.

XV. [AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION TWELVE, ARTICLE FOUR, OF THE CONSTITUTION.]

The people of North Carolina in Convention assembled do ordain, That section twelve, article four, of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

The State shall be divided into nine judicial districts, for each of which a judge shall be chosen; and there shall be held a Superior Court in each county at least twice in each year, to continue for such time in each county as may be prescribed by law. But the General Assembly may reduce or increase the number of districts.

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, this 30th day of September, 1875.

XVI. [AN ORDINANCE CONCERNING SECTION FOURTEEN, ARTICLE FOUR, OF THE CONSTITUTION.]

Be it ordained by the people of North Carolina in Convention assembled, That section fourteen, article four, of the Constitution, shall read as follows:

That every Judge of the Superior Court shall reside in the district for which he is elected. The Judges shall preside in the Courts of the different districts successively, but no Judge shall hold the Courts in the same district oftener than once in four years, but in case of the protracted illness of the Judge assigned to preside in any district, or of any other unavoidable accident to him, by reason of which he shall become unable to preside, the Governor may require any Judge to hold one or more specified terms in said district, in lieu of the Judge assigned to hold the Courts of said district.

XVII. AN ORDINANCE TO ABROGATE AND ANNUL SECTIONS FIFTEEN, SIXTEEN AND SEVENTEEN, OF ARTICLE FOUR, OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The people of North Carolina in Convention assembled do ordain, That sections fifteen, sixteen and seventeen, of article four, of the Constitution be abrogated and annulled, and the following substituted therefor:

SECTION —. The General Assembly shall have no power to deprive the Judicial Department of any power or jurisdiction which rightfully pertains to it, as a co-ordinate department of the government; but the General Assembly shall allot and distribute that portion of this power and jurisdiction, which does not pertain to the Supreme Court, among the other courts prescribed in this Constitution, or which may be established by law, in such manner as it may deem best; provide also a proper system of appeals, and regulate by law, when necessary, the methods of proceeding in the exercise of their powers, of all the Courts below the Supreme Court, so far as the same may be done without conflict with other provisions of this Constitution.

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, this 6th day of October 1875.

XVIII. AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ARTICLE FOUR OF THE CONSTITUTION, BY STRIKING OUR SECTIONS TWENTY-SIX AND TWENTY-SEVEN, AND INSERTING ANOTHER IN LIEU THEREOF.

The people of North Carolina in Convention assembled do ordain, That sections twenty-six and twenty-seven, article four of the Constitution be stricken out, and insert the following:

The Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State, as is provided for the election of members of the General Assembly. They shall hold their offices for eight years.

The Judges of the Superior Courts, elected at the first election under this amendment, shall be elected in like manner as is provided for Justices of the Supreme Court, and shall hold their offices for eight years. The General Assembly may, from time to time, provide by law that the Judges of the Superior Courts, chosen at succeeding elections, instead of being elected by the voters of the whole State, as in herein provided for, shall be elected by the voters of their respective districts.

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, this 9th day of October, 1875.

XIX. AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION THIRTY-ONE, ARTICLE FOUR, OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The people of North Carolina in Convention assembled do ordain, That section thirty-one, article four of the Constitution of this State, be stricken out and the following inserted in its stead, to wit:

All vacancies occurring in the offices provided for by this article of the Constitution shall be filled by the appointments of the Governor, unless otherwise provided for, and the appointees shall hold their places until the next regular election for members of the General Assembly, when elections shall be held to fill such offices. If any person, elected or appointed to any of said offices, shall neglect and fail to qualify, such office shall be appointed to, held and filled as provided in case of vacancies occurring therein. All incumbents of said offices shall hold until their successors are qualified.

Read three times and ratified in open Convention, this the 11th day of October, 1875.

XX. AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION THIRTY-THREE, ARTICLE FOUR, OF THE CONSTITUTION.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That article six of the constitution of North Carolina be and the same is hereby abrogated, and in lieu thereof shall be substitute the following article of said constitution.

ARTICLE VI.

Suffrage and Eligibility to Office—Qualifications of an Elector.

(SECTION 1.) Every male person born in the United States and every male person who has been naturalized, twenty-one years of age and possessing the qualifications set out in this article, shall be entitled to vote at any election by the people in the state except as herein otherwise provided.

(SEC. 2.) He shall have resided in the state of North Carolina for two years, in the county six months and in the precinct, ward or other election district in which he offers to vote four months next preceding the election: Provided, that removal from one precinct, ward or other election district to another in the same county shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, ward or other election district from which he has removed until four months after such removal. No person who has been convicted or who has confessed his guilt in open court upon indictment of any crime, the punishment of which now is or may hereafter be imprisonment in the State Prison, shall be permitted to vote unless the said person shall be first restored to citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

(SEC. 3.) Every person offering to vote shall be at the time a legally registered voter as herein prescribed and in the manner hereafter provided by law and the general assembly of North Carolina shall enact general registration laws to carry into effect the provisions of this article.

(SEC. 4.) Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the constitution in the English language, and before he shall be entitled to vote he shall have paid on or before the first day of March of the year in which he proposes to vote his poll tax as prescribed by law for the previous year. Poll taxes shall be a lien only on assessed property and no process shall issue to enforce the collection of the same except against assessed property.

(SEC. 5.) No male person who was on January one, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, or at any time prior thereto entitled to vote under the laws of any state in the United States wherein he then resided, and no lineal descendant of any such person, shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this state by reason of his failure to possess the educational qualification prescribed in section four of this article: Provided, he shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this section prior to December one, nineteen hundred and eight. The general assembly shall provide for a permanent record of all persons who register under this section on or before November first, nineteen hundred and eight: and all such persons shall be entitled to register and vote in all elections by the people in this state unless disqualified under section two of this article: Provided, such persons shall have paid their poll tax as required by law.

(SEC. 6.) All elections by the people shall be by ballot and all elections by the general assembly shall be viva voce.

(SEC. 7.) Every voter in North Carolina except as in this article disqualified shall be eligible to office, but before entering upon the duties of the office he shall take and subscribe the following oath: "I,....., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and maintain the constitution and laws of the United States and the constitution and laws of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office as ..... So help me, God."

(SEC. 8.) The following classes of persons shall be disqualified for office: First, all persons who shall deny the being of Almighty God. Second, all persons who shall have been convicted or confessed their guilt on indictment pending and whether sentenced or not or under judgment suspended, of any treason or felony or of any other crime for which the punishment may be imprisonment in the penitentiary, since becoming citizens of the United States, or of corruption and malpractice in office, unless such person shall be restored to the rights of citizenship in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. That all of the provisions of the constitution relating to suffrage, registration and elections as contained in this act amending the constitution shall go into effect on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and two, if a majority of the qualified voters of the state so declare at the next general election.

SEC. 3. This amendment shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters of the state in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as is provided in the law regulating general elections in this state and in force May first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, and at said election those persons desiring to vote for such amendment shall cast a written or printed ballot with the words "For suffrage amendment" thereon; and those with a contrary opinion shall cast a written or printed ballot with the words "Against suffrage amendment" thereon.

SEC. 4. The said election shall be held and the votes returned, compared, counted and canvassed and the result announced under the same rules and regulations as are in force for returning, comparing, counting and canvassing the votes for members of the general assembly may first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine and if a majority of the votes cast are in favor of the said amendment, it shall be the duty of the governor of the state to certify said amendment under the seal of the state to the secretary of state, who shall enroll the said amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office.

SEC. 5. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified the 21st day of February, A. D. 1899.

AN ACT SUPPLEMENTAL TO AN ACT ENTITLED "AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA," RATIFIED FEBRUARY TWENTY-FIRST, EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE, THE SAME BEING CHAPTER TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN OF THE PUBLIC LAWS OF EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE.[108]

The General Assembly of North Carolina doenact:

SECTION 1. That Chapter 218, Public Laws of 1899, entitled "An Act to Amend the Constitution of North Carolina," be amended so as to make said Act read as follows:

That Article six of the Constitution of North Carolina be and the same is hereby brogated, and in lieu thereof shall be substituted the following Article of said Constitution, as an entire and indivisible plan of suffrage.

ARTICLE VI.

Suffrage and Eligibility to Office.

(SECTION 1.) Every male person born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, twenty-one years of age, and possessing the qualifications set out in this Article, shall be entitled to vote at any election by the people in the State, except as herein otherwise provided.

(SEC. 2.) He shall have resided in the State of North Carolina for two years, in the county six months, and in the precinct, ward or other election district in which he offers to vote, four months next preceding the election: Provided, that removal from one precinct, ward or other election district, to another in the same county, shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, ward or other election district from which he has removed until four months after such removal. No person who has been convicted, or who has confessed his guilt in open court upon indictment, of any crime, the punishment of which now is, or may hereafter be, imprisonment in the State's Prison, shall be permitted to vote, unless the said person shall be permitted to vote, unless the said person shall be first restored to citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

(SEC. 3.) Every person offering to vote shall be at the time a legally registered voter as herein prescribed, and in the manner hereafter provided by law, and the General Assembly of North Carolina shall enact general registration laws to carry into effect the provisions of this Article.

(SEC. 4.) Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the Constitution in the English language; and before he shall be entitled to vote, he shall have paid on or before the first day of May, of the year in which he proposes to vote, his poll tax for the previous year, as prescribed by Article V, Section 1, of the Constitution. But no male person, who was, on January 1, 1867, or at any time prior thereto, entitled to vote under the laws of any State in the United States wherein he then resided, and no lineal descendant of any such person shall be denied the right to register and vote at any election in this State by reason of his failure to possess the educational qualifications herein prescribed: Provided, he shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this section prior to December 1, 1908.

The General Assembly shall provide for the registration of all persons entitled to vote without the educational qualifications herein prescribed, and shall, on or before November 1, 1908, provide for the making of a permanent record of such registration, and all persons so registered shall forever thereafter have the right to vote in all elections by the people in this State, unless disqualified under Section 2, of this Article: Provided, such person shall have paid his poll tax as above required.

(SEC. 5.) That this amendment to the Constitution is presented and adopted as one indivisible plan for the regulation of the suffrage, with the intent and purpose to so connect the different parts, and to make them so dependent upon each other, that the whole shall stand or fall together.

(SEC. 6.) All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and all elections by the General Assembly shall be viva voce.

SEC. 7.) Every voter in North Carolina, except as in this Article disqualified, shall be eligible to office, but before entering upon the duties of the office, he shall take and subscribe the following oath:

"I, ..., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and maintain the Constitution and laws of North Carolina, not inconsistent therewith and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office, as ..... So help me God."

(SEC. 8.) The following classes of persons shall be disqualified for office: First, all persons who shall have denied the being of Almighty God. Second all persons who shall have been convicted, or confessed their guilt on indictment pending, and whether sentenced or not, or under judgment suspended, of any treason or felony, or of any other crime, for which the punishment may be imprisonment in the penitentiary, since becoming citizens of the United States, or of corruption or mal-practice in office; unless such person shall be restored to the rights of citizenship in a manner prescribed by law.

(SEC. 9.) That this amendment to the Constitution shall go into effect on the first day of July, Nineteen Hundred and Two, if a majority of votes cast at the next general election shall be cast in favor of this suffrage amendment.

SEC. 2. This amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters of the State, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as is provided in the law regulating general elections in this State, and at said elections those persons desiring to vote for such amendment shall cast a written or printed ballot with the words: "For Suffrage Amendment" thereon; and those with a contrary opinion shall cast a written or printed ballot with the words "Against Suffrage Amendment" thereon.

SEC. 3. The votes cast at said election shall be counted, compared, returned and canvassed and the result announced and declared under the same rules and regulations, and in the same manner as the vote for Governor, and if a majority of the votes cast are in favor of the said amendment, it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State, upon being notified of the result of said election, to certify said amendment under the seal of the State, to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the said amendment, so certified, among the permanent records of his office.

SEC. 4. That this Act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times, and ratified this 13th day of June, 1900.

AMENDMENTS OF 1913

AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.[109]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That the Constitution of the State of North Carolina be and the same is hereby amended in manner and form as follows:

I. By striking out of article one, section six, the words "insurrection or rebellion against the United States," and inserting in lieu thereof the following words: "the War Between the States," and striking out the word "rebellion" in section thirteen of article seven and inserting in lieu thereof the words "War Between the States."

II. By striking out section twenty-eight of article two, and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 28. The members of the General Assembly for the term for which they have been elected shall receive as compensation for their services the sum of six dollars per day for each day of their session, for a period not exceeding sixty days; and should they remain longer in session they shall serve without compensation. They shall also be entitled to receive five cents per mile both while coming to the seat of Government and while returning home, the said distance to be computed by the nearest line or route of public travel. The compensation of the presiding officers of the two houses shall be eight dollars per day and mileage. Should an extra session of the General Assembly be called, the members and presiding officers shall receive a like rate of compensation for a period not exceeding twenty days."

III. By adding at the end of article two a new section, to wit:

"SEC. 29. The General Assembly shall not pass any local, private, or special act or resolution:

"Relating to the establishment of courts inferior to the Superior Court;

"Relating to the appointment of justices of the peace;

"Relating to health, sanitation, and abatement of nuisances;

"Changing the names of cities, towns, and townships;

"Authorizing the laying out, opening, altering, maintaining, or discontinuing highways, streets, or alleys;

"Relating to ferries or bridges;

"Relating to game or hunting;

"Relating to nonnavigable streams;

"Relating to cemeteries;

"Relating to the pay of jurors;

"Erecting new townships, or changing township lines, or establishing or changing the lines of school districts;

"Remitting fines, penalties; and forfeitures, or refunding moneys legally paid into the public treasury;

"Regulating labor, trade, mining, or manufacturing;

"Extending the time for the assessment or collection of taxes or otherwise relieving any collector of taxes from the due performance of his official duties or his sureties from liability:

"Giving effect to informal wills and deeds.

"Nor shall the General Assembly enact any such local, private, or special act by the partial repeal of a general law; but the General Assembly may at any time repeal local, private, or special laws enacted by it.

"Any local, private, or special act or resolutin passed in violation of the provisions of this section shall be void.

"The General Assembly shall have power to pass general laws regulating the matters set out in this section."

IV. By striking out the words "first day of" in section one of article three and inserting in lieu thereof the words "second Wednesday after the first Monday in."

V. By adding at the end of section eleven of article four the following: "and the General Assembly may by general law provide for the selection of special or emergency judges to hold the Superior Courts of any county or district, when the judge assigned thereto, by reason of sickness, disability, or other cause, is unable to attend and hold said courts, and when no other judge is available to hold the same. Such special or emergency judges shall have the power and authority of regular judges of the Superior Courts, in the courts which they are so appointed to hold; and the General Assembly shall provide for their reasonable compensation."

VI. By striking out sections twenty, twenty-six, and thirty-three of article four.

VII. By abrogating and striking out all the sections of article five and section nine of article seven, and inserting in lieu of said article five the following:

ARTICLE V.

Revenue and Taxation.

SECTION 1. Taxes shall be imposed only for public purposes, by and with the consent of the people or their representatives in the General Assembly.

SEC. 2. The General Assembly may, consistent with natural justice and equity, classify subjects of taxation; and all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of property within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax: Provided, that no income shall be taxed when the property from which the income is derived is taxed; and, consistent with natural justice and equity, the General Assembly may separate subjects of taxation for State and local purposes.

SEC. 3. If the subjects of taxation be separated for State and local purposes, in a manner not allowed by law immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment, no part of the ad valorem tax on real estate, except the real estate of public-service corporations, shall be applied to State purposes.

SEC. 4. The power to tax shall not be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away, but property belongingto the State, a county, or a municipality shall be exempt from taxation; and the General Assembly may exempt cemeteries property held and used for educational, scientific, literary, charitable, or religious purposes; and also personal property of a natural person of a value not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300).

SEC. 5. The ad valorem taxes on real estate and personal property shall not exceed for all State and county purposes sixty-six and two-thirds (66-2/3) cents per annum on the one hundred dollars ($100) assessed valuation of such property, unless a greater rate be approved by a majority of those who shall vote at an election held thereon. The ad valorem taxes collected on real estate and personal property by cities and towns shall not exceed, for all purposes, seventy-five cents (75¢) per annum on the one hundred dollars ($100) assessed valuation, unless a greater rate be approved by a majority of those who shall vote at an election held thereon: Provided, that these limitations on the rate of taxation shall not apply to taxes necessary to pay debts contracted prior to the adoption of this amendment, nor to taxes heretofore authorized by an act of the General Assembly, or by vote of the people.

SEC. 6. The General Assembly shall provide for a capitation tax on every male inhabitant of the State over twenty-one and under fifty years of age, but not exceeding two dollars ($2) per annum for all State and county purposes, and municipalities may be authorized by the General Assembly to levy a capitation tax, but not exceeding the amount hereinbefore authorized for State and county purposes. The proceeds collected from State and county capitation taxes shall be applied to the purposes of education and the support of the poor in such proportions as the General Assembly may direct. The General Assembly may also provide by general law for the exemption from payment of said capitation tax in special cases on account of poverty and infirmity.

SEC. 7. The General Assembly shall have no power to contract any new debt or pecuniary obligation in behalf of the State, except to supply a casual deficit, or for suppressing invasions or insurections, unless it shall in the same bill levy a special tax to pay interest annually, and provide therein for the levying of tax for the payment of the principal by the date such debt matures. The General Assembly shall have no power to give or lend the credit of the State in aid of any person, association or corporation, municipal or otherwise, unless the subject be submitted to a direct vote of the people of the State and be approved by a majority of those who shall vote thereon.

VIII. By striking out section one of article eight and substituting therefor the following:

"SECTION 1. No corporation shall be created nor shall its charter be extended, altered, or amended by special act, except corporations for charitable, educational, penal, or reformatory purposes that are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the State; but the General Assembly shall provide by general laws for the chartering and organizing of all corporations, and for amending, extending, and forfeiture of all charters, except those above permitted by special act.

All such general laws and special acts may be altered from time to time or repealed; and the General Assembly may at any time by special act repeal the charter of any corporation."

IX. By striking out section four of article eight, and substituting therefore the following:

"It shall be the duty of the Legislature to provide by general laws for the organization of cities, towns, and incorporated villages, and to restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessment and in contracting debts by such municipal corporations."

X. By striking out the words "four months" in section three of article nine, and inserting in lieu thereof the words "six months."

SEC. 2. That the several amendments to the Constitution hereinbefore set fourth as numbered from I to X, inclusive, respectively, shall be and are hereby submitted to the qualified voters of the whole State at the next general election as separate amendments to the Constitution, all amendments proposed under each number respectively being regarded as one amendment.

SEC. 3. That the said several proposed amendments shall be designated on one ballot by their appropriate article and section numbers, and also by their appropriate descriptive titles, and as so designated on said ballot shall be consecutively numbered in the manner and form hereinafter set forth.

SEC. 4. That the adoption of any amendment by its title by marking the said ballot as hereinafter indicated shall have the effect of adopting the amendment in full as agreed upon by this General Assembly; and the rejection of any amendment by its title, by marking the said ballot as hereinafter indicated, shall have the effect of rejecting said amendment as a whole, but shall not affect any other amendment.

SEC. 5. The said ballots shall be in form substantially as follows:

And the said ballots shall be cast in boxes specially provided by the election officers charged with this duty in general elections, and said boxes shall be conspicuously labeled, "Ballot Box for Constitutional Amendment Election."

SEC. 6. That, except as herein provided, the election upon the several amendments herein designated shall be conducted in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as provided under the laws governing general elections and in force at the time of said general election at which these amendments shall be submitted. The said election shall be held and the votes returned, compared, counted, and canvassed, and the result announced, under the same rules and regulations as are in force at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and fourteen for returning, comparing, counting, and canvassing the votes for Governor; and if the majority of the votes cast be in favor of any amendment, it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State to certify said amendment under the seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the said amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office.

SEC. 7. That at least six months prior to the said election the Secretary of State shal cause to be printed not less than five hundred thousand (500,000) copies of the amend ments to be submitted to the said election, in one pamphlet, together with a copy of th Constitution as it now stands, and a form of ballot, including number, title, description and instructions to voters as shown hereinbefore; and that at least one thousand (1,000) of said pamphlets shall be forwarded within thirty days after publication to the registe of deeds of each county in the State for distribution; and that the remainder of said pamph lets shall be distributed under the supervision of the Governor and Secretary of State.

SEC. 8. Each amendment on which the number of affirmative votes shall exceed the number of negative votes shall become a part of the Constitution; and any amendment so adopted shall take effect on the second Wednesday after the first Monday in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. Any provision of the amendments pass ed and submitted by this General Assembly and so adopted by the qualified voters in consistent with or in conflict with any provisions of the present Constitution shall be held to prevail.

SEC. 9. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are here by repealed.

SEC. 10. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this the 13th day of October, A. D. 1913.

(The ten constitutional changes were submitted to the people who voted on them on November 3, 1914 with the following results:

Amendment I: Rejected by a vote of 61,031 to 57,816,

Amendment II: Rejected by a vote of 68,149 to 50,722,

Amendment III: Rejected by a vote of 62,953 to 54,727,

Amendment IV: Rejected by a vote of 60,220 to 57,321,

Amendment V: Rejected by a vote of 62,981 to 56,255,

Amendment VI: Rejected by a vote of 26,728 to 54,414,

Amendment VII: Rejected by a vote of 68,148 to 50,520,

Amendment VIII: Rejected by a vote of 63,201 to 54,358,

I. AN ACT TO AMEND SECTIONS, ONE, SEVEN, ELEVEN, THIRTEEN, NINETEEN AND TWENTY-SIX OF ARTICLE I OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA, AND TO REWRITE SAID SECTIONS CHANGING THE WORD "MEN" TO "PERSONS" THEREIN; TO PROVIDE AGAINST EXCLUSION OF WOMEN FROM JURY SERVICE ON ACCOUNT OF SEX, AND TO AMEND SECTION ONE OF ARTICLE VI THEREOF BY REWRITING THE SAME OMITTING THE WORD "MALE," LIMITING THE RIGHT TO VOTE IN THIS STATE.[141]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. That Sections one, seven, eleven, thirteen, nineteen and twenty-six of Article I of the Constitution of North Carolina be rewritten so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The equality and rights of persons. That we hold it to be self-evident that all persons are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, the enjoyment of the fruits of their own labor, and the pursuit of happiness.

SEC. 7. Exclusive emoluments, et cetera. No person or set of persons are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community but in consideration of public services.

SEC. 11. In criminal prosecutions. In all criminal prosecutions, every person charged with crime has the right to be informed of the accusation and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and to have counsel for defense, and not be compelled to give self-incriminating evidence, or to pay costs jail fees, or necessary witness fees of the defense, unless found guilty.

SEC. 13. Right of jury. No person shall be convicted of any crime but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful persons in open court. The Legislature may, however, provide other means of trial, for petty misdemeanors, with the right of appeal.

SEC. 19. Controversies at law respecting property. In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolabe. No person shall be excluded from jury service on account of sex.

SEC. 26. Religious liberty. All persons have a natural and inalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, and no human authority should, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience.

SEC. 2. That Section one of Article VI of the Constitution of North Carolina be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Who may vote. Every person born in the United States, and every person who has been naturalized, twenty-one years of age, and possessing the qualifications set out in this article, shall be entitled to vote at any election by the people of the State, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 3. That these amendments shall be submitted to the qualified voters in the State at the next general election in the same way and manner, and under the same rules and regulations as provided in the laws governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 4. (This section contained a description of the ballot proposal.)

SEC. 5. That the election upon these amendments shall be conducted in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as provided by the laws governing general elections; and, if a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendments, it shall be the duty of the governor of the State to certify the amendments under the seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the same amendments so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the same shall be in force and every part thereof, from and after the date of such certification.

SEC. 6. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

"§ 27. Jurisdiction of justices of the peace.—The several justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction, under such regulations as the General Assembly shall prescribe, of civil actions, founded on contract, wherein the sum demanded shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00), and wherein the title to real estate shall not be in controversy; and of all criminal matters arising within their counties where the punishment cannot exceed a fine of fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisonment for thirty days. And the General Assembly may give to the justices of the peace jurisdiction of other civil actions wherein the value of the property in controversy does not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00). When an issue of fact shall be joined before a justice, on demand of eithehr party thereto he shall cause a jury of six men to be summoned, who shall try the same. The party against whom the judgment shall be rendered in any civil action may appeal to the Superior Court from the same. In all cases of a criminal nature the party against whom the judgment is given may appeal to the Superior Court, where the matter shall be heard anew. In all cases brought before a justice, he shall make a record of the proceedings, and file the same with the Clerk of the Superior Court for his county."

SEC. 2. Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters of the State in the same way and manner and under the same rules and regulations governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (This section contained a description of the ballot proposal.)

SEC. 4. The election upon this amendment shall be conducted in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as provided by the laws governing general elections, and if a majority of the votes cast be in favor of this amendment it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State to certify the amendment under the Seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll said amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendment so certified shall be in full force and every part thereof, from and after the date of such certification.

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 30th day of May, 1957.

AMENDMENTS OF 1961

I. AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA BY REWRITING ARTICLE IV THEREOF AND MAKING APPROPRIATE AMENDMENTS OF OTHER ARTICLES SO AS TO IMPROVE THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE IN NORTH CAROLINA.[166]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Article IV thereof to read as follows:

"ARTICLE IV.
"Judicial Department.

"Section 1. Division of judicial power. The judicial power of the State shall, except as provided in Section 3 of this Article be vested in a court for the Trial of Impeachments and in a General Court of Justice. The General Assembly shall have no power to deprive the judicial department of any power or jurisdiction which rightfully pertains to it as a co-ordinate department of the government, nor shall it establish or authorize any courts other than as permitted by this Article.

"SEC. 2. General Court of Justice. The General Court of Justice shall constitute a unified judicial system for purposes of jurisdiction, operation, and administration; and shall consist of an appellate division, a Superior Court division, and a District Court division.

"SEC. 3. Judicial powers of administrative agencies. The General Assembly may vest in administrative agencies established pursuant to law such judicial powers as may be reasonably necessary as an incident to the accomplishment of the purposes for which the agencies were created. Appeals from administrative agencies shall be to the General Court of Justice.

"SEC. 4. Court for the Trial of Impeachments. The House of Representatives solely shall have the power of impeaching. The Court for the Trial of Impeachments shall be the Senate. When the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor is impeached, the Chief Justice shall preside over the Court. A majority of the members shall be necessary to a quorum, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators present. Judgment upon conviction shall not extend beyond removal from and disqualification to hold office in this State, but the party shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

"SEC. 5. Appellate Division. The appellate division of the General Court of Justice shall consist of the Supreme Court.

"SEC. 6. Supreme Court.

"(1) Membership. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and six Associate Justices, but the General Assembly may increase the number of Associate Justices to not more than eight. In the event the Chief Justice is unable, on account of absence or temporary incapacity, to perform any of the duties placed upon him, the senior Associate Justice available is authorized to discharge such duties. The General Assembly may provide for the retirement of members of the Supreme Court and for the recall of such retired members to serve on that Court in lieu of any active member thereof who is, for any cause, temporarily incapacitated.

"(2) Sessions of the Supreme Court. The sessions of the Supreme Court shall be held in the City of Raleigh unless otherwise provided by the General Assembly.

"SEC. 7. Superior Courts.

"(1) Superior Court districts. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of Superior Court judicial districts and shall provide for the election of one or more Superior Court Judges for each district. Each regular Superior Court Judge shall reside in the district for which he is elected. The General Assembly may provide by general law for the selection or appointment of special or emergency Superior Court Judges not selected for a particular judicial district.

"(2) Open at all times; sessions for trial of cases. The Superior Courts shall be open at all times for the transaction of all business except the trial of issues of fact requiring a jury. Regular trial sessions of the Superior Court shall be held at times fixed pursuant to a calendar of courts promulgated by the Supreme Court. At least two sessions for the trial of jury cases shall be held annually in each county.

"(3) Clerks. A Clerk of the Superior Court for each county shall be elected for a term of four years by the qualified voters thereof, at the time and in the manner prescribed by law for the election of members of the General Assembly. If the office of Clerk of the Superior Court becomes vacant otherwise than by the expiration of the term, or if the people fail to elect, the senior regular resident Judge of the Superior Court serving the county shall appoint to fill the vacancy until an election can be regularly held.

"SEC. 8. District Courts. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of local court districts and shall prescribe where the District Courts shall sit; but a District Court must sit in at least one place in each county. District Judges shall be elected for each district for a term of four years, in a manner provided by law. When more than one District Judge is authorized and elected for a district, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall designate one of the judges as Chief District Judge. Every District Judge shall reside in the district for which he is elected. For each county, the senior regular resident Judge of the Superior Court serving the county shall appoint for a term of two years, from nominations submitted by the Clerk of the Superior Court of the county, one or more Magistrates who shall be officers of the District Court. The number of District Judges and Magistrates shall, from time to time, be determined by the General Assembly. Vacancies in the office of District Judge shal be filled, for the unexpired term, in a manner provided by law. Vacancies in the office of Magistrate shall be filled, for the unexpired term, in the manner provided for original appointment to the office.

"SEC. 9. Assignment of Judges. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, acting in accordance with rules of the Supreme Court, shall make assignments of Judges of the Superior Court and may transfer District Judges from one district to another for temporary or specialized duty. The principle of rotating Superior Court Judges among the various districts of a division is a salutary one and shall be observed. For this purpose the General Assembly may divide the State into a number of judicial divisions. Subject to the general supervision of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, assignment of District Judges within each local court district shall be made by the Chief District Judge.

"SEC. 10. Jurisdiction of the General Court of Justice.

"(1) Supreme Court. The Supreme Court shall have jurisdiction to review upon appeal any decision of the courts below, upon any matter of law or legal inference. The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court over 'issues of fact' and 'questions of fact' shall be the same exercised by it prior to the adoption of this Article, and the Court shall have the power to issue any remedial writs necessary to give it a general supervision and control over the proceedings of the other courts. The Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to hear claims against the State, but its decisions shall be merely recommendatory; no process in the nature of execution shall isssue thereon; the decisions shall be reported to the next Session of the General Assembly for its action.

"(2) Superior Court. Except as otherwise provided by the General Assembly, the Superior Court shall have original general jurisdiction throughout the State. The Clerks of the Superior Court shall have such jurisdiction and powers as the General Assembly shall provide by general law uniformly applicable in every county of the State.

"(3) District Courts; Magistrates. The General Assembly shall, by general law uniformly applicable in every local court district of the State, prescribe the jurisdiction and powers of the District Courts and Magistrates.

"(4) Waiver. The General Assembly may by general law provide that the jurisdictional limits may be waived in civil cases.

"(5) Appeals. The General Assembly shall, by general law, provide a proper system of appeals: Provided, that appeals from Magistrates shall be heard de novo, with the right of trial by jury as defined in this constitution and the laws of this State.

"SEC. 11. Forms of action; rules of procedure.

"(1) Forms of action. There shall be in this State but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights or the redress of private wrongs, which shall be denominated a civil action and in which there shall be a right to have issues of fact tried before a jury. Every action prosecuted by the people of the State as a party against a person charged with a public offense, for the punishment of the same, shall be termed a criminal action.

"(2) Rules of procedure. The Supreme Court shall have exclusive authority to make rules of procedure and practice for the appellate division. The General Assembly shall have authority to make rules of procedure and practice for the Superior Court and District Court divisions, and the General Assembly may delegate this authority of the Supreme Court. No rule of procedure or practice shall abridge substantive rights or abrogate or limit the right of trial by jury. If the General Assembly should delegate to the Supreme court the rule-making power, the General Assembly may, nevertheless, alter, amend, or repeal any rule of procedure or practice adopted by the Supreme Court for the Superior Court or District Court divisions.

"SEC. 12. Waiver of jury trial. In all issues of fact joined in any court, the parties in any civil case may waive the right to have the same determined by a jury; in which case the finding of the judge upon the facts shall have the force and effect of a verdict by a jury.

"SEC. 13. Administration. The General Assembly shall provide for an administrative office of the courts to carry out the provisions of this Article.

"SEC. 14. Term of office and election of Justices of Supreme Court and Judges of Superior Court. Justices of the Supreme Court and regular Judges of the Superior Court shall be elected by the qualified voters and shall hold office for terms of eight years and until their successors are elected and qualified. Justices of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State. Regular Judges of the Superior Court may be elected by the qualified voters of the State or by the voters of their respective districts, as the General Assembly may provide.

"SEC. 15. Removal of judges and clerks.

"(1) Justices of Supreme Court and Judges of Superior Court. Any Justice of the Supreme Court or Judge of the Superior Court may be removed from office for mental or physical incapacity by joint resolution of two-thirds of both houses of the General Assembly. Any Justice or Judge against whom the General Assembly may be about to proceed shall receive notice thereof, accompanied by a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least twenty days before the day on which either house of the General Assembly shall act thereon. Removal from office for any other cause shall be by impeachment.

"(2) District Judges and Magistrates. The General Assembly shall provide by general law for the removal of District Judges and Magistrates for misconduct or mental or physical incapacity.

"(3) Clerks. Any Clerk of the Superior Court may be removed from office for misconduct or mental or physical incapacity by the senior regular resident Superior Court Judge serving the county. Any Clerk against whom proceedings are instituted shall receive written notice of the charges against him at least ten days before the hearing upon the charges. Clerks of District Courts shall be removed for such causes and in such manner as the General Assembly may provide by general law. Any clerk so removed from office shall be entitled to an appeal as provided by law.

"SEC. 16. Solicitors and solicitorial districts.

"(1) Solicitors. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of solicitorial districts, for each of which a Solicitor shall be chosen for a term of four years by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly. When the Attorney General determines that there is serious imbalance in the work loads of the Solicitors, or that there is other good cause, he shall recommend redistricting to the General Assembly. The Solicitor shall advise the officers of justice in his district, be responsible for the prosecution on behalf of the State of all criminal actions in the Superior Courts of his district, perform such duties related to appeals therefrom as the Attorney General may require, and perform such other duties as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"(2) Prosecution in District Court division. Criminal actions in the District Court division shall be prosecuted in such manner as the General Assembly may prescribe by general law uniformly applicable in every local court district of the State.

"SEC. 17. Vacancies. Unless otherwise provided in this Article, all vacancies occurring in the offices provided for by this Article shall be filled by appointment of the Governor, and the appointees shall hold their places until the next election for members of the General Assembly that is held more than thirty days after such vacancy occurs, when elections shall be held to fill such offices: Provided, that when the unexpired term of any of the offices named in this Article of the Constitution in which such vacancy has occurred, and in which it is herein provided that the Governor shall fill the vacancy, expires on the first day of January succeeding the next election for members of the General Assembly, the Governor shall appoint to fill that vacancy for the unexpired term of the office. If any person elected or appointed to any of said offices shall neglect and fail to qualify, such office shall be appointed to, held, and filled as provided in case of vacancies occurring therein. All incumbents of said offices shall hold until their successors are qualified.

"SEC. 18. Revenues and expenses of the judicial department. The General Assembly shall provide for the establishment of a schedule of court fees and costs which shall be uniform throughout the State within each division of the General Court of Justice. The operating expenses of the judicial department, other than compensation to process servers and other locally paid non-judicial officers, shall be paid from State funds.

"SEC. 19. Fee, salaries, and emoluments. The General Assembly shall prescribe and regulate the fees, salaries, and emoluments of all officers provided for in this Article; but the salaries of judges shall not be diminished during their continuance in office. In no case shall the compensation of any judge or magistrate be dependent upon his decision or upon the collection of costs.

"SEC. 20. Effect of uniform general law requirement. Where the General Assembly is required by the provisions of this Article to enact only general laws uniformly applicable throughout the State or in every county or local court district thereof, no special, public-local, or private law shall be enacted relating to the subject-matter of those provisions, and every amendment or repeal of any law relating to such subject-matter shall also be general and uniform in its application and effect throughout the State.

"SEC. 21. Schedule. Immediately upon the certification by the Governor to the Secretary of State of the amendments constituting this Article, the Supreme Court and the Superior Courts shall be incorporated within the General Court of Justice, as provided in this Article. All Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Superior Court shall continue to serve as such within the General Court of Justice for the remainder of their respective terms.

"The statutes and rules governing procedure and practice in the Superior Courts and inferior courts, in force at the time the amendments constituting this Article are ratified by the people, shall continue in force until superseded or repealed by rules of procedure and practice adopted pursuant to Section 11(2) of this Article.

"Upon certification of the Governor to the Secretary of State of the amendments constituting this Article, the General Assembly shall proceed, as rapidly as practicable, to provide for the creation of local court districts and the establishment of District Courts therein; District Courts shall be established to serve every county of the State by not later than January 1, 1971. As of January 1, 1971, all previously existing courts inferior to the Superior Court shall cease to exist, and cases pending in these courts shall be transferred as provided in the next succeeding paragraph of this Section. Until a District Court has been thus established to serve a county, all of the courts of that county, including the Superior Court, shall continue to be financed and the revenues of these courts shall continue to be paid as they were immediately prior to the certification of the amendments constituting this Article; and the laws and rules governing these courts and appeals from the inferior courts to the Superior Court shall continue in force and shall be deemed to comply with the provisions of this Article.

"As soon as a District Court shall have been established for a county, all of the provisions of this Article shall become fully effective with respect to the courts in that county, and all previously existing courts inferior to the Superior Court shall cease to exist. All cases pending in these inferior courts shall be transferred to the appropriate division of the General Court of Justice, and all records of these courts shall be transferred to the appropriate clerk's office pursuant to rule of the Supreme Court. Judges of these inferior courts, except mayors' courts and justice of the peace courts, shall become District Judges and shall serve as such for remainders of their respective terms.

"As soon as a District Court has been established to serve every county of the State, all of the provisions of this Article shall become fully effective throughout the State."

SEC. 2. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by renumbering Article I, Section 37, as Artile I, Section 38, and by inserting in Article I an additional Section, to be designated Section 37, which shall follow immediately after Section 36, and which shall read as follows:

"SEC. 37. Treason against the State. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it or adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. No conviction of treason or attainder shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture."

SEC. 3. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by striking from Article II, Section 29 thereof the words "relating to the establishment of courts inferior to the Superior Court; relating to the appointment of justices of the peace;" which follow immediately the word "resolution" in Section 29.

SEC. 4. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by striking out Section 5 of Article VII, and by inserting a new Section 5 to read as follows:

"SEC. 5. Sheriffs. In each county a Sheriff shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold his office for a period of four years. In case of a vacancy existing for any cause in any Sheriff's office, the governing authority of the county shall fill such vacancy by appointment for the unexpired term."

SEC. 5. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by striking out Sections 6, 9, and 10 of Article VII, and renumbering the succeeding Sections of Article VII appropriately.

SEC. 6. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting and renumbering Article VII, Section 13 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 10. Powers of General Assembly over municial corporations. The General Assembly shall have full power by statute to modify, change, or abrogate any and all of the provisions of this Article, and substitute others in their place, except Sections 5, 6, 7, and 9."

SEC. 7. The Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Article XIV, Section 7, thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 7. Dual office-holding. No person who shall hold any office or place of trust or profit under the United States or any department thereof, or under this State, or under any other state or government, shall hold or exercise any other office or place of trust or profit under the authority of this State, or be eligible to a seat in either house of the General Assembly: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall extend to officers in the militia, notaries public, commissioners of public charities, or commissioners for special purposes."

SEC. 8. The amendments set out in Sections 1 through 7 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the next general election. Voting on these amendments shall be conducted under the laws now governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 9. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 10. If a majority of the votes cast thereon be in favor of these amendments, the Governor shall certify the amendments under the Great Seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendments so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendments so certified shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of certification.

SEC. 11. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 12. This Act shall take effect immediately upon its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 2nd day of May, 1961.

II. AN ACT TO AMEND SECTION 5 OF ARTICLE II OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROVIDING AN AUTOMATIC REAPPORTIONMENT OF THE MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA.[167]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECT.ON 1. The Constitution of the State of North Carolina is amended by striking out Section 5 of Article II of said Constitution and by rewriting and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 5. Regulations in relation to apportionment of Representatives. The House of Representatives shall be composed of 120 Representatives, biennially chosen by ballot, to be elected by the counties respectively, according to their population, and each county shall have at least one Representative in the House of Representatives, although it may not contain the requisite ratio of representation. This apportionment shall be made by the Speaker of the House of Representatives at the first regular Session of the General Assembly convening after the return of every enumeration by order of Congress. The formula set out in Section 6 of this Article shall be applied by the Speaker and the new apportionment entered on the Journal of the House of Representatives on or before the 60th calendar day of the Session. When so entered, the new apportionment shall have the same force and effect as an Act of the General Assembly, and shall become effective at the next election for members of the General Assembly."

SEC. 2. Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters of the State in the same way and manner and under the same rules and regulations governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. (This section was similar to sections 8 and 10 of Amendment 1.)

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 19th day of May, 1961.

III. AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLES II, III AND XIV OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA WITH RESPECT TO SUCCESSION TO ELECTIVE STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICES, THE APPOINTMENT OF ACTING OFFICERS IN CERTAIN INSTANCES THE DETERMINATION OF THE INCAPACITY OF ELECTED STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICERS TO PERFORM THE DUTIES OF THEIR OFFICES, AND FIXING A PERMANENT SEAT OF GOVERNMENT.[168]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by rewriting Section 20 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 20. Other senatorial officers. The Senate shall elect from its membership a President Pro Tempore, who shall become President of the Senate upon the failure of the Lieutenant-Governor-elect to qualify, or upon succession by the Lieutenant-Governor to the office of Governor, or upon the death, resignation, or removal from office of the President of the Senate, and who shall serve until the expiration of his term of office as Senator.

"During the physical or mental incapacity of the President of the Senate to perform the duties of his office, or during the absence of the President of the Senate, the President Pro Tempore shall preside over the Senate. The Senate shall elect its other officers."

SEC. 2. Article III of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by rewriting Section 2 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 2. Qualifications of Governor and Lieutenant-Governor. No person shall be eligible for election to the office of Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, unless he shall have attained the age of 30 years, shall have been a citizen of the United States five years, and shall have been a resident of this State for two years next before the election; nor shall a person elected to either of these two offices be eligible for election for the next succeedeing term of the same office."

SEC. 3. Article III of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by rewriting Section 12 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 12. Succession to office of Governor. The Lieutenant-Governor-elect shall become Governor upon the failure of the Governor-elect to qualify. The Lieutenant-Governor shall become Governor upon the death, resignation, or removal from office of the Governor. The further order of succession to the office of Governor shall be prescribed by law. A successor shall serve for the remainder of the term of the Governor whom he succeeds and until a new Governor is elected and qualified.

"During the absence of the Governor from the State, or during the physical or mental incapacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office, the Lieutenant-Governor shall be Acting Governor. The further order of succession as Acting Governor shall be prescribed by law.

"The Governor may, by a written statement filed with the Secretary of State, declare that he is physically incapable of performing the duties of his office, and may thereafter in the same manner declare that he is physically capable of performing the duties of his office.

"The mental incapacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office shall be determined only by joint resolution adopted by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the General Assembly. Thereafter, the mental capacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office shall be determined only by joint resolution adopted by a vote of a majority of all the members of each house of the General Assembly. In all cases, the General Assembly shall give the Governor such notice as it may deem proper and shall allow him an opportunity to be heard before a Joint Session of the General Assembly before it takes final action. When the General Assembly is not in Session, the Council of State, a majority of its members concurring, may convene it in Extra Session for the purpose of proceeding under this paragraph.

"Removal of the Governor from office for any other cause shall be by impeachment."

SEC. 4. Article III of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by rewriting Section 13 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 13. Duties of other executive officers. The respective duties of the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Attorney General, Commissioner of Agriculture, Commissioner of Labor, and Commissioner of Insurance shall be prescribed by law. If the office of any of these officers shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint another to serve until his successor be elected and qualified. Every such vacancy shall be filled by election at the first election for members of the General Assembly that occurs more than 30 days after the vacancy has taken place, and the person chosen shall hold the office for the remainder of the unexpired term fixed in the first Section of this Article: Provided, that when a vacancy occurs in the office of any of the officers named in this Section and the term expires on the first day of January succeeding the next election for members of the General Assembly the, Governor shall appoint to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term of the office.

"Upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of any one of these officers for any of the causes stated in the preceding paragraph, the Governor may appoint an acting officer to perform the duties of the office until a person is appointed or elected pursuant to this Section to fill the vacancy and is qualified.

"During the physical or mental incapacity of any one of these officers to perform the duties of his office, as determined pursuant to the provisions of this Section, the duties of his office shall be performed by an acting officer who shall be appointed by the Governor.

"The General Assembly shall by law prescribe with respect to those officers, other than the Governor, whose offices are created by this Article, procedures for determining the physical or mental incapacity of any officer to perform the duties of his office, and for determining whether an officer who has been temporarily incapacitated has sufficiently recovered his physical or mental capacity to perform the duties of his office. Removal of those officers from office for any other cause shall be by impeachment."

SEC. 5. Article XIV of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by rewriting Section 6 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 6. Seat of Government. The permanent seat of Government in this State shall be at the City of Raleigh."

SEC. 6. The amendments set out in Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State as a single proposition at the next general election. The election shall be conducted under the laws then governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 7. (A description of the ballot proposal followed.)

SEC. 8. (This section is similar to Section 9 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 9. All laws and clauses of laws in conflct with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 10. This Act shall become effective upon its ratification.

In the General Asssembly read three times and ratified, this the 23rd day of May, 1961.

IV. AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE VI, SECTION 2, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA SO AS TO PERMIT NEW RESIDENTS NOT QUALIFIED TO VOTE ONLY BECAUSE OF INSUFFICIENT RESIDENCE TIME, TO VOTE FOR PRESIDENTIAL AND VICE-PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.[169]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article VI, Section 2, of the Constitution of the State of North Carolina is hereby amended by adding the following sentence at the end of said Section:

"The General Assembly may, however, reduce the time of residence, preceding a Presidential Election, for a person possessing all other qualifications of a voter, in which such person shall be entitled to vote for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States only. Any person eligible to vote for electors for President and Vice President of the United States by reason of a reduction in time of residence shall not thereby become eligible to hold office in this State."

SEC. 2. This amendment shal be submitted to the qualified voters of the entire State at the next general election following the ratification of this Act.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot proposal followed.)

SEC. 4. (This section was similar to Section 9 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 2nd day of June, 1961.

V. AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA SO AS TO PROVIDE FOR GREATER LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY OVER THE SALARIES OF THE STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICERS.[170]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Section 15 of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution is rewritten to read as follows:

"SEC. 15. Compensation of Executive Officers. The officers mentioned in this Article shall, at stated periods, receive for their services a compensation to be established by the General Assembly, which shall not be diminished during the time for which they shall have been elected."

SEC. 2. Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters in the State in the same way and manner and under the same rules and regulations governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. (This section was similar to Section 9 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 15th day of June, 1961.

VI. AN ACT TO AMEND SECTION 3, ARTICLE V, AND SECTION 5, ARTICLE V, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA RELATIVE TO THE POWER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO EXEMPT AND TO CLASSIFY PROPERTY FOR AD VALOREM TAX PURPOSES.[171]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. The first three sentences of Section 3 or Article V of the Constitution of North Carolina are hereby deleted and the following is inserted in lieu thereof:

"The power of taxation shall be exercised in a just and equitable manner, for public purposes only, and shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away. Only the General Assembly shall have the power to classify property and other subjects for taxation, which power shall be exercised only on a State-wide basis. No class or subject shall be taxed except by uniform rule, and every classification shall be uniformly applicable in every county, municipality, and other local taxing unit of the State. The General Assembly's power to classify shall not be delegated, except that the General Assembly may permit the governing boards of counties, cities, and towns to classify trades and professions for local license tax purposes."

SEC. 2. Section 5 of Article V of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby rewritten to read as follows:

"Property belonging to the State, counties and municipal corporations shall be exempt from taxation. The General Assembly may exempt cemeteries and property held for educational, scientific, literary, cultural, charitable, or religious purposes, and, to a value not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300.00), any personal property. The General Assembly may exempt from taxation not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) in value of property held and used as the place of residence of the owner. Every exemption shall be on a State-wide basis and shall be uniformly applicable in every county, municipality, and other local taxing unit of the State. No taxing authority other than the General Assembly may grant exemptions and the General Assembly shall not delegate the powers accorded to it by this Section."

SEC. 3. Sections 1 and 2 of this Act shall be submitted at the next general election to the qualified voters of the State in the same way and manner and under the same rules and regulations governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 4. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 5. (This section was similar to Section 9 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 6. In the event a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendment to classify property for taxation only on a State-wide basis, and the amendment thereupon shall be in full force and effect, then and in such event G. S. 105-294.1 shall thereafter read as follows: "Any agricultural product held in North Carolina by any manufacturer or processor for manufacturing or processing, which agricultural product is of such nature as customarily to require storage and processing for periods of more than one year in order to age or condition such product for manufacture, is hereby classified as a special class of property under authority of Section 3, Article V of the Constitution. Such agricultural products so classified shall be taxed uniformly as a class in each local taxing unit at sixty per cent (60%) of the rate levied for all purposes upon real estate and other tangible personal property by said taxing unit in which such agricultural product is listed for taxation."

SEC 7. In the event a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendment to classify property for taxation only on a State-wide basis, and the amendment thereupon shall be in full force and effect, then and in such event G. S. 105-294.2 shall thereafter read as follows: "Peanuts held in North Carolina in the year following the year in which such peanuts are grown are hereby classified as a special class of property under authority of Section 3, Article V of the Constitution. Such peanuts so classified shall be taxed uniformly as a class in each local taxing unit at twenty per cent (20%) of the rate levied for all purposes upon real estate and other tangible personal property by said taxing unit in which such peanuts are listed for taxation."

SEC. 7½. In the event a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendment to classify property for taxation only on a State-wide basis, and the amendment thereupon shall be in full force and effect, then and in such event there shall be a new Section added to Chaper 105 of the General Statutes, to be numbered 105-294.3, and to read as follows: "Cotton in bales held for manufacture or processing in North Carolina is hereby classified as a special class of property under authority of Section 3, Article V of the Constitution. Such cotton so classified shall be taxed uniformly as a class in each local taxing unit at fifty per cent (50%) of the rate levied for all purposes upon real estate and other tangible personal property by said taxing unit in which such cotton is listed for taxation. This classification shall not be held to repeal any other classification or exemption granted to cotton under any existing law of State-wide application."

SEC. 8. In the event a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendment to classify property for taxation on a State-wide basis, and the amendment thereupon shall be in full force and effect, then and in such event subdivisions (10), (14), and (17) of G. S. 105-297 shall be repealed, and G. S. 105-281 shall be amended by adding thereto a new paragraph to read as follows: "Cotton, tobacco, other farm products, goods, wares, and merchandise which are held or stored for shipment to any foreign country, or held or stored at a seaport terminal awaiting further shipment after being imported from a foreign country through any seaport terminal in North Carolina, except any such products, goods, wares, and merchandise which have been so stored for more than twelve months on the date as of which property is assessed for taxation, are hereby designated a special class of personal property and shall not be assessed for taxation. It is hereby declared to be the policy of this State to use its system of property taxation in such manner, through the classification of the aforementioned property, as to encourage the development of the ports of North Carolina. For purposes of this Section and of this Subchapter, the term 'property, real and personal,' as used in the first paragraph of this Section, shall not include the property hereinabove in this paragraph so specially classified."

SEC. 8½. In the event a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the amendment to classify property for taxation only on a State-wide basis, and the amendment thereupon shall be in full force and effect, then and in such event there shall be a new subdivision added to G. S. 105-297 to read as follows: "Wheat grown in North Carolina and stored in an unmanufactured state, owned or held by one other than a processor of wheat, upon which there is money borrowed and said money borrowed being secured by a mortgage on said wheat, shall be exempt for the year following the year in which grown."

SEC. 9. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed. Provided, however, that this Section shall not have the effect of repealing any statute now in effect relating to classifications or exemptions which have State-wide applicability.

SEC. 10. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified this the 22nd day of June, 1961.

AMENDMENTS OF 1963

I. AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE X, SECTION 6 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA, WITH RESPECT TO A MARRIED WOMAN'S RIGHT TO TRANSFER HER SEPARATE PROPERTY BY DEED AND BY WILL AND TO EXERCISE POWERS OF ATTORNEY CONFERRED UPON HER BY HER HUSBAND.[172]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article X, Section 6 of the Constitution of North Carolina, as it relates to the right of a married woman to transfer her separate property by deed and by will and to exercise powers of attorney conferred upon her by her husband, is hereby amended by striking the last sixteen words of the first sentence thereof together with the comma preceding them, which words read as follows: ", and, with the written assent of her husband, conveyed by her as if she were unmarried," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and conveyed by her subject to such regulations and limitations as the General Assembly may prescribe"; and by striking the words "by her or" from the second sentence thereof; so that the said Article X, Section 6 as amended, shall read: "The real and personal property of any female in this State acquired before marriage, and all property, real and personal, to which she may, after marriage, become in any manner entitled, shall be and remain the sole and separate estate and property of such female, and shall not be liable for any debts, obligations or engagements of her husband, and may be devised and bequeathed and conveyed by her subject to such regulations and limitations as the General Assembly may prescribe. Every married woman may exercise powers of attorney conferred upon her by her husband, including the power to execute and acknowledge deeds to property owned by herself and her husband or by her husband."

SEC. 2. The amendments set out in Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election. Voting on the amendments shall be conducted under the laws governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. If a majority of the votes cast thereon in such general election be in favor of the amendments, the Governor shall certify the amendments under the Great Seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendments so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendments so certified shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of certification.

SEC. 4.1. From and after the date of certification of the amendments set out in Section 1 of this Act, wherever the word "spouse" appears in the General Statutes with reference to testate or intestate successions, it shall apply alike to both husband and wife.

SEC. 4½. In the event that a majority of the voters in such general election be in favor of the amendments hereinbefore provided for, North Carolina G. S. 52-4 shall be repealed and said repeal shall be effective on the date the Governor certifies the amendments to the Secretary of State.

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 26th day of June, 1963.

(Ratified by the people on January 14, 1964 by a vote of 274,291 to 66,676.)

II. AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA SO AS TO INCREASE THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE SENATE AND TO PROVIDE FOR COMPULSORY REDISTRICTING OF THE SENATE AFTER EACH FEDERAL DECENNIAL CENSUS AND TO PROVIDE FOR ONE REPRESENTATIVE FROM EACH COUNTY.[173]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 3. Number of Senators. The Senate shall consist of seventy Senators, biennially chosen by ballot.

"SEC. 4. Senatorial Districts; Apportionment of Senators; Senate Redistricting Commission. The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular Session convening after the effective date of this Section as amended, and thereafter, at the first regular Session convening after the return of every Federal decennial census, shall revise the Senatorial Districts and the apportionment of Senators subject to the following requirements:

"(1) The number of inhabitants for each Senator in the Senatorial Districts shall not very more than twenty-five per cent (25%) from the quotient obtained by dividing the total population of the State by seventy.

"(2) Each Senatorial District shall at all times consist of contiguous territory.

"(3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a Senatorial District, unless that county shall be entitled to two or more Senators.

"(4) When established, the Senatorial Districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts shall remain unaltered until the return of the next decennial census taken by order of Congress.

"(5) If the first regular Session of the General Assembly convening after the effective date of this Section as amended, and after the return of every decennial census taken by order of Congress shall fail to revise the Senatorial Districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts in accordance with the standards set forth in this Section, then within ten days after adjournment sin die of that Legislative Session, or on July 1 of that year, whichever is earlier, the Senatorial Redistricting Commission shall be convened. The Commissioners shall consist of the President of the Senate ex officio, one Senator appointed by the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, one Representative appointed by the Speaker of the House, and one Senator or Representative appointed by the Governor. The President of the Senate shall be Chairman, but shall have no vote except in case of a tie. The members of the Commission shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the Governor and Council of State. Service on the Commission shall not constitute holding office within the meaning of Article XIV, Section 7, of the Constitution. The Commssion shall revise the Senatorial Districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts in accordance with the provisions of this Section, and shall file its report with the Secretary of State within 120 days from the date on whch it was first convened. Upon the filing in the Office of the Secretary of State of the report of the Commission within the time set out in this Section, the report shall be deemed to be an Act of the General Assembly and shall govern the next and all subsequent elections for members of the Senate until the next revision of the Senatoral Districts and the apportionment of Senators is made in accordance with this Section.

"SEC. 5. Number of Representatives. The House of Representatives shall consist of one Representative from each county in the State, biennially chosen by ballot.

"SEC. 6. Schedule. The new and amended provisions of Sections 3, 4 and 5 of this Article shall apply to the composition, nomination and election of the membership of the House of Representatives and Senate of the General Assembly of 1967 and thereafter. The former provisions of Sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of Article II of this Constitution shall continue in full force and effect as to the composition, nomination and election of the membership of the House of Representatives and Senate of the General Assembly of 1965. Provided, however, the General Assembly of 1965 shall revise the Senatorial Districts and apportion the seventy Senators as requred by the provisions of the new and amended Section 4 of this Article, and if the General Assembly of 1965 shall fail to do so, the Senatorial Redistricting Commission shall be constituted, convened and shall comply with the provisions of said Section 4 of this Article."

SEC. 2. The amendment set out in Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted as a unit to the qualified voters of the State at the next general election. The election shall be conducted under the laws then governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. (This section is similar to Section 4 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 17th day of October, 1963.

AMENDMENT OF 1965

AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE IV OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA TO AUTHORIZE WITHIN THE APPELLATE DIVISION OF THE GENERAL COURT OF JUSTICE AN INTERMEDIATE COURT OF APPEALS.[174]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article IV of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended as follows:

(a) Section 5 is rewritten to read as follows:

"SEC. 5. Appellate Division. The Appellate Division of the General Court of Justice shall consist of the Supreme Court and, when established by the General Assembly, an intermediate Court of Appeals."

(b) Immediately after Section 6, and before Section 7, a new "Section 6A" is inserted, to read as follows:

"SEC. 6A. Court of Appeals. The structure, organization, and composition of the Court of Appeals, if established, shall be determined by the General Assembly. The Court shall have not less than five members, and may be authorized to sit in divisions, or other than en banc. Sessions of the Court shall be held at such times and places as the General Assembly may prescribe. The General Assembly may provide for the retirement of members of the Court of Appeals and for the recall of such retired members to serve on that Court in lieu of any active member thereof who is, for any cause, temporarily incapacitated."

(c) In Section 10, immediately after subsection (1) and before subsection (2), a new subsection "(2)" is inserted, to read as follows:

"(2) Court of Appeals. The Court of Appeals, if established, shall have such appellate jurisdiction as the General Assembly may provide.", and the present subsections (2) through (5) are renumbered "(3)" through "(6)" respectively.

(d) Section 14 is rewritten to read as follows:

"SEC. 14. Terms of Office and Election of Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and Judges of the Superior Court. Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals and Judges of the Superior Court shall be elected by the qualified voters and shall hold office for terms of eight years and until their successors are elected and qualified. Justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the Court of Appeals shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State. Regular Judges of the Superior Court may be elected by the qualified voters of the State or by the voters of their respective districts, as the General Assembly may provide."

(e) The caption and first sentence of subsection (1) of Section 15 is rewritten to read as follows:

"Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and Judges of Superior Court. Any Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge of the Court of Appeals or Judge of the Superior Court may be removed from office for mental or physical incapacity by Joint Resolution of two-thirds of both houses of the General Assembly."

SEC. 2. The amendments set out in Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at a general election to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, 1965. Voting on these amendments shall be conducted under the laws now governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. If a majority of the votes cast thereon in such general election be in favor of the amendments, the Governor shall certify the amendments under the Great Seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendments so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendments so certified shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of certification.

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 9th day of June, 1965.

AMENDMENTS OF 1967

I. AN ACT TO REWRITE ARTICLE II, SECTION 28, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA WITH RESPECT TO THE COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.[175]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewritting Section 28 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 28. Compensation of Members and Officers of the General Assembly. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive for their services a compensation to be established by the General Assembly. An increase in the compensation of members shall become effective at the beginning of the next regular Session of the General Assembly."

SEC. 2. The amendment set out in Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the next general election. That election shall be conducted under the laws then governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 4. If a majority of the votes cast thereon be in favor of the amendment set out in Section 1 of this Act, the Governor shall certify that amendment under the Great Seal of the State to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll that amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendment shall become effective upon that certification.

SEC. 5. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

SEC. 6. This Act shall become effective upon its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 10th day of May, 1967.

II. AN ACT TO REWRITE ARTICLE II, SECTIONS 4, 5, AND 6 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA, WITH RESPECT TO REPRESENTATION IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA.[176]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Section 4 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 4. Senate Districts; Apportionment of Senators. The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly shall, at the first regular Session convening after the return of every decennial enumeration taken by order of Congress, revise the Senate Districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts, subject to the following requirements:

"(1) Each Senator shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants which each Senator represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district he represents by the number of Senators apportioned to that district;

"(2) Each Senate District shall at all times consist of contiguous territory;

"(3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a Senate District;

"(4) When established, the Senate Districts and the apportionment of Senators shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial enumeration taken by order of Congress.

"The duty imposed upon the General Assembly by this Section shall continue until performed."

SEC. 2. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Section 5 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 5. Number of Representatives. The House of Representatives shall be composed of 120 Representatives, biennially chosen by ballot."

SEC. 3. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Section 6 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 6. Representative Districts; Apportionment of Representatives. The Representatives shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly shall, at the first regular Session convening after the return of every decennial enumeration taken by order of Congress, revise the Representative Districts and the apportionment of Representatives among those districts, subject to the following requirements:

"(1) Each Representative shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants which each Representative represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district he represents by the number of Representatives apportioned to that district;

"(2) Each Representative District shall at all times consist of contiguous territory;

"(3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a Representative District;

"(4) When established, the Representative Districts and the apportionment of Representatives shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial enumeration taken by order of Congress.

"The duty imposed upon the General Assembly by this Section shall continue until performed."

SEC. 4. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by rewriting Section 13 thereof to read as follows:

"SEC. 13. Vacancies. Every vacancy occurring in the membership of the General Assembly by reason of death, resignation, or other cause shall be filled in the manner prescribed by law."

SEC. 5. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by striking from Section 8 thereof the word "county" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "district".

SEC. 6. Article II of the Constitution of North Carolina is amended by striking from Section 27 thereof the words "and counties," as they appear in the first sentence of that Section.

SEC. 7. The amendments set out in Sections 1 through 6 of this Act shall be submitted as a unit to the qualified voters of the State at the next general election. That election shall be conducted under the laws then governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 8. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 9. (This section is similar to Section 4 of Amendment I.)

SEC. 10. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this Act are repealed.

SEC. 11. This Act shall become effective upon its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 31st day of May, 1967.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA OF 1971

AN ACT TO REVISE AND AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA.[178]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. The Constitution of North Carolina is revised and amended to read as follows:

"CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA
"PREAMBLE

"We the people of the State of North Carolina, grateful to Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of Nations, for the preservation of the American Union and the existence of our civil, political and religious liberties, and acknowledging our dependence upon Him for the continuance of those blessings to us and our posterity, do, for the more certain security thereof and for the better government of this State, ordain and establish this Constitution.

"ARTICLE I

"That the great, general, and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established, and that the relations of this State to the Union and government of the United States and those of the people of this State to the rest of the American people may be defined and affirmed, we do declared that:

SECTION 1. The equality and rights of persons. We hold it to be self-evident that all persons are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, the enjoyment of the fruits of their own labor, and the pursuit of happiness.

"SEC. 2. Sovereignty of the people. All political power is vested in and derived from the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.

"SEC. 3. Internal government of the State. The people of this State have the inherent, sole, and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, and of altering or abolishing their Constitution and form of government whenever it may be necessary to their safety and happiness; but every such right shall be exercised in pursuance of law and consistently with the Constitution of the United States.

"SEC. 4. Secession prohibited. This State shall ever remain a member of the American Union; the people thereof are part of the American nation; there is no right on the part of this State to secede; and all attempts, from whatever source or upon whatever pretext, to dissolve this Union or to sever this Nation, shall be resisted with the whole power of the State.

"SEC. 5. Allegiance to the United States. Every citizen of this State owes paramount allegiance to the Constitution and government of the United States, and no law or ordinance of the State in contravention or subversion thereof can have any binding force.

"SEC. 6. Separation of powers. The legislative, executive, and supreme judicial powers of the State government shall be forever separate and distinct from each other.

"SEC. 7. Suspending laws. All power of suspending laws or the execution of laws by any authority, without the consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights and shall not be exercised.

"SEC. 8. Representation and taxation. The people of this State shall not be taxed or made subject to the payment of any impost or duty without the consent of themselves or their representatives in the General Assembly, freely given.

"SEC. 9. Frequent elections. For redress of grievances and for amending and strengthening the laws, elections shall be often held.

"SEC. 10. Free elections. All elections shall be free.

"SEC. 11. Property qualifications. As political rights and privileges are not dependent upon or modified by property, no property qualification shall affect the right to vote or hold office.

"SEC. 12. Right of assembly and petition. The people have a right to assemble together to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the General Assembly for redress of grievances; but secret political societies are dangerous to the liberties of a free people and shall not be tolerated.

"SEC. 13. Religious liberty. All persons have a natural and inalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, and no human authority shall, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience.

"SEC. 14. Freedom of seech and press. Freedom of speech and of the press are two of the great bulwarks of liberty and therefore shall never be restrained, but every person shall be held responsible for their abuse.

"SEC. 15. Education. The people have a right to the privilege of education and it is the duty of the State to guard and maintain that right.

"SEC. 16. Ex post facto laws. Retrospective laws, punishing acts committed before the existence of such laws and by them only declared criminal, are oppressive, unjust, and incompatible with liberty, and therefore no ex post facto law shall be enacted. No law taxing retrospectively sales, purchases, or other acts previously done shall be enacted.

"SEC. 17. Slavery and involuntary servitude. Slavery is forever prohibited. Involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the parties have been adjudged guilty, is forever prohibited.

"SEC. 18. Courts shall be open. All courts shall be open; every person for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person, or reputation shall have remedy by due course of law; and right and justice shall be administered without favor, denial, or delay.

"SEC. 19. Law of the land; equal protection of the laws. No person shall be taken, imprisoned, or disseized of his freehold, liberties, or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the law of the land. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be subjected to discrimination by the State because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

"SEC. 20. General warrants. General warrants, whereby any officer or other person may be commanded to search suspected places without evidence of the act committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offense is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty and shall not be granted.

"SEC. 21. Inquiry into restraints on liberty. Every person restrained of his liberty is entitled to a remedy to inquire into the lawfulness thereof and to remove the restraint if unlawful, and that remedy shall not be denied or delayed. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended.

"SEC. 22. Modes of prosecution. Except in misdemeanor cases initiated in the District Court Division, no person shall be put to answer any criminal charge but by indictment, presentment, or impeachment. But any person, when represented by counsel, may, under such regulations as the General Assembly shall prescribe, waive indictment in noncapital cases.

"SEC. 23. Rights of accused. In all criminal prosecutions, every person charged with crime has the right to be informed of the accusation and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and to have counsel for defense, and not be compelled to give self-incriminating evidence, or to pay costs, jail fees, or necessary witness fees of the defense, unless found guilty.

"SEC. 24. Right of jury trial in criminal cases. No person shall be convicted of any crime but by the unanimous verdict of a jury in open court. The General Assembly may, however, provide for other means of trial for misdemeanors, with the right of appeal for trial de novo.

"SEC. 25. Right of jury trial in civil cases. In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and shall remain sacred and inviolable.

"SEC. 26. Jury service. No person shall be excluded from jury service on account of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

"SEC. 27. Bail, fines, and punishments. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted.

"SEC. 28. Imprisonment for debt. There shall be no imprisonment for debt in this State, except in cases of fraud.

"SEC. 29. Treason against the State. Treason against the State shall consist only of levying war against it or adhering to its enemies by giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. No conviction of treason or attainder shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture.

"SEC. 30. Militia and the right to bear arms. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed; and, as standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, they shall not be maintained, and the military shall be kept under strict subordination to, and governed, by the civil power. Nothing herein shall justify the practice of carrying concealed weapons, or prevent the General Assembly from enacting penal statutes against that practice.

"SEC. 31. Quartering of soldiers. No soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner prescribed by law.

"SEC. 32. Exclusive emoluments. No person or set of persons is entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community but in consideration of public services.

"SEC. 33. Hereditary emoluments and honors. No hereditary emoulments, privileges, or honors shall be granted or conferred in this State.

"SEC. 34. Perpetuities and monopolies. Perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free state and shall not be allowed.

"SEC. 35. Recurrence to fundamental principles. A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

"SEC. 36. Other rights of the people. The enumeration of rights of this Article shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people.

"ARTICLE II
"LEGISLATIVE

"SECTION 1. Legislative power. The legislative power of the State shall be vested in the General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

"SEC. 2. Number of Senators. The Senate shall be composed of 50 Senators, biennially chosen by ballot.

"SEC. 3. Senate districts; apportionment of Senators. The Senators. The Senators shall be elected from districts. The General Assembly, at the first regular session convening after the return of every decennial census of population taken by order of Congress, shall revise the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators among those districts, subject to the following requirements:

"(1) Each Senator shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Senator represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Senators apportioned to that district;

"(2) Each senate district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory;

"(3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a senate district;

"(4) When established, the senate districts and the apportionment of Senators shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress.

"SEC. 4. Number of Representatives. The House of Representatives shall be composed of 120 Representatives, biennially chosen by ballot.

"SEC. 5. Representative districts; apportionment of Representatives. The Representatives shall be elected from districts. "(1) Each Representative shall represent, as nearly as may be, an equal number of inhabitants, the number of inhabitants that each Representative represents being determined for this purpose by dividing the population of the district that he represents by the number of Representatives apportioned to that district;

"(2) Each representative district shall at all times consist of contiguous territory;

"(3) No county shall be divided in the formation of a representative district;

"(4) When established, the representative districts and the apportionment of Representatives shall remain unaltered until the return of another decennial census of population taken by order of Congress.

"SEC. 6. Qualifications for Senator. Each Senator, at the time of his election, shall be not less than 25 years of age, shall be a qualified voter of the State, and shall have resided in the State as a citizen for two years and in the district for which he is chosen for one year immediately preceding his election.

"SEC. 7. Qualifications for Representative. Each Representative, at the time of his election, shall be a qualified voter of the State, and shall have resided in the district for which he is chosen for one year immediately preceding his election.

"SEC. 8. Elections. The election for members of the General Assembly shall be held for the respective districts in 1972 and every two years thereafter, at the places and on the day prescribed by law.

"SEC. 9. Term of office. The term of office of Senators and Representatives shall commence at the time of their election.

"SEC. 10. Vacancies. Every vacancy occuring in the membership of the General Assembly by reason of death, resignation, or other cause shall be filled in the manner prescribed by law.

"SEC. 11. Regular sessions. The General Assembly shall meet in regular session in 1973 and every two years thereafter on the day prescribed by law. Neither house shall proceed upon public business unless a majority of all of its members are actually present.

"SEC. 12. Oath of members. Each member of the General Assembly, before taking his seat, shall take an oath or affirmation that he will support the Constitution and laws of the United States and the Constitution of the State of North Carolina, and will faithfully discharge his duty as a member of the Senate or House of Representatives.

"SEC. 13. President of the Senate. The Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate and shall preside over the Senate, but shall have no vote unless the Senate is equally divided.

"SEC. 14. Other officers of the Senate.

"(1) President Pro Tempore—succession to presidency. The State shall elect from its membership a President Pro Tempore, who shall become President of the Senate upon the failure of the Lieutenant Governor-elect to qualify, or upon succession by the Lieutenant Governor to the office of Governor, or upon the death, resignation, or removal from office of the President of the Senate, and who shall serve until the expiration of his term of office as Senator.

"(2) President Pro Tempore—temporary succession. During the physical or mental incapacity of the President of the Senate to perform theh duties of his office, or during the absence of the President of the Senate, the President Pro Tempore shall preside over the Senate.

"(3) Other officers. The Senate shall elect its other officers.

"SEC. 15. Officers of the House of Representatives. The House of Representatives shall elect its Speaker and other officers.

"SEC. 16. Compensation and allowances. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive for their services the compensation and allowances prescribed by law. All increase in the compensation or allowance of members shall become effective at the beginning of the next regular session of the General Assembly following the session at which it was enacted.

"SEC. 17. Journals. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, which shall be printed and made public immediately after the adjournment of the General Assembly.

"SEC. 18. Protests. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act or resolve which he may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and have the reasons of his dissent entered on the journal.

"SEC. 19. Record votes. Upon motion made in either house and seconded by one fifth of the members present, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be taken and entered upon the journal.

"SEC. 20. Powers of the General Assembly. Each house shall be judge of the qualifications and elections of its own members, shall sit upon its own adjournment from day to day, and shall prepare bills to be enacted into laws. The two houses may jointly adjourn to any future day or other place. Either house may, of its own motion, adjourn for a period not in excess of three days.

"SEC. 21. Style of the acts. The style of the acts shall be: "The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:".

"SEC. 22. Action on bills. All bills and resolutions of a legislative nature shall be read three times in each house before they become laws, and shall be signed by the presiding officers of both houses.

"SEC. 23. Revenue bills. No law shall be enacted to raise money on the credit of the State, or to pledge the faith of the State directly or indirectly for the payment of any debt, or to impose any tax upon the people of the State, or to allow the counties, cities, or towns to do so, unless the bill for the purpose shall have been read three several times in each house of the General Assembly and passed three several readings, which readings shall have been on three different days, and shall have been agreed to by each house respectively, and unless th yeas and nays on the second and third readings of the bill shall have been entered on the journal.

"(2) Repeals. Nor shall the General Assembly enact any such local, private, or special act by the partial repeal of a general law; but the General Assembly may at any time repeal local, private, or special laws enacted by it.

"(3) Prohibited acts void. Any local, private, or special act or resolution enacted in violation of the provisions of this Section shall be void.

"(4) General laws. The General Assembly may enact general laws regulating the matters set out in this Section.

"EXECUTIVE

"SECTION 1. Executive power. The executive power of the State shall be vested in the Governor.

"SEC. 2. Governor and Lieutenant Governor: election, term, and qualifications.

"(1) Election and term. The Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State in 1972 and every four years thereafter, at the same time and places as members of the General Assembly are elected. Their term of office shall be four years and shall commence on the first day fo January next after their election and continue until their successors are elected and qualified.

"(2) Qualifications. No person shall be eligible for election to the office of Governor or Lieutenant Governor unless, at the time of his election, he shall have attained the age of 30 years and shall have been a citizen of the United States for five years and a resident of this State for two years immediately preceding his election. No person elected to either of these two offices shall be eligible for election to the next succeeding term of the same office.

"SEC. 3. Succession to office of Governor.

"(1) Succession as Governor. The Lieutenant Governor-elect shall become Governor upon the failure of the Governor-elect to qualify. The Lieutenant Governor shall become Governor upon the death, resignation, or removal from office of the Governor. The further order of succession to the office of Governor shall be presicribed by law. A successor shall serve for the remainder of the term of the Governor whom he succeeds and until a new Governor is elected and qualified.

"(2) Succession as Acting Governor. During the absence of the Governor from the State, or during the physical or mental incapacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office, the Lieutenant Governor shall be Acting Governor. The further order of succession as Acting Governor shall be prescribed by law.

"(3) Physical incapacity. The Governor may, by a written statement filed with the Attorney General, declare that he is physically incapable of performing the duties of his office, and may thereafter in the same manner declare that he is physically capable of performing the duties of his office.

"(4) Mental incapacity. The mental incapacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office shall be determined only by joint resolution adopted by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the General Assembly. Thereafter, the mental capacity of the Governor to perform the duties of his office shall be determined only by joint resolution adoted by a vote of a majority of all the members of each house of the General Assembly. In all cases, the General Assembly shall give the Governor such notice as it may deem proper and shall allow him an opportunity to be heard before a joint session of the General Assembly before it takes final action. When the General Assembly is not in session, the Council of State, a majority of its members concurring, may convene it in extra session for the purpose of proceeding under this paragraph.

"(5) Impeachment. Removal of the Governor from office for any other cause shall be impeachment.

"SEC. 4. Oath of office for Governor. The Governor, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall, before any Justice of the Supreme Court, take an oath or affirmation that he will support the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the State of North Carolina, and that he will faithfully perform the duties pertaining to the office of Governor.

"SEC. 5. Duties of Governor.

"(1) Residence. The Governor shall reside at the seat of government of this State.

"(2) Information to General Assembly. The Governor shall from time to time give the General Assembly information of the affairs of the State and recommended to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient.

"(3) Budget. The Governor shall prepare and recommend to the General Assembly a comprehensive budget of the anticipated revenue and proposed expenditures of the State for the ensuing fiscal year. The budget as enacted by the General Assembly shall be administered by the Governor.

"(4) Execution of laws. The Governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

"(5) Commander in Chief. The Governor shall be Commander in Chief of the military forces of the State except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

"(6) Clemency. The Governor may grant reprieves, commutations, and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses (except in cases of impeachment), upon such conditions as he may think proper, subject to regulations prescribed by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. The terms reprieves, commutations, and pardons shall not include paroles.

"(7) Extra session. The Governor may, on extraordinary occasions, by and with the advice of the Council of State convene the General Assembly in extra session by his proclamation, stating therein the purpose orpurposes for which they are thus convened.

"(8) Appointments. The Governor shall nominate and by and with the advice and consent of a majority of the Senators appoint all officers whose appointments are not otherwise provided for.

"(9) Information. The Governor may at any time require information in writing from the head of any administrative department or agency upon any subject relating to the duties of his office.

"SEC. 6. Duties of the Lieutenant Governor. The Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless the Senate is equally divided. He shall perform such additional duties as the General Assembly or the Governor may assign to him. He shall receive the compensation and allowances prescribed by law.

"SEC. 7. Other elective officers.

"(1) Officers. A Secretary of State, an Auditor, a Treasurer, a Superintendent of Public Instruction, an Attorney General, a Commissioner of Agriculture, a Commissioner of Labor, and a Commissioner of Insurance shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State in 1972 and every four years thereafter, at the same time and places as members of the General Assembly are elected. Their term of office shall be four years and shall commence on the first day of January next after their election and continue until their successors are elected and qualified.

"(2) Duties. Their respective duties shall be prescribed by law.

"(3) Vacancies. If the office of any of these officers is vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint another to serve until his successor is elected and qualified. Every such vacancy shall be filled by election at the first election for members of the General Assembly that occurs more than 30 days after the vacancy has taken place, and the person chosen shall hold the office for the remainder of the unexpired term fixed in this Section. When a vacancy occurs in the office of any of the officers named in this Section and the term expires on the first day of January succeeding the next election for members of the General Assembly, the Governor shall appoint to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term of the office.

"(4) Interim officers. Upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of any one of these officers for any of the causes stated in the preceding paragraph, the Governor may appoint an interim officer to perform the duties of that office until a person is appointed or elected pursuant to this Section to fill the vacancy and is qualified.

"(5) Acting officers. During the physical or mental incapacity of any one of these officers to perform the duties of his office, as determined pursuant to this Section, the duties of his office shall be performed by an acting officer who shall be appointed by the Governor.

"(6) Determination of incapacity. The General Assembly shall by law prescribe with respect to those officers, other than the Governor, whose offices are created by this Article, procedures for determining the physical or mental incapacity of any officer to perform the duties of his office, and for determining whether an officer who has been temporarily incapacitated has sufficiently recovered his physical or mental capacity to perform the duties of his office. Removal of those officers from office for any other cause shall be by imeachment.

"SEC. 8. Council of State. The officers whose offices are established by this Article shall at stated periods receive the compensation and allowances prescribed by law, which shall not be diminished during the time for which they have been chosen.

"SEC. 9. Compensation and allowances. The officers whose offices are established by this Article shall at stated periods receive the compensation and allowances prescribed by law, which shall not be diminished during the time for which they have been chosen.

"SEC. 10. Seal of State. There shall be a seal of the State, which shall be kept by the Governor and used by him as occasion may require, and shall be called "The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina". All grants and commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the State of North Carolina, sealed with "The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina", and signed by the Governor.

"ARTICLE IV
"JUDICIAL

"SECTION 1. Judicial power. The judicial power of the State shall, except as provided in Section 3 of this Article, be vested in aCourt for the Trial of Impeachments and in a General Court of Justice. The General Assembly shall have no power to deprive the judicial department of any power or jurisdiction that rightfully pertains to it as a co-ordinate department of the government, nor shall it establish or authorize any courts other than as permitted by this Article.

"SEC. 2. General Court of Justice. The General Court of Justice shall constitute a unified judicial system for purposes of jurisdiction, operation, and administration, and shall consist of an Appellate Division, a Superior Court Division, and a District Court Division.

"SEC. 3. Judicial powers of administrative agencies. The General Assembly may vest in administrative agencies established pursuant to law such judicial powers as may be reasonably necessary as an incident to the accomplishment of the purposes for which the agencies were created. Appeals from administrative agencies shall be to the General Court of Justice.

"SEC. 4. Court for the Trial of Impeachments. The House of Representatives solely shall have the power of impeaching. The Court for the Trial of Impeachments shall be the Senate. When the Governor or Lieutenant Governor is impeached, the Chief Justice shall preside over the Court. A majority of the members shall be necessary to a quorum, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators present. Judgment upon conviction shall not extend beyond removal from and disqualification to hold office in this State, but the party shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

"SEC. 5. Appellate division. The Appellate Division of the General Court of Justice shall consist of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals.

"SEC. 6. Supreme Court.

"(1) Membership. The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief justice and six Associate Justices, but the General Assembly may increase the number of Associate Justices to not more than eight. In the event the Chief Justice is unable, on account of absence or temporary incapacity, to perform any of the duties placed upon him, the senior Associate Justice available may discharge those duties.

"(2) Sessions of the Supreme Court. The sessions of the Supreme Court shall be held in the City of Raleigh unless otherwise provided by the General Assembly.

"SEC. 7. Court of Appeals. The structure, organization, and composition of the Court of Appeals shall be determined by the General Assembly. The Court shall have not less than five members, and may be authorized to sit in divisions, or other than en banc. Sessions of the Court shall be held at such times and places as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"SEC. 8. Retirement of Justices and Judges. The General Assembly shall provide by general law for the retirement of Justices and Judges of the General Court of Justice, and may rovide for the temporary recall of any retired Justice or Judge to serve on the court from which he was retired.

"(1) Superior Court districts. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of Superior Court judicial districts and shall provide for the election of one or more Superior Court Judges for each district. Each regular Superior Court Judge shall reside in the district for which he is elected. The General Assembly may provide by general law for the selection or appointment of special or emergency Superior Court Judges not selected for a particular judicial district.

"(2) Open at all times; sessions for trial of cases. The Superior Courts shall be open at all times for the transaction of all business except the trial of issues of fact requiring a jury. Regular trial sessions of the Superior Court shall be held at times fixed pursuant to a calendar of courts promulgated by the Supreme Court. At least two sessions for the trial of jury cases shall be held annually in each county.

"(3) Clerks. A Clerk of the Superior Court for each county shall be elected for a term of four years by the qualified voters thereof, at the same time and places as members of the General Assembly are elected. If the office of Clerk of the Superior Court becomes vacant otherwise than by the expiration of the term, or if the people fail to elect, the senior regular resident Judge of the Superior Court serving the county shall appoint to fill the vacancy until an election can be regularly held.

"SEC. 10. District Courts. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of local court districts and shall prescribe where the District Courts shall sit, but a District Court must sit in at least one place in each county. District Judges shall be elected for each district for a term of four years, in a manner prescribed by law. When more than one District Judge is authorized and elected for a district, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall designate one of the judges as Chief District Judge. Every District Judge shall reside in the district for which he is elected. For each county, the senior regular resident Judge of the Superior Court serving the county shall appoint for a term of two years, from nominations submitted by the Clerk of the Superior Court of the county, one or more Magistrates who shall be officers of the District Court. The number of District Judges and Magistrates shall, from time to time, be determined by the General Assembly. Vacancies in the office of District Judge shall be filled for the unexpired term in a manner prescribed by law. Vacancies in the office of Magistrate shall be filled for the unexpired term in the manner provided for original appointment to the office.

"SEC. 11. Assignment of Judges. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, acting in accordance with rules of the Supreme Court, shall make assignments of Judges of the Superior Court and may transfer District Judges from one district to another for temporary or specialized duty. The principle of rotating Superior Court Judges among the various districts of a division is a salutary one and shall be observed. For this purpose the General Assembly may divide the State into a number of judicial divisions. Subject to the general supervision of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, assignment of District Judges within each local court district shall be made by the Chief District Judge.

"(1) Supreme Court. The Supreme Court shall have jurisdiction to review upon appeal any decision of the courts below, upon any matter of law or legal inference. The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court over "issues of fact" and "questions of fact" shall be the same exercised by it prior to the adoption of this Article, and the Court may issue any remedial writs necessary to give it general supervision and control over the proceedings of the other courts.

"(2) Court of Appeals. The Courts of Appeals shall have such appellate jurisdiction as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"(3) Superior Court. Except as otherwise provided by the General Assembly, the Superior Court shall have original general jurisdiction throughout the State. The Clerks of the Superior Court shall have such jurisdiction and powers as the General Assembly shall prescribe by general law uniformly applicable in every county of the State.

"(4) District Courts; Magistrates. The General Assesmbly shall, by general law uniformly applicable in every local court district of the State, prescribe the jurisdiction and powers of the District Courts and Magistrates.

"(5) Waiver. The General Assembly may by general law provide that the jurisdictional limits may be waived in civil cases.

"(6) Appeals. The General Assembly shall by general law provide a proper system of appeals. Appeals from Magistrates shall be heard de novo, with the right of trial by jury as defined in this Constitution and the laws of this State.

"SEC. 13. Forms of action; rules of procedure.

"(1) Forms of Action. There shall be in this State but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights or the redress of private wrongs, which shall be denominated a civil action, and in which there shall be a right to have issues of fact tried before a jury. Every action proescuted by the people of the State as a party against a person charged with a public offense, for the punishment thereof, shall be termed a criminal action.

"(2) Rules of procedure. The Supreme Court shall have exclusive authority to make rules of procedure and practice for the Appellate Division. The General Assembly may make rules of procedure and practice for the Superior Court and District Court Divisions, and the General Assembly may delegate this authority to the Supreme Court. No rule of procedure or practice shall abridge substantive rights or abrogate or limit the right of trial by jury. If the General Assembly should delegate to the Supreme Court the rule-making power, the General Assembly may, nevertheless, alter, amend, or repeal any rule of procedure or practice adopted by the Supreme Court for the Superior Court or District Court Divisions.

"SEC. 14. Waiver of jury trial. In all issues of fact joined in any court, the parties in any civil case may waive the right to have the issues determined by a jury, in which case the finding of the judge upon the facts shall have the force and effect of a verdict by a jury.

"SEC. 15. Administration. The General Assembly shall provide for an administrative office of the courts to carry out the provisions of this Article.

"SEC. 16. Terms of office and election of Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and Judges of the Superior Court. Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and regular Judges of the Superior Court shall be elected by the qualified voters and shall hold office for terms of eight years and until their successors are elected and qualified. Justices of the Supreme Court and Judges of the Court of Appeals shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State. Regular Judges of the Superior Court may be elected by the qualified voters of the State or by the voters of their respective districts, as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"SEC. 17. Removal of judicial officers.

"(1) Justices of Supreme Court, Judges of the Court of Appeals, and Judges of Superior Court. Any Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge of the Court of Appeals, or Judge of the Superior Court may be removed from office for mental or physical incapacity by joint resolution of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the General Assembly. Any Justice or Judge against whom the General Assembly may be about to proceed shall receive notice thereof, accompanied by a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least twenty days before the day on which either house of the General Assembly shall act thereon. Removal from office for any other cause shall be by impeachment.

"(2) District Judges and Magistrates. The General Assembly shall provide by general law for the removal of District Judges and Magistrates for misconduct or mental or physical incapacity.

"(3) Clerks. Any Clerk of the Superior Court may be removed from office for misconduct or mental or physical incapacity by the senior regular resident Superior Court Judge serving the county. Any Clerk against whom proceedings are instituted shall receive written notice of the changes against him at least ten days before the hearing upon the charges. Any Clerk so removed from office shall be entitled to an appeal as provided by law.

"SEC. 18. Solicitors and solicitorial districts.

"(1) Solicitors. The General Assembly shall, from time to time, divide the State into a convenient number of solicitorial districts, for each of which a Solicitor shall be chosen for a term of four years by the qualified voters thereof, at the same time and places as members of the General Assembly are elected. The Solicitor shall advise the officers of justice in his district, be responsible for the prosecution on behalf of the State of all criminal actions in the Superior Courts of his district, perform such duties related to appeals therefrom as the Attorney General may require, and perform such other duties as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"(2) Prosecution in District Court Division. Criminal actions in the District Court Dvision shall be prosecuted in such manner as the General Assembly may prescribe by general law uniformly applicable in every local court district of the State.

"SEC. 19. Vacancies. Unless otherwise provided in this Article, all vacancies occurring in the offices provided for by this Article shall be filled by appointment of the Governor, and the appointees shall hold their places until the next election for members of the General Assembly that is held more than 30 days after the vacancy occurs, when elections shall be held to fill the offices. When the unexpired term of any of the offices named in this Article of the Constitution in which a vacancy has occurred, and in which it is herein provided that the Governor shall fill the vacancy, expires on the first day of January succeeding the next election for members of the General Assembly, the Governor shall appoint to fill that vacancy for the unexpired term of the office. If any person elected or appointed to any of these offices shall fail to qualify, the office shall be appointed to, held, and filled as provided in case of vacancies occurring therein. All incumbents of these offices shall hold until their successors are qualified.

"SEC. 20. Revenues and expenses of the judicial department. The General Assembly shall provide for the establishment of a schedule of court fees and costs which shall be uniform throughout the State within each division of the General Court of Justice. The operating expenses of the judicial department, other than compensation to process servers and other local paid non-judicial officers, shall be paid from State funds.

"SEC. 21. Fees, salaries, and emoluments. The General Assembly shall prescribe and regulate the fees, salaries, and emoluments of all officers provided for in this Article, but the salaries of Judges shall not be diminished during their continuance in office. In no case shall the compensation of any Judge or Magistrate be dependent upon his decision or upon the collection of costs.

"ARTICLE V
"FINANCE

"SECTION 1. Capitation tax.

"(1) Capitation tax limited. The General Assembly may levy a capitation tax on every male inhabitant of the State over 21 and under 50 years of age, not in excess of two dollars, and cities and towns may levy a capitation tax on persons subject to the State tax not in excess of one dollar. No other capitation tax shall be levied. The governing boards of the several counties and of the cities and towns may exempt from the capitation tax any special cases on account of poverty or infirmity.

"(2) Proceeds. The proceeds of the State and county capitation tax shall be applied to the purposes of education and the support of the poor, but in no one fiscal year shall more than 25 per cent thereof be appropriated to the latter purpose.

"SEC. 2. State and local taxation.

"(1) Power of taxation. The power of taxation shall be exercised in a just and equitable manner, for public purposes only, and shall never be surrendered, suspended, or contracted away.

"(2) Classification. Only the General Assembly shall have the power to classify property for taxation, which power shall be exercised only on a State-wide basis. No class shall be taxed except by a uniform rule, and every classification shall be made by general law uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other local taxing unit of the State. The General Assembly's power to classify property shall not be delegated.

"(3) Exemptions. Property belonging to the State, counties, and municipal corporations shall be exempt from taxation. The General Assembly may exempt cemeteries and property held for educational, scientific, literary, cultural, charitable, or religious purposes, and, to a value not exceeding $300, any personal property. The General Assembly may exempt from taxation not exceeding $1,000 in value of property held and used as the place of residence of the owner. Every exemption shall be on a State-wide basis and shall be made by general law uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other local taxing unit of the State. No taxing authority other than the General Assembly may grant exemptions, and the General Assembly shall not delegate the powers accorded to it by this subsection.

"(4) Twenty-cent limitation. The total of the State and county tax on property shall not exceed 20 cents on the $100 value of property, except when the property tax is levied for a special purpose and with the special approval of the General Assembly, which may be done by special or general act. This limitation shall not apply to taxes levied for the maintenance of the public schools of the State. The State tax shall not exceed five cents on the $100 value of property.

"(5) Necessary expense limitation. No tax shall be levied or collected by the officers of any county, city or town, or other unit of local government, except for the necessary expenses thereof, unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon in any election held for the purpose.

"(6) Income tax. The rate of tax on incomes shall not in any case exceed ten per cent and there shall be allowed the fololwing minimum exceptions, to be deducted from the amonut of annual incomes; to the incom-producing spouse of a married couple living together, or to a widow or widower having minor child or children, natural or adoted, not less than $2,000; to all other persons not less than $1,000; and there may be allowed other deductions, not including living expenses, so that only net incomes are taxed.

"SEC. 3. Limitations upon the increase of State debt.

"(1) Authorized purposes; two-thirds limitation. The General Assembly may contract debts and pledge the faith and credit of the State for the following purposes:

"To fund or refund a valid existing debt;

"To bororw in anticipation of the collection of taxes due and payable within the fiscal year to an amount not exceeding 50 percent of such taxes;

"To supply a casual deficit;

"To suppress riots or insurrections, or repel invasions.

"For any purpose other than these enumerated, the General Assembly shall have no power, during any biennium, to contract new debts on behalf of the State to an amount in excess of two-thirds of the amount by which the State's outstanding indebtedness shall have been reduced during the next preceding biennium, unless the subject is submitted to a vote of the people of the State. In any election held in the State under the provisions of this Section, the proposed indebtedness shall be approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon.

"(2) Gift or loan of credit prohibited. The General Assembly shall have no power to give or lend the credit of the State in aid of any person, associate, or corporation, except a corporation in which the State has a controlling interest, unless the subject is submitted to a direct vote of the people of the State and is approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon.

"(3) Certain debts barred. The General Assembly shall never assume or pay any debt or obligation, express or implied, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion aganst the United States. Neither shall the General Assembly assume or pay any debt or bond incurred or issued by authority of the Convention of 1868, the special session of the General Assembly of 1868, or the General Assemblies of 1868-69 or 1869-70, unless the subject is submitted to the people of the State and is approved by a majority of all the qualified voters at a referendum held for that sole purpose.

"SEC. 4. Limitations upon the increase of local debt.

"(1) Authorized; purposes; two-thirds limitation. The General Assembly may authorize counties, cities and towns, and other units of local government to contract debts and pledge their faith and credit for the following purposes:

"To fund or refund a valid existing debt;

"To borrow in anticipation of the collection of taxes due and payable within the fiscal year to an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of such taxes;

"To supply a casual deficit;

"To suppress riots or insurrections.

"For any purpose other than these enumerated, the General Assembly shall have no power to authorize counties, cities and towns, and other units of local government to contract debts, and counties, cities and towns, and other units of local government shall not contract debts, during any fiscal year, to an amount exceeding two-thirds of the amount by which the outstanding indebtedness of the particular county, city or town, or other unit of local government shall have been reduced during the next preceding fiscal year, unless the subject is submitted to a vote of the people of the particular county, city or town, or other unit of local government and is approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon.

"(2) Necessary expense limitation. No county, city or town, or other unit of local government shall contract and debt, pledge its faith, or lend its credit except for the necessary expenses thereof, unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters who shall vote thereon in any election held for that purpose.

"(3) Certain debts barred. No county, city or town, or other unitl of local government shall assume or pay, nor shall any tax be levied or collected for the payment of any debt, or the interest upon any debt, contracted directly or indirectly in aid or support of rebellion.

"SEC. 5. Acts levying taxes to state objects. Every act of the General Assembly levyng a tax shall state the special object to which it is to be applied, and it shall be applied to no other purpose.

"SEC. 6. Inviolability of sinking funds and retirement funds.

"(1) Sinking funds. The General Assembly shall not use or authorize to be used any part of the amount of any sinking fund for any purpose other than the retirement of the bonds for which the sinking fund has been created.

"(2) Retirement funds. Neither the General Assembly nor any public officer, employee, or agency shall use or authorize to be used any part of the funds of the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System for any purpose other than retirement system benefits and purposes, administrative expenses, and refunds; except that retirement system funds may be invested as authorized by law, subject to the investment lmitation that the funds of the Teachers and State Employees' Retirement System shall not be applied, diverted, loaned to, or used by the State, any State agency, State officer, public officer, or public employee.

"SEC. 7. Drawing public money.

"(1) State treasury. No money shall be drawn from the State treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and an accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of State funds shall be annually published.

"(2) Local government treasuries. No money shall be drawn from the treasury of any county, city or town, or other unit of local government except by authority of law.

"ARTICLE VI
"SUFFRAGE AND ELIGIBILITY TO OFFICE

"SECTION 1. Who may vote. Every person born in the United States and every person who has been naturalized, 21 years of age, and possessing the qualifications set out in this Article, shall be entitled to vote at any election by the people of the State, except as herein otherwise provided.

"SEC. 2. Qualifications of voter.

"(1) Residence period for State elections. Any person who has resided in the State of North Carolina for one year and in the precint, ward, or other election district for 30 days next precedng an election, and possesses the other qualifications set out in this Article, shall be entitled to vote at any election held in this State. Removal from one precinct, ward, or other election district to another in this State shall not operate to deprive any person of the rght to vote in the precinct, ward, or other election district from which that person has removed until 30 days after the removal.

"(2) Residenct period for presidential elections. The General Assembly may reduce the time of residence for persons voting in presidential elections. A person made eligible by reason of a reduction in time of residence shall possess the other qualifications set out in this Article, shall only be entitled to vote for President and Vice President of the United States or for electors for President and Vice President, and shall not thereby become eligible to hold office in this State.

"(3) Disqualification of felon. No person adjudged guilty of a felony against this State or the United States, or adjudged guilty of a felony in another state that also would be a felony if it had been committed in this State, shall be permitted to vote unless that person shall be first restored to the rights of citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

"SEC. 3. Registraton. Every person offering to vote shall be at the time legally registered as a voter as herein prescribed and in the manner provided by law. The General Assembly shall enact general laws governing the registration of voters.

"SEC. 4. Qualification for registration. Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write any section of the Constitution in the English language.

"SEC. 5. Elections by people and General Assembly. All elections by the people shall be by ballot, and all elections by the General Assembly shall be viva voce. A contested election for any office established by Article III of this constitution shall be determined by joint ballot of both houses of the General Assembly in the manner prescribed by law.

"SEC. 6. Eligibility to elective office. Every qualified voter in North Carolina, except as in this Constitution disqualified, shall be eligible for election by the people to office.

"SEC. 7. Oath. Before entering upon the duties of an office, a person elected or appointed to the office shall take and subscribe the following oath:

"I,....., do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and maintain the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the Constitution and laws of North Carolina not inconsistent therewith, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office as....., so help me God."

"SEC. 8. Disqualifications for office. The following persons shall be disqualified for office:

"First, any person who shall deny the being of Almighty God.

"Second, with respect to any office that is filled by election by the people, any person who is not qualified to vote in an election for that office.

"Third, any person who has been adjudged guilty of treason or any other felony against this State or the United States, or any person who has been adjudged guilty of a felony in another state that also would be a felony if it had been committed in this State, or any person who has been adjudged guilty of corruption or malpractice in any office, or any person who has been removed by impeachment from any office, and who has not been restored to the rights of citizenship in the manner prescribed by law.

"SEC. 9. Dual office holding.

"(1) Prohibitions. It is salutary that the resonsibilities of self-government be widely shared among the citizens of the State and that the potential abuse of authority inherent in the holding of multiple offices by an individual be avoided. Therefore, no person who holds any office or place of trust or profit under the United States or any department thereof, or under any other state or government, shall be eligible to hold any office in this State that is filled by election by the people. No person shall hold concurrently any two or more appointive offices or places of trust or profit, or any combination of elective and appointive offices or places of trust or profit, except as the General Assembly shall provide by general law.

"(2) Exceptions. The provisions of this Section shall not prohibit any officer of the military forces of the State or of the United States not on active duty for an extensive period of time, any notary public, or any delegate to a Convention of the People from holding concurrently another office or place of trust or profit under this State or the United States or any department thereof.

"SEC. 10. Continuation in office. In the absence of any contrary provision, all officers in this State, whether appointed or elected, shall hold their positions until other appointments are made or, if the offices are elective, until their successors are chosen and qualified.

"ARTICLE VII
"LOCAL GOVERNMENT

"SECTION 1. General Assembly to provide for local government. The General Assembly shall provide for the organization and government and the fixing of boundaries of counties, cities and towns, and other governmental subdivisions, and, except as otherwise prohibited by this Constitution, may give such powers and duties to counties, cities and towns, and other governmental subdivisions as it may deem advisable.

"SEC. 2. Sheriffs. In each county a Sheriff shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof at the same time and places as members of the General Assembly are elected and shall hold his office for a period of four years, subject to removal for cause as provided by law.

"SEC. 3. Merged or consolidated counties. Any unit of local government formed by the merger or consolidation of a county or counties and the cities and towns therein shall be deemed both a county and a city for the purpose of this Constitution, and may exercise any authority conferred by law on counties, or on cities and towns, or both, as the General Assembly may provide.

"ARTICLE VII
"CORPORATIONS

"SECTION 1. Corporate charters. No corporation shall be created, nor shall its charter be extended, altered, or amended by special act, except corporations for charitable, educational, penal, or reformatory purposes that are to be and remain under the patronage and control of the State; but the General Assembly shall provide by general laws for the chartering, organization, and powers of all corporations, and for the amending, extending, and forfeiture of all charters, except those above permitted by specal act. All such general acts may be altered from time to time or repealed. The General Assembly may at any time by special act repeal the charter of any corporation.

"SEC. 2. Corporations defined. The term "corporation" as used in this Section shall be construed to include all associations and joint-stock companies having any of the powers and privileges of corporatons not possessed by individuals or partnerships. All corporations shall have the right to sue and shall be subject to be sued in all courts, in like cases as natural persons.

"ARTICLE IX
"EDUCATION

"SEC. 2. Uniform system of schools.

"(1) General and uniform system; term. The General Assembly shall provide by taxation and otherwise for a general and uniform system of free public schools, which shall be maintained at least nine months in every years, and wherein equal opportunities shall be provided for all students.

"(2) Local responsiblity. The General Assembly may assign to units of local government such responsibility for the financial suport of the free public schools as it may deem appropriate. The governing boards of units of local government with financial responsibility for public education may use local revenues to add to or supplement any public school or post-secondary school program.

"SEC. 3. School attendance. The General Assembly shall provide that every child of appropriate age and of sufficient mental and physical ability shall attend the public schools, unless educated by other means.

"SEC. 4. State Board of Education.

"(1) Board. The State Board of Education shall consist of the Lieutenant Governor, the Treasurer, and eleven members appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the General Assembly in joint session. The General Assembly shall divide the State into eight educational districts. Of the appointive members of the Board, one shall be appointed from each of the eight educational districts and three shall be appointed from the State at large. Appointments shall be for overlapping terms of eight years. Appointments to fill vacancies shall be made by the Governor for the unexpired terms and shall not be subject to confirmation.

"(2) Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be the secretary and chief administrative officer of the State Board of Education.

"SEC. 5. Powers and duties of Board. The State Board of Education shall supervise and administer the free public school system and the educational funds provided for its support, except the funds mentioned in Section 7 of this Article, and shall make all needed rules and regulations in relation thereto, subject to laws enacted by the General Assembly.

"SEC. 6. State school fund. The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this State, and not otherwise appropriated by this State or the United States; all moneys, stocks, bonds, and other property belonging to the State for purposes of public education; the net proceeds of all sales of the swamp lands belonging to the State; and all other grants, gifts, and devises that have been or hereafter may be made to the State, and not otherwise appropriated by the State or by the terms of the grant, gift, or devise, shall be paid into the State Treasury and, together with so much of the revenue of the State as may be set apart for that purpose, shall be faithfully appropriated and used exclusively for establishing and maintaining a uniform system of free public schools.

"SEC. 7. County school fund. All moneys, stocks, bonds, and other property belonging to a county school fund, and the clear proceeds of all penalties and forfeitures and of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws of the State, shall belong to and remain in the several counties, and shall be faithfully apropriated and used exclusively for maintaining free public schools.

"SEC. 8. Higher education. The General Assembly shall maintain a public system of higher education, comprising The University of North Carolina and such other institutions of higher education as the General Assembly may deem wise. The General Assembly shall provide for the selection of trustees of The University of North Carolina and of the other institutions of higher education, in whom shall be vested all the privileges, rights, franchises, and endowments heretofore granted to or conferred upon the trustees of these institutions. The General Assembly may enact laws necessary and expedient for the maintenance and mangement of the University of North Carolina and the other public institutions of higher education.

"SEC. 9. Benefits of public institutions of higher education. The General Assembly shall provide that the benefits of The University of North Carolina and other public institutions of higher education, as far as practicable, be extended to the people of the State free of expense.

"SEC. 10. Escheats. All property that has heretofore accrued to the State or shall hereafter accrue from escheats, unclaimed dividends, or distributive shares of the estates of deceased persons, shall be appropriated to the use of The University of North Carolina.

"ARTICLE X
"HOMESTEADS AND EXEMPTIONS

"SECTION 1. Personal property exemptions. The personal property of any resident of this State, to a value fixed by the General Assembly but not less than $500, to be selected by the resident, is exempted from sale under execution or other final process of any court, issued for the collection of any debt.

"SEC. 2. Homestead exemptions.

"(1) Exemption from sale; exceptions. Every homestead and the dwellings and buildings used therewith, to a value fixed by the General Assembly but not less than $1,000, to be selected by the owner thereof, or in lieu thereof, at the option of the owner, any lot in a city or town with the dwellings and buildings used thereon, and to the same value, owned and occupied by a resident of the State, shall be exempt from sale under execution or other final process obtained on any debt. But no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes, or for payment of obligations contracted for its purchase.

"(2) Exemption for benefit of children. The homestead, after the death of the owner thereof, shall be exempt from the payment of any debt during the minority of the owner's children, or any of them.

"(3) Exemption for benefit of widow. If the owner of a homestead dies, leaving a widow but no children, the homestead shall be exempt from the debts of her husband, and the rents and profits thereof shall inure to her benefit during her widowhood, unless she is the owner of a homestead in her own right.

"(4) Conveyance of homestead. Nothing contained in this Article shall operate to prevent the owner of a homestead from disposing of it by deed, but no deed made by the owner of a homestead shall be valid without the signature and acknowledgement of his wife.

"SEC. 3. Mechanics' and laborers' liens. The General Assembly shall provide by proper legislation for giving to mechanics and laborers an adequate lien on the subject-matter of their labor. The provisions of Sections 1 and 2 of this Article shall not be so construed as to prevent a laborer's lien for work done and performed for the person claiming the exemption or a mechanic's lien for work done on the premises.

"SEC. 4. Property of married women secured to them. The real and personal property of any female in this State acquired before marriage, and all property, real and personal, to which she may, after marriage, become in any manner entitled, shall be and remain the sole and separate estate and property of such female, and shall not be liable for any debts, obligations, or engagements of her husband, and may be devised and bequeathed and conveyed by her, subject to such regulations and limitations as the General Assembly may prescribe. Every married woman may exercise powers of attorney conferred upon her by her husband, including the power to execute and acknowledge deeds to property owned by herself and her husband or by her husband.

"SEC. 5. Insurance The husband may insure his own life for the sole use and benefit of his wife or children or both, and upon his death the proceeds from the insurance shall be paid to or for the benefit of the wife or children or both, or to a guardian, free from all claims of the representatives or creditors of the insured or his estate. Any insurance policy which insures the life of a husband for the sole use and benefit of his wife or children or both shall not be subject to the claims of creditors of the insured during his lifetime, whether or not the policy reserves to the insured during his lifetime any or all rights provided for by the policy and whether or not the policy proceeds are payable to the estate of the insured in the event the beneficiary or beneficiaries predecease the insured.

"ARTICLE XI
"PUNISHMENTS, CORRECTIONS, AND CHARITIES

"SECTION 1. Punishments. The following punishments only shall be known to the laws of this State: death, imprisonment, fines, removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under this State.

"SEC. 2. Death punishment. The object of punishments being not only to satisfy justice, but also to reform the offender and thus prevent crime, murder, arson, burglary, and rape, and these only, may be punishable with death, if the General Assembly shall so enact.

"SEC. 3. Charitable and correctional institutions and agencies. Such charitable, benevolent, penal, and correctional institutions and agencies as the needs of humanity and the public good may require shall be established and operated by the State under such organization and in such manner as the General Assembly may prescribe.

"SEC. 4. Welfare policy; board of public welfare. Beneficent provisions for the poor, the unfortunate, and the orphan is one of the first duties of a civilized and a Christian state. Therefore the General Assembly shall provide for the define the duties of a board of public welfare.

"ARTICLE XII
"MILITARY FORCES

"SECTION 1. Governor is Commander in Chief. The Governor shall be Commander in Chief of the military forces of the State and may call out those forces to execute the law, suppress riots and insurrections, and repel invasion.

"ARTICLE XIII
"CONVENTIONS; CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT AND REVISION

"SECTION 1. Convention of the People. No Convention of the People of this State shall ever be called unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members of each house of the General Assembly, and unless the proposition "Convention or No Convention" is first submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the time and in the manner prescribed by the General Assembly. If a majority of the votes cast upon the proposition are in favor of a Convention, it shall assemble on the day prescribed by the General Assembly. The General Assembly shall, in the act submitting the convention proposition, propose limitations upon the authority of the Convention; and if a majority of the votes cast upon the proposition are in favor of a Convention, those limitations shall become binding upon the Convention. Delegates to the Convention shall be elected by the qualified voters at the time and in the manner prescribed in the act of submission. The Convention shall consist of a number of delegates equal to the membership of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly that submits the convention proposition and the delegates shall be apportioned as is the House of Representatives. A Convention shall adopt no ordinance not necessary to the purpose for which the Convention has been called.

"SEC. 2. Power to revise or amend Constitution reserved to people. The people of this State reserve the power to amend this Constitution and to adopt a new or revised Constitution. This power may be exercised by either of the methods set out hereinafter in this Article, but in no other way.

"SEC. 3. Revision or amendment by Convention of the People. A Convention of the People of this State may be called pursuant to Section 1 of this Article to propose a new or revised Constitution or to propose amendments to this Constitution. Every new or revised Constitution and every constitutional amendment adopted by a Convention shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the time and in the manner prescribed by the Convention. If a majority of the votes cast thereon are in favor of ratification of the new or revised Constitution or the constitutional amendment or amendments, it or they shall become effective January first next after ratification by the qualified voters unless a different effective date is prescribed by the Convention.

"SEC. 4. Revision or amendment by legislative initiation. A proposal of a new or revised Constitution or an amendment or amendment or amendments to this Constitution may be initiated by the General Assembly, but only if three-fifths of all the members of each house shall adopt an act submitting the proposal to the qualified voters of the State for their ratification or rejection. The proposal shall be submitted at the time and in the manner prescribed by the General Assembly. If a majority of the votes cast thereon are in favor of the proposed new or revised Constitution or constitutional amendment or amendents, it or they shall become effective January first next after ratification by the voters unless a different effective date is prescribed in the act submitting the proposal or proposals to the qualified voters.

"MISCELLANEOUS

"SECTION 1. Seat of government. The permanent seat of government of this State shall be at the City of Raleigh.

"SEC. 2. State boundaries. The limits and boundaries of the State shall be and remain as they now are.

"SEC. 3. General laws defined. Whenever the General Assembly is directed or authorized by this Constitution to enact general laws, or general laws uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other unit of local government, or in every local court district, no special or local act shall be enacted concerning the subject matter directed or authorized to be accomplished by general or uniformly applicable laws, and every amendment or repeal of any law relating to that subject matter shall also be general and uniform in its effect throughout the State. General laws uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other until of local government, or in every local court district, shall be made applicable without classification or exception in every county, city and town, and other unitl of local government, or in every local court district, as the case may be. The General Assembly may at any time repeal any special, local, or private act.

"SEC. 4. Continuity of laws; protection of office holders. The laws of North Carolina not in conflict with this Constitution shall continue in force until lawfully altered. Except as otherwise specifically provided, the adoption of this Constitution shall not have the effect of vacating any office or term of office now filled or held by virtue of any election or appointment made under the prior Constitution of North Carolina and the laws of the State enacted pursuant thereto."

SEC. 2. The revision and amendment of the Constitution of North Carolina set out in Section 1 of this Act shall be submitted to the qualified voers of the Sate at the next general election. That election shall be conducted under the laws then governing general elections in this State.

SEC. 3. At that election, each qualified voter desiring to vote shall be provided a ballot on which shall be printed the following:

SEC. 4. (Rejected by the people on November 3, 1970 by a vote of 355,347 to 279,132.)

V. AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA TO REVISE ARTICLE V CONCERNING STATE AND LOCAL FINANCE.[183]

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

SECTION 1. The Constitution of North Carolina, as revised and amended by a revision and amendment submitted to the qualified voters by An Act to Revise and Amend the Constitution of North Carolina, H.B. 231, enacted as Chapter 1258 of the Session Laws of 1969, is amended as follows:

(a) Article V is rewritten to read as follows:

"Article V
"FINANCE

"SECTION 1. No capitation tax to be levied. No poll or capitation tax shall be levied by the General Assembly or by any county, city or town, or other taxing unit.

"SEC. 2. State and local taxation.

"(1) Power of taxation. The power of taxation shall be exercised in a just and equitable manner, for public purposes only, and shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

"(2) Classification. Only the General Assembly shall have the power to classify property for taxation, which power shall be exercised only on a State-wide basis and shall not be delegated. No class of property shall be taxed except by uniform rule, and every classification shall be made by general law uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other unit of local government.

"(3) Exemptions. Property belonging to the State, counties, and municipal corporations shall be exempt from taxation. The General Assembly may exempt cemeteries and property held for educational, scientific, literary, cultural, charitable, or religious purposes, and, to a value not exceeding $300, any personal property. The General Assembly may exempt from taxation not exceeding $1,000 in value of property held and used as the place of residence of the owner. Every exemption shall be on a State-wide basis and shall be made by general law uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other unit of local government. No taxing authority other than the General Assembly may grant exemptions, and the General Assembly shall not delegate the powers accorded to it by this subsection.

"(4) Special tax areas. Subject to the limitations imposed by Section 4, the General Assembly may enact general laws authorizing the governing body of any county, city, or town to define territorial areas and to levy taxes within those areas, in addition to those levied throughout the county, city, or town, in order to finance, provide, or maintain services, facilities, and functions in addition to or to a greater extent than those financed, provided, or maintained for the entire county, city, or town.

"(5) Purposes of property tax. The General Assembly shall not authorize any county, city or town, special district, or other unit of local government to levy taxes on property, except for purposes authorized by general law uniformly applicable throughout the State, unless the tax is approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the unit who vote thereon.

"(6) Income tax. The rate of tax on incomes shall not in any case exceed ten per cent, and there shall be allowed the following minimum exemptions, to be deducted from the amount of annual incomes: to the income-producting spouse of a married couple living together, or to a widow or widower having minor child or children, natural or adopted, not less than $2,000; to all other persons not less than $1,000; and there may be allowed other deductions, not including living expenses, so that only net incomes are taxed.

"(7) Contracts. The General Assembly may enact laws whereby the State, any county, city or town, and any other public corporation may contract with and appropriate money to any person, association, or corporation for the accomplishment of public purposes only.

"SEC. 3. Limitations upon the increase of State debt.

"(1) Authorized purposes; two-thirds limitation. The General Assembly shall have no power to contract debts secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State, unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the State who vote thereon, except for the following purposes:

(a) to fund or refund a valid existing debt;

(b) to supply an unforeseen deficiency in the revenue;

(c) to borrow in anticipation of the collection of taxes due and payable within the current fiscal year to an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of such taxes;

(d) to suppress riots or insurrections, or to repel invasions;

(e) to meet emergencies immediately threatening the public health or safety, as conclusively determined in writing by the Governor;

(f) for any other lawful purpose, to the extent of two-thirds of the amount by which the State's outstanding indebtedness shall have been reduced during the next preceding biennium.

"(2) Gift or loan of credit regulated. The General Assembly shall have no power to give or lend the credit of the State in aid of any person, association, or corporation, except a corporation in which the State has a controlling interest, unless the subject is submitted to a direct vote of the people of the State, and is approved by a majority of the qualified voters who vote thereon.

"(3) Definitions. A debt is incurred within the meaning of this Section when the State borrows money. A pledge of the faith and credit within the meaning of this Section is a pledge of the taxing power. A loan of credit within the meaning of this Section occurs when the State exchanges its obligations with or; in any way guarantees the debt of an individual, association, or private corporation.

"(4) Certain debts barred. The General Assembly shall never assume or pay any debt or obligation, express or implied, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States. Neither shall the General Assembly assume or pay any debt or bond incurred or issued by authority of the Convention of 1868, the special session of the General Assembly of 1868, or the General Assemblies of 1868-69 and 1869-70, unless the subject is submitted to the people of the State and is approved by a majority of all the qualified voters at a referendum held for that sole purpose.

"(5) Outstanding debt. Except as provided in subsection (4), nothing in this Section shall be construed to invalidate or impair the obligation of any bond, note, or other evidence of indebtedness outstanding or authorized for issue as of July 1, 1973.

"SEC. 4. Limitations upon the increase of local government debt.

"(1) Regulation of borrowing and debt. The General Assembly shall enact general laws relating to the borrowing of money secured by a pledge of the faith and credit and the contracting of other debts by counties, cities and towns, special districts, and other units, authorities, and agencies of local government.

"(2) Authorized purposes; two-thirds limitation. The General Assembly shall have no power to authorize any county, city or town, special district, or other unit of local government to contract debts secured by a pledge of its faith and credit unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the unit who vote thereon, except for the following purposes:

(a) to fund or refund a valid existing debt;

(b) to supply an unforeseen deficiency in the revenue;

(c) to borrow in anticipation of the collection of taxes due and payable within the current fiscal year to an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of such taxes;

(d) to suppress riots or insurrections;

(e) to meet emergencies immediately threatening the public health or safety, as conclusively determined in writing by the Governor;

(f) for purposes authorized by general laws uniformly applicable throughout the State, to the extent of two-thirds of the amount by which the unit's outstanding indebtedness shall have been reduced during the next preceding fiscal year.

"(3) Gift or loan of credit regulated. No county, city or town, special district, or other unit of local government shall give or lend its credit in aid of any person, association, or corporation, except for public purposes as authorized by general law, and unless approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the unit who vote thereon.

"(4) Certain debts barred. No county, city or town, or other unit of local government shall assume or pay any debt or the interest thereon contracted directly or indirectly in aid or support of rebellion or insurrection against the United States.

"(5) Definitions. A debt is incurred within the meaning of this Section when a county, city or town, special district, or other unit, authority, or agency of local government borrows money. A pledge of faith and credit within the meaning of this Section is a pledge of the taxing power. A loan of credit within the meaning of this Section occurs when a county, city or town, special district, or other unit, authority, or agency of local government exchanges its obligations with or in any way guarantees the debts of an individual, association, or private corporation.

"(6) Outstanding debt. Except as provided in subsection (4), nothing in this Section shall be construed to invalidate or impair the obligation of any bond, note, or other evidence of indebtedness outstanding or authorized for issue as of July 1, 1973.

"SEC. 5. Acts levying taxes to state objects. Every act of the General Assembly levying a tax shall state the special object to which it is to be applied, and it shall be applied to no other purpose.

"(1) Sinking funds. The General Assembly shall not use or authorize to be used any part of the amount of any sinking fund for any purpose other than the retirement of the bonds for which the sinking fund has been created, except that these funds may be invested as authorized by law.

"(2) Retirement funds. Neither the General Assembly nor any public officer, employee, or agency shall use or authorize to be used any part of the funds of the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System or the Local Governmental Employees' Retirement System for any purpose other than retirement system benefits and purposes, administrative expenses, and refunds; except that retirement system funds may be invested as authorized by law, subject to the investment limitation that the funds of the Teachers' and

State Employees' Retirement System and the Local Governmental Employees' Retirement System shall not be applied, diverted, loaned to, or used by the State, any State agency, State officer, public officer, or public employee.

"(1) State treasury. No money shall be drawn from the State Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and an accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of State funds shall be published annually.

"(2) Local treasury. No money shall be drawn from the treasury of any county, city or town, or other unit of local government except by authority of law."

(b) Article XIV, Sec. 3, is rewritten to read as follows:

"SEC. 3. General laws defined. Whenever the General Assembly is directed or authorized by this Constitution to enact general laws, or general laws uniformly applicable throughout the State, or general laws uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other unit of local government, or in every local court district, no special or local act shall be enacted concerning the subject matter directed or authorized to be accomplished by general or uniformly applicable laws, and every amendment or repeal of any law relating to such subject matter shall also be general and uniform in its effect throughout the State. General laws may be enacted for classes defined by population or other criteria. General laws uniformly applicable throughout the State shall be made applicable without classification or exception in every unit of local government of like kind, such as every county, or every city and town, but need not be made applicable in every unit of local government in the State. General laws uniformly applicable in every county, city and town, and other unit of local government, or in every local court district, shall be made applicable without classification or exception in every unit of local government, or in every local court district, as the case may be. The General Assembly may at any time repeal any special, local, or private act."

SEC. 2. Article I, Sec. 6, Article II, Sec. 30, Article II, Sec. 31, Article VII, Sec. 6, Article VII, Sec. 7, Article VII, Sec. 9, and Article XIV, Sec. 3, of the Constitution of North Carolina, as that document read on January 1, 1969, are repealed, the remaining sections of those articles are renumbered appropriately, to close up the resulting gaps, and Article V is rewritten to read as follows:

"Article V
"Finance

"SECTION 1. No capitation tax to be levied. No poll or capitation tax shall be levied by the General Assembly or by any county, city or town, or other taxing unit.

"SEC. 2. State and local taxation.

AMENDMENT OF 1974

I. AN ACT TO AMEND ARTICLE V OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA TO AUTHORIZE THE ISSUANCE OF REVENUE BONDS TO FINANCE INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES INCLUDING POLLUTION CONTROL FACILITIES, LAND OR EQUIPMENT RELATED THERETO, AND THE RATIFICATION, VALIDATION, CONFIRMATION AND APPROVAL OF CHAPTER 633 OF THE 1971 SESSION LAWS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AS AMENDED WITH RESPECT TO THE FOREGOING FACILITIES AND OF THE PROCEEDINGS TAKEN PURSUANT THERETO BY ANY COUNTY OF THE STATE IN THE CREATION OF A COUNTY POLLUTION ABATEMENT AND INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES FINANCING AUTHORITY AND ALL PROCEEDINGS TAKEN BY AN AUTHORITY SO CREATED.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. Article V of the Constitution of North Carolina is hereby amended by adding a new section, to be designated as Section 8, immediately following Section 7 and to read as follows:

"'SEC. 8. Capital projects for industry. —To create jobs and employment opportunities, to improve the economic welfare of the State, and to provide for the protection of the environment and the health and well-being of the people of the State that nothwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the General Assembly may enact laws to authorize the State or any county or any authority created by the State or any county to issue revenue bonds to finance the cost of acquiring and constructing capital projects consisting of industrial facilities, including any pollution control facilities, land or equipment related thereto. Such bonds shall be payable from revenues derived from the ownership, leasing, sale or other disposition of any capital projects or part thereof and shall be deemed to have been issued for a public purpose, but such bonds shall not be secured by moneys derived from the exercise of the taxing power of any such issuer and no such issuer shall have the right to acquire property for such purposes through the exercise of the power of eminent domain. Every such capital project in which any non-governmental entity has an interest derived from the ownership, leasing, sale or other disposition of such capital project shall be subject to property taxation. Every such project shall be taxed to such non-governmental entity as if such non-governmental entity was seized of such project in fee simple.

Chapter 633 of the 1971 Session Laws as amended by Chapter 476 of the 1973 Session Laws which authorizes the issuance of revenue bonds by county pollution abatement and industrial facilities financing authorities to finance the cost of acquiring and constructing capital projects consisting of industrial and pollution control facilities among others is hereby ratified, validated, confirmed and approved. Such revenue bonds are papayble solely from the revenues from the sale, lease, fees or charges levied with respect to the facilities being so financed. The actions heretofore taken by the governing body of any county of the State in the creation of a county pollution abatement and industrial facilities financing authority pursuant to said Chapter 633 as amended are hereby validated, ratified, confirmed and approved, and all proceedings taken by any authority so created in authorizing the financing of industrial and pollution control facilities are hereby validated, ratified, confirmed and approved in all respects."

SEC. 2. (A description of the ballot issue followed.)

SEC. 3. If a majority of the votes cast thereon are in favor of the amendment set out in Section 1 of this act, the State Board of Elections shall certify the amendment to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendment shall become effective upon such certification.

SEC. 4. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are repealed.

SEC. 5. This act shall become effective upon ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 8th day of April, 1974.

"Sec. 10. Joint ownership of generation and transmission facilities. In addition to other powers conferred upon them by law, municipalities owning or operating facilities for the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy and joint agencies formed by such municipalities for the purpose of owning or operating facilities for the generation and transmission of electric power and energy (each, respectively, 'a unit of municipal government') may jointly or severally own, operate and maintain works, plants and facilities, within or without the State, for the generation and transmission of electric power and energy, or both, with any person, firm, association or corporation, public or private, engaged in the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy for resale (each, respectively, 'a co-owner') within this State or any state contiguous to this State, and may enter into and carry out agreements with respect to such jointly owned owned facilities. For the purpose of financing its share of the cost of any such jointly owned electric generation or transmission facilities, a unit of municipal government may issue its revenue bonds in the manner prescribed by the General Assembly, payable as to both principal and interest solely from and secured by a lien and charge on all or any part of the revenue derived, or to be derived, by such unit of municipal government from the ownership and operation of its electric facilities; provided, however, that no unit of municipal government shall be liable, either jointly or severally, for any acts, ommissions or obligations of any co-owner, nor shall any money or property of any unit of municipal government be credited or otherwise applied to the account of any co-owner or be charged with any debt, lien or mortgage as a result of any debt or obligation of any co-owner."

[Section 2 was a description of ballot issue.]

Sec. 3. If a majority of votes cast thereon are in favor of the amendment, the State Board of Elections shall certify the amendment to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the amendment shall become effective upon such certification.

Sec. 4. All laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are repealed.

Sec. 5. If a statewide election is held prior to the general election to be held in November 1978, the State Board of Elections shall reimburse the counties of the State for all necessary expenses incurred in holding said election and registration therefor, the same to be paid out of the Contingency and Emergency Fund, unless the payment of such expenses is otherwise expressly provided for.

Sec. 6. This act shall become effective upon ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 10th day of June, 1977.

V. AN ACT TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION OF NORTH CAROLINA TO INSURE THE CONTINUATION OF THE POLICY OF A BALANCED BUDGET.[198]

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

Section 1. Article III, Section 5(3) of the Constitution of North Carolin is amended by adding thereto a second unnumbered paragraph as follows:

"The total expenditures of the State for the fiscal period covered by the budget shall not exceed the total of receipts during that fiscal period and the surplus remaining in the State Treasury at the beginning of the period. To insure that the State does not incur a deficit for any fiscal period, the Governor shall continually survey the collection of the revenue and shall effect the necessary economies in State expenditures, after first making adequate provision for the prompt payment of the principal of and interest on bonds and notes of the State according to their terms, whenever he determines that receipts during the fiscal period, when added to any surplus remaining in the State Treasury at the beginning of the period, will not be sufficient to meet budgeted expenditures. This section shall not be construed to impair the power of the State to issue its bonds and notes with in the limitations imposed in Article V of this Constitution, nor to impair the obligation of bonds and notes of the State now outstanding or issued hereafter.

[Sections 2 and 3 were descriptions of ballot issues.]

Sec. 4. If a majority of the votes cast thereon are in favor of the amendment set out in Section 1 of this act, the Governor shall certify the amendment to the Secretary of State, who shall enroll the amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office. The amendment shall become effective upon such certification and shall apply to the State budget enacted for the fiscal period beginning July 2, 1977, and all subsequent fiscal periods.

Sec. 5. This act shall become effective upon ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 23rd day of June, 1977.

[59]This ordinance set aside those ordinances which were to "have permanent operation." They have been considered by most constitutional authorities as amendments to the Constitution although many historians dispute this since they were not submitted to a vote of the people for approval. At this time it was not necessary to have a popular vote due to the nature of the origin of the ordinances - by a convention chosen by the people.

ALAMANCE

Alamance County was created by the General Assembly of 1848-49. The county was formed from Orange County and was named for the Great Alamance Creek, site of the Battle of Alamance fought on May 16, 1771 between colonial troops and Governor Tryon and the Regulators. The word "Alamance" is supposedly derived from the Indian word meaning "blue clay". Graham, the county seat, was established in 1851 and was named in honor of William A. Graham, State legislator, United States Senator and Secretary of the Navy under President Millard Filmore. Alamance voted with Orange between 1849 and 1854.

ALBEMARLE

Albemarle County was created by the Lords Proprietors in 1664 from part of the territory granted them in the Charter of 1663. It consisted of "all that parte of the province which lyeth on the north east side or Starboard side entring of the river Chowan now named by us Albemarle river together with the Islands and Isletts within teen leagues thereof." The county was named for George Monck, Duke of Albemarle, one of the Lords Proprietors. In 1668, the county was subdivided into three precincts—Berkeley, Carteret and Shaftsbury—and later into other precincts. While the area continued to be called the Albemarle region, the actual county ceased to exist as political unit after 1689.

ALEXANDER

Alexander County was created by the General Assembly of 1846-47. The county was formed from Caldwell, Iredell and Wilkes counties, and was named for William J. Alexander of Mecklenburg County — several times a member of the legislature and speaker of the House of Commons. The County seat of Taylorsville was also created by 1846-47 legislature, but was not incorporated until 1851. It was probably named in honor of Zachary Taylor, commanding general in the war with Mexico in 1846-47 and later President of the United States. Alexander voted with Iredell between 1846 and 1854.

ALLEGHANY

Alleghany County was created by the General Assembly of 1858-59 from Ashe. Its name was derived from "a corruption of the Delaware Indian name from the Alleghany and Ohio Rivers and it is said to have meant 'a fine stream'." At various times after its formation additional portions of Ashe, as well as parts of Surry and Wilkes Counties were annexed to Alleghany. Sparta, the County seat, was incorporated in 1879 and was named for the ancient city-state in Greece. A post office, called Bowers Store, was established on the site in 1825; it was changed to Gap Civil in 1846 and then to Sparta in 1879. Alleghany voted with Ashe until 1866.

ANSON

Anson County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1750 from Bladen. A conflict over who had the power to create counties resulted in the voiding of an original order creating Anson which had been issued by the governor and his council in 1748. The following account is given in Corbitt's The Formation of the North Carolina Counties of the events leading to the creation of Anson:

> The date of the formation of the county has been given as 1748 and 1749 with most of the writers agreeing on 1749. This county was one of the counties whose formation was disallowed by the crown because of the conflicting ideas about what body had the final authority to erect new counties. Edgecombe, Bertie, Onslow, and others came in this category. George Burrington and Gabriel Johnston with their Councils had exercised the authority to erect new counties, and the Lower House had denied them that authority, claiming that it rested with them. This controversy, among other things, caused the dissallowances as stated above. The Assembly, however, was to meet March 28, 1749, but the governor prorogued it until May 30. On September 29, 1748, the governor read into the records that "I Gabriel Johnston . . . by virtue of the power . . . vested in me . . . [do] . . . make, create, constitute and ordain the said Peedee in the province of North Carolina and certain Tracts of Land contiguous to the same late in the County of Bladen, a County by the name of Anson County, and the same is hereby Declared (within the Bounds and Limits hereafter ascribed) a County by itself Separate from and independent of Bladen having distinct Jurisdiction with all such Power and Privileges as any other Counties within this Province have and enjoy: . . ." On September 30, 1748, the governor and council named the justices of the peace and a sheriff for Anson. In October, 1749, a complaint was laid before the council relative to the lawlessness of Anson County indicating that Anson was functioning as an ordinary county.
> A bill establishing Anson was introduced in the lower house of the Assembly April 7, 1749; passed the first reading April 8; the second reading with amendments April 10; and the third reading April 11. In the Upper House or Council it was introduced April 7; read the first time and passed April 8; read the second time and passed with amendments April 10; and the Assembly was prorogued April 14, before it came up for the third reading. The General Assembly met again September 26, 1749. On October 9, 1749, a bill was allowed to be brought in the lower house to erect Anson County. In the Council of October 7, a bill for the same purpose was introduced, read the first time and passed. On October 12, read the second time and passed with amendments, and read the third time on the same day and rejected.

> The General Assembly met again March 28, 1750. On April 2, 1750, a bill to erect Anson County was read in the Council the first time and passed; April 3, read the second time and passed with amendments; and the record read as follows on April [4]: "In the Lower House read the third time and passed. In this House read and passed. Ordered to be engrossed." On April 9, 1750, the governor gave his assent to "the Bill to divide the upper part of Bladen County into a county and Parish."

The county was named for George, Lord Anson, a celebrated English Admiral who circum-navigated the globe and at one time lived in South Carolina. Anson Courthouse was established in 1755 and served as the county seat until New Town - later changed to Newton - was established in 1783. In 1787, Newton's name was changed to Wadesboro in honor of Colonel Thomas Wade, a Revolutionary patriot.

BATH

Bath County was formed in 1699 from Pamlico Precinct of Archdale County. It was named in honor of John Granville, Earl of Bath. The county was divided into Archdale, Pamptecough, and Wickham precincts in 1705. Bath Town, the county seat, was settled in 1690 and incorporated in 1705 and is the oldest incorporated town in North Carolina.

BEAUFORT

Beaufort Precinct, called Pamptecough Precinct until 1712, was named in honor of Henry Somerset, Duke of Beaufort, who became a Lord Proprietor in 1709. After 1739 Beaufort Precinct became Beaufort County. Bath, the first "county" seat, was incorporated in 1705 and is the earliest incorporated town in North Carolina. In 1785 the county seat was changed to Washington which had been founded in 1776 by Colonel James Bonner and named in honor of George Washington.

BERTIE

Bertie County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1722 from Chowan. The county was named for James and Henry Bertie, both Lords Proprietors. The first county seat was Woffington Community formed around Hoggards Mill. In 1774 the county seat was moved to Windsor which had been incorporated in 1766 and was named for the royal castle in England.

BLADEN

Bladen County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1734 from New Hanover. The county was named in honor of Martin Bladen, an English soldier and politician who was Commissioner of Trade and Plantations from 1717-1746. The first county seat was called Bladen Court House. The current county seat of Elizabethtown was established in 1773 and was named for either Queen Elizabeth I, or the sweetheart of Isaac Jones on whose land the town was built.

BRUNSWICK

Brunswick County was formed from New Hanover and Bladen Counties by the Colonial Assembly of 1774. The county was named for the town of Brunswick which had been named in honor of King George I, Duke of Brunswick and Leunenberg. Brunswick was established in 1764 and became the county seat. Authorization was given in 1779 for the county seat to be moved to the plantation of John Bell near Lockwood's Folly Bridge. In 1784 provisions were made for a courthouse and public buildings to be established in Walkersburg, named for John Walker on whose land the town was situated. However it appears the act was naver put into effect for in 1808 authorization was given for the removal of the Courthouse from Lockwood's Folly to Smithville. Smithville, named in honor of Benjamin Smith, Governor of North Carolina, was changed to Southport in 1887 and is the current county seat.

BUNCOMBE

Buncombe County was formed by the General Assembly of 1791 from Burke and Rutherford counties. The county was named for Colonel Edward Buncombe, a Revolutionary soldier who was wounded and captured at the Battle of Germantown, October 4, 1774, and who in May, 1778, died a paroled prisoner in Philadelphia. Morrisville, the county seat, was settled in 1792 and probably named for William Morrison who was one of the commissioners to select the site for the town. In 1797 the town was incorporated and the name changed to Asheville in honor of Samuel Ashe, Governor of North Carolina from 1795 to 1798.

BURKE

Burke County was formed from Rowan County by the General Assembly of 1777 and was named in honor of Dr. Thomas Burke, a member of the Continental Congress and Governor of North Carolina in 1781-1782. Morgansborough, the county seat, was established in 1777 and was named for General Daniel Morgan, a Revolutionary leader. In 1784 the town was incorporated, and the name changed to Morganton.

BUTE

Bute County was formed from Granville County by the Colonial Assembly of 1764. The county was named in honor of John Stuart, Earl of Bute, one of the principal secretaries of state, and the first Lord of the Treasury under George III. Bute was abolished in 1779 when the Earl of Bute became very unpopular with Americans. The land was divided into the counties of Warren and Franklin. The courthouse was built on Jethro Sumner's land at a place called Buffalo Race Path.

CABARRUS

Cabarrus County was formed from Mecklenburg by the General Assembly of 1792. The county was named in honor of Stephen Cabarrus of Edenton, a member of the Legislature and speaker of the House of Commons. The land of Samuel Huguy was selected for the county seat and in 1806 the town of Concord was incorporated. Concord was named for the harmonious settlement of a dispute over the site of the town.

CALDWELL

Caldwell County was formed from the counties of Burke and Wilkes by the General Assembly of 1840-41. The county was named in honor of Joseph Caldwell, first president of the University of North Carolina. Until a courthouse could be erected, court was held at the store of George Powell near the house of George Smith, Jr. Lenoir, the county seat, was laid out in 1841 and incorporated in 1851. The town was named in honor of General William Lenoir, a Revolutionary War leader.

CAMDEN

Camden County was formed from Pasquotank County by the General Assembly of 1777. It was named in honor of Sir Charles Pratt, Earl of Camden, an English jurist and political leader who believed the Stamp Act to be unconstitutional and opposed taxation of the American Colonies. Camden, the county seat, was originally called Jonesborough, but by 1840 the name Camden was being used.

CARTERET

Carteret County was formed from Craven County by the Colonial Assembly of 1722. The county was named in honor of Sir John Carteret, afterwards Earl of Granville, one of the Lords Proprietors. Beaufort, named in honor of Henry, Duke of Beaufort, was established as the county seat in 1723. The town, built on the site of an Indian village, Wareiock, which means "Fish Town" or "Fish Village", was first called Fishtown.

CASWELL

Caswell County was formed from Orange County by the General Assembly of 1777. It was named for Richard Caswell, Major General in the Revolutionary army, member of the first Continental Congress, and first Governor of North Carolina. The first court was authorized to be held at the home of Thomas Douglas, and in 1778 Leesburg was established "adjoining to where the Caswell Court House now stands". When Person was formed in 1791, the court was held at Joseph Smith's Yanceyville, named in honor of Bartlett Yancey, a member of the General Assembly and of Congress, was established as the county seat in 1833.

CATAWBA

Catawba County was created from Lincoln County by the General Assembly of 1842-43. It was named for the Catawba Indians who inhabited that section of the State. Following a controversy over the location of a county seat, Newton was established as the county seat in 1845 and was named for Isaac Newton Wilson, a member of the General Assembly in 1842 who introduced the bill to create Catawba County.

CHATHAM

Chatham County was created from Orange County by the Colonial Assembly of 1771. The county was named for William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, who staunchly defended the American cause in the English Parliament prior to the Revolution. The Assembly provided for the courts to be held at the house of Stephen Poe. The town of Chatham was established in 1778 on land previously belonging to Ambrose Edwards where the Courthouse was situated. In 1787, following a land controversy, the town of Pittsboro was established as the county seat on land formerly belonging to William Petty. It was named in honor of William Pitt the elder.

CHEROKEE

Cherokee County was created from Macon County by the General Assembly of 1838-39. Cherokee was named in honor of the Cherokee Indians. Murphy, the county seat, was named for Archibald Delores Murphy, a leader for internal improvements in North Carolina. The site of Murphy was first known as Christie Ford after an Indian named Christie. The name was later changed to Huntersville after Colonel A. R. S. Hunter who in 1830 established a trading post there with the Cherokee Indians. The town was incorporated as Murphy in 1851.

CHOWAN

Chowan Precinct, previously called Shaftsbury Precinct, came into being in 1682 and was named in honor of the Indian tribe, Chowanco. Edenton, the county seat, was settled as early as 1710 and was known by the Indians as the Town of Matecomack Creek. From 1715 to 1722, the town was known as the Town on Queen Anne's Creek and it was incorporated in 1722. Edenton was the capital of the colony from 1722 to 1743. The earliest known political activity by American women in the Edenton Tea party on October 25, 1774.

CLEVELAND

Cleveland County was formed by the General Assembly of 1840-41 from the counties of Rutherford and Lincoln. The county was named for Colonel Benjamin Cleveland, a noted artisan leader of the western frontier of Carolina and, a hero at the Battle of King's Mountain. In 1887 the spelling was changed from "Cleaveland County" to Cleveland County". Shelby, named for a Revolutionary commander Colonel Isaac Shelby, is the county seat. It was incorporated in 1843; however this charter was repealed in 1847 and the city was re-incorporated in 1849.

COLUMBUS

Columbus County was formed by the General Assembly of 1808 from the counties of Brunswick and Bladen. The county was named in honor of Christopher Columbus. Whiteville, the county seat, was originally known as White's Crossing. The town was incorporated as Whiteville in 1832 and was named for James B. White, State senator in 1809 and owner of the land on which the town was established.

CRAVEN

Craven County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1705 from Archdale Precinct and Bath County, although evidence exists that an Archdale County existed in 1696. The name was changed to Craven around 1712. A controversy arose concerning the source of the name of the county. It was named either for William, Earl of Craven, one of the original Lords Proprietors, or for his grandnephew, William, Lord Craven who inherted his interest and title in Carolina and who died the year before the name of the county was changed from Archdale to Craven County, or for the third William, Lord Craven, one of the proprietors at the time the name of the county was changed. New Bern, the county seat, was settled in 1710 and incorporated in 1723. The name was taken from Bern, Switzerland, the capital of the homeland of its founder, Baron Christopher de Graffenried. New Bern was the colonial and State capital from 1746 until 1792 when Raleigh was established. In 1897 the spelling of the city was changed from Newbern to New Bern and has remained fixed since that time.

CUMBERLAND

Cumberland County was created from Bladen County by the Colonial Assembly of 1754. The county was named in honor of William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland, third son of George III, and commander of the English troops at the Battle of Culloden in which the Scotch Highlanders were soundly defeated in 1746. Cumberland's severeness in this battle won him the nickname of "The Butcher". The name of the county was changed in early 1784 to Fayette County, but the act was repealed by the general assembly when it met later that same year. Fayetteville the county seat is named in honor of Marquis de Lafayette who assisted the Americans during the Revolutionary War. The site was first settled around 1730 and was incorporated in 1762 as Campbellton for Farquard Campbell. In 1778 Cross Creek and Compbellton were joined as Upper and Lower Campbellton and in 1783 the name was changed to Fayetteville.

CURRITUCK

Currituck Precinct, now Currituck County, was formed in 1682 from Carteret Precinct. The name Currituck is traditionally said to be an Indian word for wild geese, "Coratank". The county seat of Currituck is mentioned in local records by 1755. In 1822 local citizens defeated a motion which provided for the establishment of a new county seat by the name of Crawford, and Currituck remained the county seat.

DARE

Dare County was created from Currituck, Tyrrell, and Hyde Counties by the General Assembly of 1869-70. It was named in honor of Virginia Dare who was born on Roanoke Island in the county on August 18, 1587, and was the first child of English parents to be born in the new world. The county seat of Manteo was settled in 1865 and incorporated in 1899. The town was named for the Indian chief, Manteo, who in 1584 was taken to England by Philip Amadas and Arthur Barlowe in the service of Walter Raleigh.

DAVIDSON, TENNESSEE

Davidson County, now in Tennessee, was created by the General Assembly of 1783 from Washington, also now in Tennessee. The county was named in honor of General William Lee Davidson. This territory is part of that which North Carolina ceded to the Federal Government in 1789. The county seat of Nashville, now the capital of Tennessee, was established in 1784. It was named in honor of General Francis Nash who was killed at the battle of Germantown in 1777.

DAVIE

Davie County was created by the General Assembly of 1836-37 from Rowan County. It was named in honor of William Richardson Davie, a distinguished Revolutionary soldier, member of the Federal Convention of 1787, governor of North Carolina, minister to France, and one of the founders of the University of North Carolina. Mocksville, incorporated in 1839 and named for the previous owners of the land, is the county seat.

DOBBS

Dobbs was formed from Johnston County by the Colonial Assembly of 1738. The county was named for Arthur Dobbs, Governor of North Carolina. In 1779 Wayne County was formed from Dobbs. Other portions of Dobbs County were added to other counties, and in 1791 the remainder was divided into Glasgow and Lenoir counties. The county seat was Walnut Creek until 1779 when it was moved to Kingston. Kinston, as it was later called, had been established in 1762.

DUPLIN

Duplin County was formed from New Hanover County by the Colonial Assembly of 1750. The county was named in honor of Thomas Hay (1710-1787), Lord Duplin, member of the Board of Trade and Plantations. The county seat was called Duplin Court House from 1755 to 1780. The town of Kenansville was laid out in 1816 and became the county seat in January, 1819. The town was named in honor of General James Kenan, a member of Provincial Congress and a Revolutionary officer.

DURHAM

Durham County was created from the counties of Orange and Wake by the General Assembly of 1881. The county took its name from the town of Durham which was named in honor of Dr. Bartlett Snipes Durham who donated the land for the railroad. Durham, the county seat, was known as Durhamsville until 1855.

EDGECOMBE

Edgecombe County was officially formed from Bertie County by the General Assembly of 1741; however various legal documents date from 1732. The county was named in honor of Richard Edgecombe, later first Baron Edgecombe, a member of Parliament, and lord of the treasury. Edgecombe Court House was the first county seat. Tarboro, settled in 1732, was incorporated in 1760 and made the county seat in 1764. The town was named for the Tar River on which it was established.

FAYETTE

Fayette County was created in July, 1784 by act of the General Assembly which divided Cumberland County into Fayette and Moore counties. Fayette was intended to honor Marquis de Lafayette who aided George Washington in defeating Cornwallis at Yorktown. In October of 1784 the act was repealed and Cumberland re-established.

FORSYTH

Forsyth County was formed from Stokes County by the General Assembly of 1848-49. It was named in honor of Colonel Benjamin Forsythe, a native of Stokes County who died on the Canadian frontier in the War of 1812. The town hall of Salem was the site of the first court and in 1851, the city of Winston was named the county seat. In 1913, Winston and Salem were incorporated as one town. Winston was named for Major Joseph Winston (1746-1814), a Revolutionary leader; and Salem, meaning "peace", is believed to have been named by Count Nikolaus Zinzendorf, patron and leader of the Moravian Church. Winston-Salem is the present county seat of Forsyth County.

FRANKLIN

Franklin County was created from Bute County by the General Assembly of 1779. It was named in honor of Benjamin Franklin. The first court was held at the home of Benjamin Seawell. Louisburg, the county seat, was established in 1779 and was named for a French king, Louis XVI, in whose court Benjamin Franklin was then American representative. It was originally spelled Lewisburg.

GASTON

Gaston County was formed by the General Assembly of 1846-47 from Lincoln County. It was named for William Gaston, a member of Congress and a Supreme Court Justice in North Carolina. The home of Jesse Holland was the first site of the courts. The town of Dallas, named for George M. Dallas, vice-president of the United States at the time, was established as the county seat in 1846. In 1909 Gastonia replaced Dallas as the county seat.

GATES

Gates County was created from the counties of Chowan, Hertford, and Perquimans by the General Assembly of 1779. The county was named in honor of General Horatio Gates, the commander of the Revolutionary forces that defeated Burgoyne at the Battle of Saratoga in October, 1777. The county seat of Gatesville was originally known as Bennetts Creek Landing and later as Gates Court House.

GLASGOW

Glasgow County was created from Dobbs County by the General Assembly of 1791. It was named in honor of James Glasgow, Secretary of State of North Carolina from 1777 to 1798. A portion of the county was annexed to Wayne County in 1793. In 1799, when it was brought to public attention that James Glasgow was involved in land frauds, the name was changed to Greene County.

GRANVILLE

Granville County was created from Edgecombe County by the Colonial Assembly of 1746. It was named in honor of John Carteret, Earl Granville, a Lord Proprietor and owner of Granville District in which the county was located. Granville Court House was the first county seat. The town of Oxford, named after Samuel Benton's plantation "Oxford" on which the town was established, was made the county seat in 1811.

GREENE, TENNESSEE

Greene County, now in the State of Tennessee, was created from Washington County, also in Tennessee, by the General Assembly in 1783. The county was named for General Nathanael Greene. The first court was held in the home of Robert Carr in August, 1783. On April 2, 1790, Greene County was ceded to the Federal Government.

GREENE

Greene County was formed by the General Assembly of 1794 when Glasgow County was changed to Greene. It was named in honor of General Nathaniel Greene who saved North Carolina from the British Tories at the Battle of Guilford Court House. The county seat of Snow Hill, established in 1811, was named after a plantation of that same name. The plantation was probably named for a hill of white sand, found on the land.

GUILFORD

Guilford County was created from the counties of Rowan and Orange by the Colonial Assembly of 1770-71. It was named in honor of Francis North, first Earl of Guilford, member of Parliament, and father of Lord North who during the Revolution was Prime Minister under George III. The home of Robert Lindsay was the site of the first court. Martinsville, named for Alexander Martin, Governor of North Carolina, became the county seat in 1785. The new county seat of Greensborough was established in 1808 and was named in honor of Nathanael Greene. The spelling was later changed to Greensboro.

HALIFAX

Halifax County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1738 from Edgecombe County. It was named in honor of George Montagu, second Earl of Halifax, and president of the Board of Trade and Plantations. The first Halifax court was held in the town of Enfield. In 1758 the town of Halifax was established as the county seat.

HARNETT

Harnett County was formed from Cumberland County by the General Assembly of 1854-55. The county was named for Cornelius Harnett, a Revolutionary patriot, president of the Provincial Council and the Council of Safety, delegate to the Continental Congress, and the author of the Halifax Resolutions. The first county seat was Long Creek Village; however in 1859 the name was changed to Lillington to honor the Revolutionary patriot, Alexander Lillington. Harnett County received additional land from Cumberland County in 1911.

HAWKINS, TENNESSEE

Hawkins County, now in the state of Tennessee, was created by the General Assembly of 1787. The county was formed from Sullivan County, also now in Tennessee, and was named for Benjamin Hawkins, who as a United States Senator helped execute the deed which ceded the western territory of North Carolina to the United States government. in 1789. The house of Thomas Gibbons was the site of the first court. The county seat of Rogersville was established in 1789 on land belonging to Joseph Rogers and James Hogan.

HAYWOOD

Haywood County was formed by the General Assembly of 1808 from Buncombe County. The county was named for John Haywood, Treasurer of North Carolina from 1787 to 1827. Waynesville, the county seat, was previously known as Mount Prospect. In 1810 the name was changed to Waynesville, and the town incorporated. Waynesville was supposedly named after General Anthony Wayne by Colonel Robert Love, a founder and owner of part of the land. Portions of Haywood have been annexed to the counties of Jackson and Macon.

HENDERSON

Henderson County was formed from Buncombe County by the General Assembly of 1838-39. It was named in honor of Leonard Henderson, Chief Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court from 1829 to 1833. The county seat of Henderson, also named for Leonard Henderson, was laid out in 1840 on land deeded by Michael King of Charleston, South Carolina. Land from the county of Rutherford was annexed to Henderson and portions of Henderson have been annexed to Polk and Transylvania counties at various times.

HERTFORD

Hertford County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1759 from the counties of Bertie, Chowan, and Northhampton. The county was named in honor of Francis Seymour Conway (1719-1794), Earl (later Marquis) of Hertford, a Lord of the Bed Chamber and Knight of the Garter. Cotton's Ferry was the site of the first court. The county seat of Winton was established in 1766 on the land of Benjamin Wynns for whom it was probably named. The name of the town appears as Wynnton in early records. Land from Hertford was annexed to Gates County in 1779.

HOKE

Hoke County was formed by the General Assembly of 1911 from Cumberland and Robeson Counties. The county was named in honor of Robert F. Hoke of Lincoln County, a major-general in the Confederate Army. The county seat of Raeford was settled in 1867 and incorporated in 1901. The name is derived from the names of the town's founders, J. A. McRae and A. A. Williford.

HYDE

Hyde County was created as Wickham Precinct of Bath County in 1705. The name was changed around 1712 to Hyde Precinct in honor of Edward Hyde, Governor of North Carolina who died in that year. The courts were held in Bath until 1729 when Beaufort and Hyde precincts were separated. Various towns served as county seats — Woodstock from 1738 to 1790; Jasper's Creek, 1791-1792; Germantown from 1792 to 1820; and Lake Landing from 1820 until 1836 — when Swan Quarter, the present county seat, was established. It was most likely named for the previous owner of the site, Samuel F. Swann. Hyde received land from the counties of Currituck and Carteret; and annexed land to Beaufort and Dare counties.

IREDELL

Iredell County was formed by the General Assembly of 1788 from Rowan County. The county was named in honor of James Iredell of Edenton, Attorney General of North Carolina during the Revolution, and a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1788 who advocated the adoption of the Federal Constitution. The county seat was most likely called Statesville due to the fact that a few weeks prior to its establishment in 1789, North Carolina had approved the Federal Constitution and had become a state. Land was annexed to Iredell from Burke and Wilkes counties, and Iredell annexed land to the counties of Wilkes and Alexander.

JACKSON

Jackson County was formed by the General Assembly of 1850-51 from the counties of Haywood and Macon. It was named in honor of Andrew Jackson who won a great victory at New Orleans in 1815, and who was President of the United States. Court was first held at the home of Daniel Bryson, Sr. and then at Allen Fisher's store until 1852. At this time Webster, in honor of Daniel Webster, became the county seat and remained so until 1913. In 1913 the county seat was moved to the town of Slyva, named after William D. Sylva who, as a carpenter, constructed buildings at the site. Portions of Jackson were annexed to Transylvania, Macon, and Swain counties at various times.

JOHNSTON

Johnston County was formed from Craven County by the Colonial Assembly of 1746. The county was named in honor of Gabriel Johnston, Governor of North Carolina from 1734 to 1752. Court was held first at the house of Francis Stringer and then at Hunton's Quarter. From 1771 until 1777 the county seat was known as Johnston Court House; however the name was changed to Smithfield in 1777. Smithfield was named for John Smith, owner of the land on which the town was established. Johnston has received land from the counties of Orange and Duplin and has annexed land to Orange, Dobbs, Wake, and Wilson counties.

JONES

Jones County was formed from Craven County by the General Assembly of 1778. The county was named in honor of illie Jones of Halifax, a Revolutionary leader, President of the Council of Safety, and an opponent of the adoption of the United States Constitiution. The first court was held at the home of Thomas Weber at Trent Bridge. The county seat of Trenton, named for the Trent River, was laid off in 1784 and was originally known as Trent. Jones County has received land at various times from the counties of Carteret and Dobbs.

LENOIR

Lenoir County was created by the General Assembly of 1791 when Dobbs County was divided to form the counties of Glasgow and Lenoir. It was named in honor of William Lenoir, a hero in the Battle of King's Mountain. The town of Kinston was the county seat of Dobbs until 1791 when Dobbs was abolished, and then it became the county seat of Lenoir. The town was known in 1729 as Atkins Bank for Robert Atkins. In 1762 the name was changed to Kingston in honor of King George III and the town was incorporated. The spelling was changed to Kinston in 1784 following the Revolution. In 1833 the name was changed to Caswell to honor Governor Richard Caswell, but was changed back to Kinston in 1834. At various times, Lenoir has received land from Craven County.

LINCOLN

Lincoln County was formed by the General Assembly of 1779 when Tryon County was divided into Rutherford and Lincoln counties. It was named for General Benjamin Lincoln, a distinguished Revolutionary general who was appointed by George Washington to receive the sword of the surrendering Cornwalis at Yorktown. The county seat of Lincolnton, also honoring Benjamin Lincoln, was established in 1785. At various times, land from the counties of Burke, Catawba, and Gaston was annexed to Lincoln. The counties of Cleveland, Gaston, and Catawba have received land from Lincoln.

McDOWELL

McDowell County was formed by the General Assembly of 1842-43 from the counties of Burke and Rutherford. It was named in honor of Major Joseph McDowell, an officer who fought at the Battle of King's Mountain, a member of Congress, and a member of the commission to determine the North Carolina-Tennessee line. The county seat of Marion was incorporated in 1844 and was named in honor of General Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox" of Revolutionary War fame.

MACON

Macon County was formed from the county of Haywood by the General Assembly of 1828-29. It was named for Nathaniel Macon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, a United States Senator, and the president of the Constitutional Convention in 1835. The county seat of Franklin was named in honor of Jesse Franklin, Governor of North Carolina from 1820 to 1821, and was incorporated in 1855. At various times, land was annexed to Macon from Cherokee and Jackson counties and land from Macon was annexed to the county of Jackson.

MADISON

Madison County was created from Yancey and Buncombe Counties by the General Assembly of 1850-51. It was named in honor of James Madison, the fourth President of the United States. Following a dispute over the site, the county seat of Marshall was incorporated in 1863. It was named in honor of John Marshal, a United States Supreme Court Chief Justice. Before the establishment of Marshall, courts were held in nearby Jewel Hill.

MARTIN

Martin County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1774 from Halifax and Tyrrell counties. It was named in honor of Josiah Martin, the last royal governor of North Carolina, and later for Alexander Martin. The town of Williamston was established in 1779 on a plantation owned by Thomas Hunter called "Squhawky." The town was named for William Williams, a colonel in the American Revolution.

MECKLENBURG

Mecklenburg County was formed from Anson County by the Colonial Assembly of 1762. It was named to honor Princess Charlotte Sojhia of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the wife of King George III of England. The county seat of Charlotte, established in 1766, was also named for Princess Charlotte. The counties of Tryon, Cabarrus, and Union were formed from parts of Mecklenburg.

MITCHELL

Mitchell County was created by the General Assembly of 1860-61 from Yancey, Watauga, Caldwell, and McDowell counties. The county was named to honor Dr. Elisha Mitchell, a University of North Carolina professor who was killed while exploring the highest peak east of the Mississippi which now bears his name. Because of land disputes, courts were held from 1861-1866 at Eben Child's; the Baptist Meeting House on Bear Creek, in Bakersville; at the Bear Creek Meeting House, in Calhoun; and finally in Davis. Davis, probably named in honor of Confederate President Jefferson Davis, became the county seat in 1866. In 1868 the county seat was changed to Bakersville in honor of David Baker who had settled the land.

MONTGOMERY

Montgomery County was formed from Anson County by the General Assembly of 1779 and was named in honor of General Richard Montgomery, who lost his life in the Battle of Quebec. The first court was held in the home of Henry Munger. Subsequent courts were held in Mark Bennet's home in 1792, in Henderson in 1794, and in Laurenceville in 1816. In 1844 the town of Troy was established as the county seat. The origin of the name Troy is undecided but it may have been named for Robert Troy, member of the House of Commons and trustee of the University of North Carolina; or for John B. Troy, member of the General Assembly; or for the city of Troy.

MOORE

Moore County was formed from Cumberland County by the General Assembly of 1784. The county was named for Captain Alfred Moore, a soldier in the American Revolution, and a Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Carthage, the county seat, was established in 1796. In 1806, the name was changed to Fagansville to honor Richard Fagin, the sheriff in Moore County from 1785-1787 and owner of the land; however "Feaginsville" was changed back to Carthage in 1818.

NASH

Nash County was formed by the General Assembly of 1777. The county was created from Edgecombe County and was named in honor of General Francis Nash who was mortally wounded while fighting under George Washington at the Battle of Germantown. Court was first held at the home of Micajah Thomas, and later at Nash Courthouse. Nashville was established as the county seat in 1815 and was also named for General Francis Nash.

NEW HANOVER

New Hanover County was formed from Craven County by the Colonial Assembly of 1729. The county was named in recognition of the royal family of England who were members of the House of Hanover. Wilmington, the county seat, was named in honor of Spencer Compton, Earl of Wilmington. The town was first known as New Carthage, then New Liverpool, and finally became New Town or Newton before it became Wilmington, in 1740.

NORTHAMPTON

Northampton County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1741 from Bertie County. The county was named in honor of James Compton, Earl of Northampton. Potecase Bridge was established as the county seat in 1741; however the name changed to Northampton Courthouse. The legislature of 1808 authorized the county seat to be named Atherton in honor of Major Jeptha Atherton, but nothing was ever done to carry this out. In 1826, Northampton Courthouse was renamed Jackson in honor of Andrew Jackson; and in 1873 the town was incorporated.

ONSLOW

Onslow County was formed from New Hanover County by the Colonial Assembly of 1734. The county was named in honor of Arthur Onslow, a speaker for the House of Commons in the British Parliament. The county seat of Jacksonville was authorized in 1843 and liad out in 1849. It was named for President Andrew Jackson. Courts were held at many locations prior to 1849—1734-1735, "at the Courthouse on New River"; 1735-1737, Joseph Howard's and Christian Heidleburg's; 1737, "Courthouse on New River"; 1744-1753 "at Johnston on New River"; 1753, Jonathan Melton's; 1757-1819, Watland's Ferry; and 1819-1849 at Onslow Court House.

ORANGE

Orange County was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1752 from the counties of Bladen, Granville, and Johnston. It is assumed that the county was named for William V of Orange, who was Stadholder at the time the county was created. It was formerly believed that the county was named in honor of William III of Orange, Ruler of England from 1689 to 1702. Hillsborough is the county seat. The site was occupied by an Indian town named Acconsech (Occaneeche) until 1754 when it became Corbinton after Francis Corbin who was a colonial official. Then in 1759 Childsburg, named for Thomas Childs, Attorney General of North Carolina, was incorporated. The name was changed to Hillsborough in 1766 after Wells Hill, Earl of Hillsborough, who was Secretary of State for the colonies and President of the Board of Trade and Plantations. The spelling of the town was also changed to Hillsboro, but a return of the original spelling was authorized in 1965.

PAMLICO

Pamlico County was formed by the General Assembly of 1871-72 from Craven and Beaufort counties. The county was named for Pamlico Sound which took its name from the Pamlico Indians who inhabited its shores. Vandemere was the site of the county seat until 1876 when Bayboro became the county seat. Bayboro was named for the Bay River which took its name from the bay tree.

PAMPTECOUGH PRECINCT

Pamptecough Precinct was formed by the Colonial Assembly of 1705. It was created from Bath County and took its name from the Pamtecough (Pamlico) River. The name was changed to Beaufort around 1712.

PASQUOTANK

Pasquotank Precinct, now Pasquotank County, was formed from Carteret Precinct in 1682. The name Pasquotank comes from the Indian word pãsk-e'tan-ki which means "where the stream's current divides or forks". Elizabeth City is the county seat; however, before it was authorized as such, courts were held at Brook Field, Relf's Point, Winfield, and Nixonton. Elizabeth Town was named the county seat in 1799, having been known as Redding (Reading) until 1794 when it became Elizabethtown. The name was changed to Elizabeth City in 1801 and was most likely named after Elizabeth Tooley, the wife of Adam Tooley, owner of the land.

PENDER

Pender County was formed from New Hanover County by the General Assembly of 1874-75. The county was named in honor of General William P. Pender of Edgecombe, a Confederate soldier killed at Gettysburg. The legislature which created the county established Cowan as the county seat, but in 1877 the law was repealed, and Stanford became the county seat. The name was changed to Burgaw in 1879.

PERQUIMANS

Perquimans Precinct, now Perquimans County, came into being in 1682. It had previously been called Berkeley Precinct and was named after an Indian tribe living in the vicinity. The county seat of Hertford was established in 1758 and was named after the town of Hertford in England. The town was previously known as Phelps Point after Jonathan Phelps, the owner of the land, and appears as Hartford in 1770.

PERSON

Person County was formed from Caswell County by the General Assembly of 1791. The county was named in honor of General Thomas Person, a Revolutionary patriot, a member of the Council of Safety, and a trustee of the University of North Carolina. The county seat of Roxboro was established in 1793 and was named after Roxburgh, Scotland.

PITT

Pitt County was created by the Colonial Assembly of 1760 from Beaufort County. The county was named in honor of William Pitt, Earl of Chatham, and the Secretary of State of England whose was policies resulted in the Brittish victory over the French in America. The county seat of Greenville, incorporated as Martinsborough in 1771 and was named for Josiah Martin, the last royal governor of North Carolina. In 1786 the name was changed to Greensville for Nathaniel Greene, a general in the Revolution.

POLK

Polk County was formed by the General Assembly of 1854-55 from Rutherford and Henderson counties. The county was named in honor of Colonel William Polk, a distinguished Revolutionary soldier. Courts were held at J. Mills' house until the county seat of Columbus was incorporated in 1857. Columbus was named in honor of Dr. Columbus Mills, a State Legislator who was involved in the formation of the county.

RANDOLPH

Randolph County was created from Guilford County by the General Assembly of 1779. The county was named for Peyton Randolph of Virginia, president of the Continental Congress. The county seat of Asheborough was established in 1796 and was named in honor of Samuel Ashe, governor of North Carolina from 1795 to 1798. Since its formation, the spelling has been changed to Asheboro.

RICHMOND

Richmond County was formed from Anson County by the General Assembly of 1779. The county was named in honor of Charles Lennox, third Duke of Richmond, an officer in the military, and the secretary of state who criticized the policy of the British toward the American colonies. The county seat was known as Richmond Court House from 1779 to 1784. In 1784 it was changed to Rockingham in honor of Charles Watson-Wentworth, second Marquis of Rockingham, and British supporter of American Independence.

ROBESON

Robeson County was formed from Bladen County by the General Assembly of 1787. The county was named for Colonel Thomas Robeson, a Revolutionary soldier who fought in the Battle of Elizabethtown in 1781. Lumberton was established as the county seat in 1788 on land formerly owned by John Willis and derives its name from the Lumber River.

ROCKINGHAM

Rockingham County was created from Guilford County by the General Assembly of 1785. The county was named in honor of Charles Watson-Wentworth, the second Marquis of Rockingham, and prime minister who supported Colonial Independence. The county seat of Wentworth was authorized to be established in 1787, but the courts were not held there until 1799. The town was also named in honor of Charles Watson-Wentworth.

ROWAN

Rowan County was formed from Anson County by the Colonial Assembly of 1753. The county was named for Matthew Rowan, a pre-Revolutionary leader, and the acting governor after the death of Governor Gabriel Johnston. The county seat was known as Rowan Court House until 1755 when it was named Salisbury. The town was named either for the town in England, or for the town in Maryland where some of the earliest settlers of Rowan originated.

RUTHERFORD

Rutherford County was formed by the General Assembly of 1779 from Tryon County when it was divided into Lincoln and Rutherford counties. The county was named in honor of Griffith Rutherford, an Indian fighter, a member of the Provincial Congress, and a general in the Revolution. The legislature provided for the first court to meet at Joseph Walker's home. In 1787 Rutherfordton, also named for Griffith Rutherford, was established as the county seat.

SAMPSON

Sampson County was formed from Duplin County by the General Assembly of 1784. The county was named for Colonel John Sampson, a member of the House of Commons and of the Governor's Council under Dobbs, Tryon, and Martin. The legislature which created the county provided for the first courts to meet at James Mayland's home. The county seat was most likely called Sampson Court House until 1818 when the town of Clinton was established. Clinton was incorporated in 1822 and was named for Richard Clinton who had owned the land on which the court house lay.

SCOTLAND

Scotland County was formed from Richmond County by the General Assembly of 1899. The name was taken from the country of Scotland, the origin of many of the early settlers of the area. The county seat of Laurenburg was incorporated in 1877 and was named after the McLaurin family who were early Scottish settlers. In 1883 the spelling was changed to Laurinburg.

STOKES

Stokes County was formed from Surry County by the General Assembly of 1789. It was named after Captain John Stokes, an officer in the Revolutionary War, a member of the house of commons and a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1789. Germantown was established as the county seat in 1790 and remained so until 1849 when Stokes was divided to form Forsyth County. The county seat was known as "the county town of Stokes" from 1849 until 1851 when the name was changed to Crawford. In 1852 Crawford was changed to Danbury after the plantation of Alexander Martin who was governor of North Carolina at the time Stokes was created.

SURRY

Surry County was created from Rowan County by the Colonial Assembly of 1771. The county was supposedly named in honor of "Lord Surry" or the "Earl of Surrey", titles held by Edward Howard, Earl of Norfolk. However, the name was actually taken from the County of Surry in England which was the home of the incumbent governor, William Tryon. An added influence to the choice of names may be that Surry is similar to Saura, an Indian tribe which had inhabited the area. The legislature that created the county provided for the first courts to be held at the home of Gideon Wright. In 1779, Richmond was established as the county seat on land owned by Colonel Martin Armstrong and William Sheppard. The county seat was established as Rockford in 1790 on land deeded by Thomas and Moses Ayres. In 1851, after Surry was divided to form Yadkin County, the county seat of Dobson was established. The town was named in honor of either William Dobson, a justice of the Peach in 1776, or William P. Dobson, a general assembly member in 1814.

SWAIN

Swain County was formed from Jackson and Macon Counties by the General Assembly of 1870-71. The county was named in honor of David L. Swain, a North Carolina governor and president of the University of North Carolina. Cold Spring Meeting House was the site of the first court. The county seat of Bryson City was originally incorporated in 1887 as Charleston. The name was changed to Bryson City in 1889 to honor Captain Thaddeus Dillard Bryson, a founder of the town of Charleston.

TENNESSEE, TENNESSEE

Tennessee County, now in the state of Tennessee, was formed by the General Assembly of 1788 from Davidson County. The name was derived from "Tenassee", the ancient capitol of the Cherokee Indians. The county was part of the territory ceded to the United States Government in 1789. The legislature that created the county provided for the first courts to be held at Joseph Fitzworth's. Subsequent courts were held in the county seat of Clarksville in 1796 when Tennessee transferred its name to the state of Tennessee. At this time the county divided its territory into Montgomery County with Clarksville as county seat; and Robertson County with Springfield as county seat.

TRANSYLVANIA

Transylvania County was formed by the General Assembly of 1860-61 from the counties of Henderson and Jackson. The name originated from two latin words, "trans" meaning "across" and "sylva" meaning "woods". The first court met at the home of B. C. Langford. The county seat of Brevard, established around 1861, was named in honor of Ephriam Brevard, a teacher, secretary of the convention that composed the Mecklenburg Resolves of May 31, and a surgeon in the Revolution.

TYRRELL

Tyrrell County was created by the Colonial Assembly of 1729 from the counties of Chowan, Bertie, Currituck, and Pasquotank. It was named in honor of Sir John Tyrrell, one of the Lords Proprietors of North Carolina. The county seat of Columbia originated as a trading post called Shallop's Landing. It was incorporated as Elizabethtown in 1793. The name was changed to Columbia in 1801, and it became the county seat in 1802.

UNION

The General Assembly of 1842-43 created Union County from the counties of Anson and Mecklenburg. A dispute arose between the local Whigs and Democrats about whether the name of the county should be Clay or Jackson. As a compromise, the name Union was adopted since the county was formed from portions of two other counties. Monroe, named in honor of President James Monroe, was incorporated in 1844 as the county seat. It merged in 1945 with the town of Benton Heights and in 1949 with the town of West Monroe.

VANCE

Vance County was formed by the General Assembly of 1881 from the counties of Granville, Warren, and Franklin. It was named for Zebulon Baird Vance, a member of both houses of congress, and twice governor of North Carolina. The county seat of Henderson was incorporated in 1841 and was named in honor of Leonard Henderson, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina from 1829 to 1833. Henderson, was settled in 1789 by Samuel Reavis and his sons and was later referred to as Lonesome Valley by a homesick settler.

WAKE

The Colonial Assembly of 1771 created Wake County from the counties of Johnston, Cumberland, and Orange. It was named to honor Margaret Wake, the wife of Governor William Tryon. The county seat was known as Wake County Court House until 1792 when Raleigh was established and made the State capitol. Raleigh was named in honor of Sir Walter Raleigh, the English statesman who was responsible for the sending of the first English colonists to Roanoke Island.

WARREN

Warren County was created by the General Assembly of 1779 when Bute County was divided to form Franklin and Warren Counties. It was named in honor of General Joseph Warren, a patriot and physician in the Revolution who was killed at the Battle of Bunker Hill. The first court met at the Courthouse of Bute. Warrenton was incorporated as the county seat in 1779 and was named after the county.

WASHINGTON, TENNESSEE

Washington District developed from the Watauga Settlement and was recognized by North Carolina in 1776. It was the second site in North Carolina to be named after George Washington. In 1777, Washington County was created from the District. Jonesboro, named in honor of Willie Jones, was established as the county seat in 1779. Washington County was ceded to the United States in 1789 and is now part of the state of Tennessee.

WATAUGA

The General Assembly of 1848-49 created Watauga County from the counties of Ashe, Wilkes, Caldwell, and Avery. The name was taken from the Watauga River which came from an Indian word that means "beautiful water". The town of Boone, named for Daniel Boone, is the county seat.

WAYNE

The General Assembly of 1779 formed Wayne County from the county of Dobbs. The county was named after Anthony Wayne, a leader in the Revolution who, because of his rash courage, became known as "Mad Anthony Wayne." The legislature which created the county provided for the first court to meet at Josiah Sasser's home. In 1787 Waynesborough was established as the county seat. Goldsboro, named in honor of Mayor Matthew Tilghman Goldsboro, an assistant engineer for the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, became the county seat in 1850.

WILKES

Wilkes County was created from Surry County and the District of Washington by the General Assembly of 1778. It was named in honor of John Wilkes, an opponent of the Troy party in England who supported the rights of America during the Revolution. In 1778 the courts met at John Brown's home, the "bent of the Yadkin", the Mulberry Field Meeting House, and at Dilkes. In 1801, Wilkesborough was established as the county seat.

WILSON

Wilson County was formed by the General Assembly of 1854-55 from the counties of Edgecombe, Nash, Johnston, and Wayne. It was named to honor Louis D. Wilson, a Buncombe County delegate to the 1835 Constitutional Convention, and an officer of the Mexican War who died near Vera Cruz. The county seat of Wilson, previously known as Hickory Grove, was also named in honor of Louis D. Wilson.

YADKIN

The General Assembly of 1850-51 created Yadkin County from Surry County. The name was taken from the Yadkin River. The legislature provided for the first court to meet in Dowellton, with subsequent courts to be held in the town of Wilson. In 1852, the name was changed from Wilson to Yadkinville, and Yadkinville became the county seat.

PART VIII

North Carolina Election Returns

1790-1976

Chapter One

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Introduction

The procedure by which the American people elect their president and vice president is outlined in Article Two of the United States Constitution. The only major change to this procedure since its inception in 1789 occurred in 1804 with the passage of the Twelfth Amendment. Prior to this the person receiving the "greatest number of votes of the electors" after the preident had been chosen became the vice president. The Twelfth Amendment altered this by requiring electors to cast separate votes for vice president. In more modern times it has been a practice for political parties to choose their candidate for president, and he in turn would choose his "running mate" subject to approval by the delegates at the national convention. On the ballot these two names would appear as a single entry and the voters would vote for only one set of electors.

As the complexity of selecting party nominees increased, more and more states have gone to a method of choosing, at least partially, a nominee prior to the start of the respective national conventions. This method is known as the Presidential Preference Primary. In North Carolina this method was not initiated until the 1972 election year, having been acted upon by the 1971 General Assembly. However, the doubtful advantage of the primary in North Carolina has caused some criticism as to need for its continuance. We still have the Presidential primary in North Carolina, but with the addition of primaries in states which have previously had none, it serves only as a delegate tabulation poll for candidates seeking their respective party nominations.

The election results in this section were compiled from official election returns in the Department of the Secretary of State and from "Compiled Election Returns" in the North Carolina Archives.

Chapter Two

UNITED STATES SENATE

Introduction

Initially, Article I, Section 3 of the United States Constitution provided for the election of United States Senators by the various state legislatures. This procedure continued until 1913 when the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution was adopted. This amendment provided for the popular election of senators with provisions for either a special election to be called, or a temporary appointment by the governor, if a vacancy occured prior to a scheduled election. When the 1915 General Assembly passed the Primary Elections Act, party nominees for United States Senator were included in the provisions which called for primary elections to be held prior to the general elections in order to determine the candidates from "each and every party" whose names would appear on the November ballot. (Public Law, 1915, Chapter 101). The first primary election under the new primary law for United States Senator was not held in North Carolina until 1920, however within the Democratic Party, provisions had existed for some time allowing primaries to be held to determine the Party's nominee for United States Senator. Primaries had been held in 1900 and 1912 under these provisions. In 1900 F.M. Simmons defeated J.S. Carr, 102,355 to 47,282. In 1912, Simmons was again the winner defeating two opponents, W.W. Kitchin and Walter Clark. Simmons received 84,687 votes, Kitchin 47,010, and Clark 16,418.

Today when a vacancy occurs, the governor is authorized to make a temporary appointment. The person filling the vacancy holds office until the next regular general election. At the general election a successor is elected to complete the unexpired term. If the former senator was due for reelection at that election, a separate section of the ballot is allotted for those running for the full term.

Chapter Three

GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA

Introduction

Until the Constitutional Convention of 1835 and the ratification by the people of the proposed constitutional amendments passed by that convention, the governor was elected by the joint membership of the two houses of the general assembly. The first popular election was held in 1836 and Edward B. Dudley, a Whig, was elected. Dudley, unlike his predecessors, was elected for a two year term rather than the previous 4 year term when the general assembly elected the governor. No additional changes were made in the electing of a governor until the adoption of a new constitution in 1868. This constitution continued the election of governor in general elections, but extended his term of office from two to four years with a provision that prohibited him from succeeding himself. The next major change came in 1915 when the General Assembly passed the Primary Elections Act. This act provided for a "primary election for the purpose of nominating candidates of each and every political party in the State" if there was more than one aspirant to the office. (Public Laws, 1915, Chapter 101). The candidates chosen in the primaries would then be placed on the November ballot and voted on in the general elections.

The election results in this section were compiled from official returns in the Department of the Secretary of State and the Department of Archives and History, and from newspaper accounts—for the earlier elections.

FOOTNOTES

[1]Because of "informality in returns," several counties, were not counted. Raleigh Register, August 30, 1836, reported Burke County totals as 516 for Spaight and 1,257 for Dudley; the Newbern Spectator, September 2, 1936, credited Spaight with 168 votes in Chowan and 390 votes in Gates. Dudley received 312 votes in Chowan and 229 in Gates.

[2]Precinct returns gave Morehead 526 votes in Camden, 220 in New Hanover, and 1,167 votes in Stokes. Evidently, returns were reported incorrectly to the Secretary of State. State total for Morehead should have been 44,514.

[3]See footnote 1.

[4]Precinct returns from Davidson totaled 1,287 for Dudley. Precinct returns from Hyde totaled 157 for Spaight and 459 for Dudley, and in Pitt County precinct returns showed 511 for Spaight and 483 for Dudley.

[6]See footnote 1.

[7]See footnote 5.

[8]One set of official returns from Macon credited Saunders with 195 votes.

[9]See footnote 7.

[10]See footnote 5.

[11]See footnote 7.

[12]Alamance County returns were filed with Orange County in 1850 and 1852.

[13]Returns for Catawba and Gaston Counties were filed with Lincoln County in 1850 and 1852.

[14]See footnote 113.

[15]No separate returns for Jackson county were filed in this election, they were probably reported with Haywood and Macon.

[16]McDowell County returns were filed with Burke County in 1850 and 1852.

[18]Watauga County returns were filed with Ashe County in 1850.

[19]Yadkin County voted with Surry in 1852.

[20]No Election was held in Carteret County in 1862 due to the presence of the enemy, and there is no evidence that any returns were reported to the Secretary of State's office in 1864.

[21]No returns were reported to the Secretary of State's office in 1864 for Gates County.

[23]Transylvania County returns were reported with Henderson County.

[24]No election was held in Tyrrell or Washington Counties in 1862 due to the presence of the enemy.

[25]See footnote 124.

[26]Supporters of Dockery became the basis for the Republican Party in North Carolina.

[27]The Daily Sentinel, (Raleigh), December 4, 1872, and the Charlotte Democrat, November 12, 1872, credited Merrimon with 827 votes in Caldwell County and Caldwell with 1,459 votes in Caswell County 2,780 votes in Craven County, and 1033 votes in Pasquotank County.

[28]See footnote 27.

[29]See footnote 27.

[30]See footnote 27.

[31]Polk County Returns were recarted with Rutherford County in 1865.

[32]Transylvania County Returns were reported with those of Henderson County in 1865 and 1866.

[33]Consolidated records credited Thomas Settle with a total of 110,256 votes in 1876.

[34]Pitt County's sheriff's statement credited York with 2,205 votes.

[35]In Robeson County 215 votes were cast for Tyler York.

[1]Evidence had previously existed indicating that an assembly had been held in 1729, but no evidence could be found indicating who the elected representatives were. Microfilm records of colonial documents pertaining to North Carolina received from the British Archives have revealed who these representatives were. County affiliation is based on previous and subsequent assemblies. CO 5/293, f. 137, Colonial Records, Division of Archives, Raleigh.
